IN FRASER CANYON

Two Men Shot Dead On Troubled Ferry

LYTTON, B.C. (CP)—Bob McKay, 18, of Lytton, was charged with capital murder today following the shooting deaths Monday of two men found aboard the Lytton ferry.

LYTTON (CP) — RCMP at this Fraser canyon town today were questioning a young man following the shooting deaths Monday of two men found aboard the Lytton cable ferry.

Police said ferry operators David Errol, 24, and Gerald Kennedy, 29, had each been shot with a small calibre bullet.

Police said the men were shot, then placed on board the ferry which was pushed into the middle of the Fraser river. The bodies were discovered after impatient residents became tired of waiting for the ferry to dock.

Les Hampton, another ferry operator who was not on duty at the time of the slayings, went out to the vessel in a rowboat to pull it in. The ferry was nearly swamped several times in the river.

Mr. Errol was the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, two of the four persons who drowned when their car rolled off the end of the ferry July 21.

The ferry, which runs between Lytton and West Lytton, has been a subject of controversy since June when members of Lytton Indian reserve protested that it was dangerous.

The Indians asked the provincial government to build a bridge to link Lytton with a secondary road on the west side of the river to Lillooet, about 50 miles away.

Since then, Lytton mothers have marched on the Kamloops home of highways minister Gaglardi to protest the ferry which they termed unsafe.

Plane Plunges Into Mud, 34 Die

GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — A Czechoslovakian airliner bound for Cuba plunged into mud and brush just seconds after taking off from the international airport here today, killing 34 of the 69 persons aboard.

The turbo-propeller Ilyushin 18 sliced a 1,000-yard trough in soft earth only a half-mile from the end of runway 14, from which the big Russian-built aircraft had taken off.

An explosion ripped the plane strewing smouldering wreckage and bodies over a wide area. The aircraft was about 200 feet off the ground when it dropped without warning.

The airport control tower was in contact with the pilot moments before a ball of fire lit up the sleeping countryside. The crash occurred at 2:40 a.m. NDT.

A four-man investigation department left Ottawa for the scene shortly after the accident and officials of Czechoslovakian

WIRE BRIEFS

Schools Closed

CALGARY (CP)—About 2,500 public school students were told to stay home today as a strike by caretakers, and construction delays caused by it, forced 11 public schools to remain closed.

Pope Has Fever

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (UPI)—The Vatican today said Pope Paul VI is recovering from a slight fever and sore throat that caused him to call off all engagements.

Blast Kills 17

ANTOFAGASTA, Chile (Reuters)—At least 17 workers were killed and 14 injured by a dynamite blast following a collision between two trucks from the Chuquicamata copper mine today, it was announced here.

Gales Batter U.K.

LONDON (AP)—Gales battered Britain today, killing four persons and wrecking scores of small boats. Gusts reaching up to 80 miles an hour roared deep inland.

'Copter Lost

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. (CP)—Three RCAF aircraft resumed searching at dawn today for a private helicopter with two men aboard, missing since Saturday.

Teachers Out

MONTEVIDEO (AP) — High schools were closed throughout Uruguay today as teachers went on strike demanding payment of back salaries.

DZU RUNS SECOND

Power Fight May Follow Thieu, Ky Win

SAIGON (AP)—Nguyen Cao Ky wants President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu to appoint him premier, the post he now holds, reliable sources reported today. Ky was elected vice-president Sunday on the same military slate with Thieu.

The sources report that Thieu has not decided who he will appoint as premier. The U.S. embassy has been pressing him to appoint a civilian to counter criticism of the predominantly military character of the regime.

To hold the premiership as well as the vice-presidency, would require an amendment of the constitution, but this could be accomplished if Ky controls the Senate.

In Sunday's election, which also was for the Senate, Ky supporters were ahead.

Returns from 27 of the 44 provinces put four slates known to support Ky among the top six runners. Six of the 48 slates of 10 men each will be elected, forming a 60-day Senate.

With control of the Senate, Ky would be in a strong position in any power struggle that might develop with Chief of State Thieu.

One slate thought to favor Thieu also was among the leaders.

DZU MEN IN 7TH PLACE

A slate favoring lawyer Truong Dinh Dzu, who surprisingly ran second in the presidential race, was in seventh place.

Firm conclusions could not be drawn, however, until all results are in and six tickets actually elected.

Leading the Senate race was a ticket headed by retired Gen. Tran Van Don, a leader in the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem. He was retired by Thieu and Ky and supports neither of them.

Complete unofficial returns in the presidential contest gave Thieu 1,649,561 votes, Dzu 817,120, Phan Khac Suu 513,374, and former premier Tran Van Huong 474,100. An additional 1,281,249 votes were cast for the other seven candidates or were declared invalid.

The total of 4,735,404 votes was 80.9 per cent of the 5,853,251 registered voters, and Thieu got 34.9 per cent of the votes.

Dzu, the runner-up presidential candidate, visited foreign news organization in Saigon

SAIGON (UP)—South Vietnam's communist-controlled National Liberation Front — the Viet Cong — has issued a broad, nationalistic appeal urging Vietnamese "irrespective of political tendencies" to work together against the United States and the Saigon government.

Guns Roar Across Jordan

Times News Services

Israeli and Jordanian artillery, tanks, mortars and machineguns dueled across the Jordan River over a seven-hour period today. There were some casualties on each side.

It was the second Middle East cease-fire violation in less than 24 hours.

Israeli and Egyptian guns dueled across the Suez Canal Monday in what an Israeli spokesman called a reminder that peace had not been stabilized.

Each side blamed the other for starting today's series of firing near the Allenby Bridge.

Amman radio said "two of our soldiers were slightly wounded while it was confirmed that there were some casualties among enemy troops" and equipment.

Israel said two Israeli soldiers were wounded.

MACHINE GUNS

Amman radio, quoting a military spokesman, said Israeli troops first opened fire with light and medium machineguns, but as the day wore on brought up 106 millimeter field artillery, tanks and mortars. It said Jordan used similar equipment.

Meanwhile, an official source in Tel Aviv said today Israel will reopen the Jordan River border next week for the return of another 7,000 Arab refugees from Jordan.

Israel decided last week to extend the repatriation of all former west bank residents whose applications to return had been approved but who failed to cross by the Aug. 31 deadline.

Only 14,056 came back by Thursday, and both Israel and Jordan accused each other of impeding the repatriation for political reasons.

U.S. Chases North Troops

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. marines pursued perhaps 1,000 North Vietnamese in the far north Tuesday after the bloodiest battle in South Vietnam in two months.

The battle and other fighting flared Monday and in all 262 North Vietnamese troops and 63 Americans were killed, the U.S. command reported.

Dief Rebuffed By Committee

TORONTO (CP)—A Progressive Conservative sub-committee today endorsed in substance the proposal that the official party line include a declaration recognizing the so-called two-nations concept of Confederation.

Ignoring the publicly-stated opposition of party Leader John Diefenbaker, the constitution sub-committee at the party's centennial convention approved the declaration after easily beating back efforts to strike out proposed references to the two-nations concept.

The declaration's key paragraphs say that Canada is a federal state composed of the original inhabitants of this land and "of two founding peoples (deux nations), with historic rights who have been and continue to be joined by people of many lands."

The references to two founding people were placed before the sub-committee by the Montmorency Falls, Que., thinkers conference held by the party last month.

Mr. Diefenbaker, vowing to fight the proposal during the party's five-day policy and leadership convention, last week termed the two-nations concept produced by the thinkers conference unacceptable, divisive and tending to place Canadians of origins other than French or English in a second class status.

ARE OTHER STEPS

The sub-committee's decision to accept the declaration now must go before the full 400-member committee before it is endorsed as policy for the party.

The main policy committee's report will be placed before the leadership convention later this week but no further debate will be allowed then and there will be no formal motion to adopt it.

The policy committee members broke into nine sub-committees to deal with various aspects of policy.

Besides the two-nations declaration, early sessions on other policy matters produced a recommendation to legalize dissemination of birth control information and devices.

Another sub-committee recommended that the party oppose the principle of capital gains tax as recommended by the Carter royal commission on taxation.

WASN'T SUCCESSFUL

Chief opponent of the two-nations concept was Vivian Steers of Vancouver who unsuccessfully tried to have a recorded vote in the constitution committee on adoption of the policy statement.

"I don't know anything that would split the country more than perpetuating the idea that we are two nations," he said.

He and Clark Muirhead of Claremont, Ont., were snowed under on show-of-hands votes and in debate by a combination of eloquent French- and English-speaking participants in the thinkers conference.

Mr. Steers mustered only four votes behind a formal move to strike out references to "deux nations" with between 25 and 30 delegates favoring retention of the expression.

Mr. Muirhead lacked a seconder in an effort to substitute "two civilizations" for "two founding peoples."

The birth control recommendation came from the committee discussing the social quality of life. Its decision was almost unanimous. The recommendation will be presented to the plenary session of the policy committee Wednesday night.

The sub-committee on Canada's resources and world need put off until Wednesday its discussion on Canada's participation in NATO and NORAD.

The same committee agreed that Canada should pursue an expansionist and non-discriminatory immigration policy,

ONTARIO CALLS VOTE

TORONTO (CP) — Premier John Robarts today called an Ontario provincial election for Tuesday, Oct. 17.

Mr. Robarts told reporters that his election announcement should dispose of any suggestion that he would seek the national Conservative party leadership.

Dief Plans Dramatic Entrance

TORONTO (CP)—Leader John Diefenbaker will make a carefully-timed entrance at the Conservative convention after the nine men who seek his job.

Mr. Diefenbaker arrives here by plane at 9:45 a.m. EDT Wednesday. The last of the leadership candidates are due today, permiting Mr. Diefenbaker's arrival to take centre stage.

The drama of the arrival is enhanced by his non-committal stand on whether he will seek to retain his job in the Saturday leadership balloting. He will give the keynote address to the convention Thursday night.

Young Diefenbaker supporters are circulating at the convention wearing "Keep the chief" buttons. But even they don't know what the chief will do.

The leader, along with anybody else, has until 10 a.m. Friday to declare.

At the convention, he will stay at one of the two $120-a-day vice-regal suites at the Royal York Hotel, the main convention hotel. The 17th-floor suites are "the best in the house."

STARR STAYS IN RACE EVEN IF DIEF ENTERS

TORONTO (CP)—Michael Starr said today he has no intention of withdrawing from the Conservative leadership race even if Opposition Leader Diefenbaker declares himself a candidate.

He told reporters that originally he had stated that he would have to give serious consideration as to whether he should remain a candidate if Mr. Diefenbaker entered.

However, that point now had been passed. Mr. Diefenbaker had not yet declared himself and Mr. Starr was staying in.

Reaction of some observers to Mr. Starr's statement was that Mr. Diefenbaker, who arrives here Wednesday, will not run for re-election.

U.S. EXPENDITURES ATTACKED IN U.K.

Space Program Called Highway to Ruin

LEEDS, England (AP)—A British educationist assailed the U.S. space program today as the most extravagant venture since imperial Rome ruined itself with costly circuses.

Lord Bowden, former cabinet minister and now principal of Manchester University's Institute of Technology, said the gigantic U.S. effort to hit the moon and investigate the planets has affected American education, reaches into all walks of life and has influenced other countries as well. Canada was mentioned as one of the countries.

Speaking at a symposium of the annual British Association convention, Lord Bowden called the U.S. space drive "the most extravagant, most sophisticated and most dangerous system of outdoor relief ever devised by a great nation in peacetime."

After Bowden's speech, Dr. John Findlay, chairman of the lunar and planetary mission board of the U.S. National Aeronaitics and Space Administration, levelled what amounted to a counter-attack, though it was unplanned that way.

In his prepared remarks, Dr. Findlay said the program is merely a "courageous journey of exploration," giving mankind the freedom to be adventurous. Great scientific knowledge of general benefit already has been acquired, he insisted, and he pooh-poohed the cost. It amounts to only one per cent of the gross U.S. national income, he said.

Lord Bowden saw it differently.

In his comment on "outdoor relief," he explained his conclusions that too many engineers and scientists are siphoned off from other areas. In the United States, he maintained, too many cities and areas now depend on space programs for their existence.

Canadian, British and Swiss universities already are "chained to the chariot wheels of the American Molich which is to put a man on the moon by 1970," he complained.

"This machine was reacted after the Americans had already produced the nuclear equivalent of about 100 tons of dynamite for every living human being and had established a method of delivering it to any point on the face of the earth," he said.

"You may say America is a wealthy country and if she wishes to do so she could afford to build moon probes, probes to Jupiter and Mars and bigger and better rockets. I do not think this is true.

Dr. Findlay disagreed. He said the United States could afford the venture and he contended that only five per cent of the nations' engineers and scientists are in fact scooped up in space work.

He took the view that man-operated methods for space probes are better than robots.

"Man should be given the freedom to be adventurous, he said, "even if other means could be found to get the same results."

14 FEARED DROWNED IN NORWAY SINKING

STAVANGER, Norway (Reuters)—Fourteen persons were believed to have died when the 497-ton Norwegian coaster Dux sank early Sunday in the Bokn Fjord, just north of here.

Police said there were three survivors—the captain, his wife and one of the crew.

Six bodies had been picked up while eight other members of the crew were missing and believed drowned.

Smoke From U.S. Grounds Bombers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Smoke from the huge Sundance Mountain fire in northern Idaho prevented fire bomber action Monday on more than a dozen new outbreaks in the hard-hit Nelson Forest District of British Columbia.

Smoke from the 55,000-acre Idaho panhandle fire swirled through the Creston Valley and reached Nelson itself.

"Smoke was so thick we couldn't even see nearby mountains," said Herb Couling, Nelson fire protection officer.

Officials fear that some of the new spot fires in the Nelson district will rage out of control if they cannot be doused.

Much cooler weather Monday over the southern interior of B.C. eased the situation slightly. But expected weekend rain did not materialize.

Sparks from a Canadian Pacific Railway train are blamed for a 6,000-acre fire that broke out at the weekend on the west side of Kootenay Lake. The 10-mile-long fire burned out telephone communications between Nelson and Creston and twisted railway tracks in its heat. Two CPR sheds and a summer cottage were destroyed.

The largest of more than 250 B.C. forest fires continued to rage out of control Monday. It covers 40,000 acres north of Shuswap Lake, 40 miles north of Vernon.

The fire was believed started by trail riders who lit signal fires when they became lost.

especially in regard to the West Indies, to meet the needs of the country's expanding economy.

Convention co-chairman Paul O. Trepanier, president of the Quebec Progressive Conservative Association, told the subcommittee on rural and regional development that the day when both Conservative and Liberal party policies could be decided by the leader and a small group around him are gone.

MUST BE GENERAL

Policies had to be decided by party members in general. Otherwise other parties would take over the government assessed ada.

The study committee on economic developmen tassessed the mood of the Canadian electorate as being ready for restraint in government spending to curb a rising danger of inflation.

Working on a premise that a federal election may be called next year, delegates examined short-term policies to meet what was described as a critical period with Canada on the verge of a recession.

E. A. Goodman, Toronto lawyer who is the other co-chairman, noted the Montmorency discussions had produced a number of policy recommendations for this convention.

However, "this committee is at complete liberty to make whatever decisions it wishes to make."

"While we are proud of the Montmorency conference, there is no magic in its recommendations. The ideas spawned there must survive on their merits."

MUST MAKE DECISION

He said delegates must make up their own minds on the policy issues according to their own beliefs and consciences.

He replied to internal criticism of attendance at the Montmorency discussions of academics and professionals who have no Conservative party ties.

"I am mystified by the attitude that a political party must not go outside itself for ideas. Such an approach would stultify its intellectual growth and narrow its outlook."

Dief Threatened In Fake Telegram

TORONTO (CP) — A telegram promising Conservative Leader Diefenbaker "harsh treatment" unless he withdraws from the leadership in favor of Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba is being circulated at the party's leadership convention.

The telegram is signed with the name of Winnipeg lawyer Maruice Arpin, a Roblin organizer who denies having sent it, or having any knowledge of it until it was brought to his attention by Thomas Van Dusen, Mr. Diefenbaker's executive assistant.

"I've consulted my Criminal Code about uttering a forged document if any use is made of this fake," Mr. Arpin said in an interview.

Photostats of the telegram, delivered to Mr. Diefenbaker's House of Commons office in mid-August, contain wording to the effect that the sender with the concurrence of Mr. Roblin advises Mr. Diefenbaker to leave the leadership and in effect, endorse Mr. Roblin, one of nine men and two women in the leadership contest.

The telegram says that, if Mr. Diefenbaker quits the leadership and backs Mr. Roblin's candidacy, the Manitoba premier will be eternally grateful if elected to the post.

Mr. Arpin said that when Mr. Van Dusen telephoned him about the telegram he had the telegraph company conduct an investigation. It has been telephoned to the company's Winnipeg office by a man who gave the name Maurice Arpin and the Winnipeg lawyer's Winnipeg office address.

Mr. Arpin said he advised Mr. Van Dusen immediately that he has sent no telegram to Mr. Diefenbaker and later advised the Opposition leader's office of the results of the telegraph company's investigation.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

The disturbance which has been stalled along the coast and in the central interior for the last two days dropped a considerable amount of rain on northern Vancouver Island and on the west coast of the Island. Port Hardy received 3.12 inches from the storm by 5 a.m. this morning. The system has now started to move again and is expected to continue eastward taking showers and cooler air as far as the eastern interior by Wednesday evening. Cloudy, unsettled weather will follow the disturbance.

today to press his charges that the elections Sunday were a "nationwide fraud."

WILL PRESENT CHARGES

Declaring himself "the leader of the opposition," Dzu said he was forming a coalition of losing candidates which would present charges of election fraud to the Constituent Assembly this week.

"If Dzu has proof there was fraud," said a spokesman for Ky, "let him go ahead. If there was fraud, we would have had a bigger margin."

U.S. observers sent by President Johnson agreed that the voting was fair, but Dzu said they "could not see it. They could not stay all day long at the polling places."

AMERICANS AGREE

"I have never seen an election with such an absence of evidence of fraud," said Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican.

"No one could detect anything wrong," said Joseph Barr, Democratic mayor of Pittsburgh.

HOPES ARE SLIM

One of Thieu's major campaign planks was a pledge to seek a pause of one week or more in bombing of the North if Hanoi gives some sign that it will respond as a prelude to negotiations. Hopes of success are slim, however.

Thieu sent a message of thanks to American and allied commanders for helping provide security for the population on election day.

Despite their efforts, at least 38 persons were killed on election weekend, another 300 were kidnapped and at least 135 were wounded.

Dzu's strong showing puzzled political experts who had expected both Huong and former chief of state Suu to poll more votes.

Some thought it was because the symbol of Dzu's ticket was a white dove. This could have attracted South Vietnamese weary of more than 20 years of war.

Mercenaries Blocked

KINSHASA, Congo (UPI) — The Congolese government today claimed loyal army troops had "crushed" all attempts by rebel white mercenaries to break out of their Bukavu stronghold in the eastern Congo.

Airlines were also reported to be going to the scene.

Meanwhile, doctors in the small hospital here were treating some of the injured. And 14 critically-burned survivors were being flown to Halifax for special treatment. A kidney machine required by some of the injured was not available here.

There were 61 passengers and eight crew members aboard the Ilyushin 18, which had landed here for a one-hour refuelling stop on a flight to Havana from Prague. Among the dead were the pilot, co-pilot and two other crew members. The engineer, radio officer and two hostesses survived.

The crash was one of the worst at this airport in northeastern Newfoundland. The crash of a Sabena Airlines Aircraft in 1946 claimed the lives of 27 of the 44 persons aboard.

Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin, died in a 1941 crash here.

"I didn't see what happened," a tower controller said. "The first thing I knew was when I saw a ball of flames hit the ground. The ground was lit up by flames. It was a fearful sight."

Joseph Krasnocka, Czech aircraft mechanic who had worked on the plane during its brief stopover, said the aircraft was in perfect condition when it took off.

"The plane was perfectly all right," he said. "We do not know how this could have happened."

ENTRENCHED IN MUD

At the crash site rescuers pulled survivors from burning wreckage entrenched in thick mud and rushed them to hospital by helicopter.

In the modern, three-year-old hospital a full staff of doctors were called in before dawn to tend the injured—19 women, 10 men and seven children. One woman died shortly after admission and many others were in critical condition with third-degree burns.

Gladstone Lester, assistant hospital administrator, said "some of the injured began asking about the children as soon as they were brought in" and language barriers for a time made it difficult to determine to whom injured children belonged.

However, "a doctor on the staff who speaks several European languages helped with the language problem." The majority of the injured appeared to be Czech, Polish or Cuban, Mr. Lester said.

Vandals Dent 34 New Cars

VANCOUVER (CP)—A group of youths went on a fender-bending spree at a waterfront terminal Monday, causing an estimated $5,000 damage to 34 imported vehicles which were rammed into each other.

A night watchman at a nearby grain elevator heard the grinding of metal at Vancouver Ocean Terminals and notified police who said they are seeking nine youths aged 13 to 15.

Rare Grey Whale Up for Short Visit

Hundreds of people Monday saw a rare California grey whale, the first ever spotted in Vancouver Island's inland waters.

It was first reported by Mrs. Stanley C. Mitchell, 3035 McAnally Road, near Smugglers Cove.

"It looked more like a monster than a whale," she said. "Its pale loose skin studded with barnacles gave it a weird look."

The mammal remained in local waters rolling over and diving most of the day and evening.

Dr. Clifford Carl said the sighting of a grey whale in inland waters is most unusual.

"There is no record of the species ever having been seen in these waters," he said. "Apart from that the grey whale is rare."

WEST COAST

The whal's habitat is the Pacific's west coast.

It was the only whale hunted by the west coast Indians because it came close to shore. It was nearly exterminated by whalers at the turn of the century, but is now making a comeback due to U.S. and Canadian protection.

The whale grows to about 44 feet in length. It has no dorsal fins and has four fingers on the flippers. It also has hair scattered over its head and lower jaw.

SOUTH VIETNAM PEASANT VOTERS:

'Obeying Obligation, Not Making Decision'

By STANLEY KARNOW

SAIGON — A danger for the future is that the Johnson administration, having touted the election here as a dramatically important event, may take the facade of democracy in South Vietnam for the reality.

The election, moreover, may serve to reinforce the great American dream that the United States meaningfully influences the internal political processes of Asian states.

In terms of stuffing ballot boxes, buying votes and other fraudulent techiniques not alien to American experience, the election here may not have been rigged at all. But the Vietnamese are as baffled by democratic principles and procudures as Americans would be if invited to light joss-sticks to celebrate a moon festival.

Despite what they say publicly about their devotion to democracy, the Vietnamese military leaders, General Nguyen van Thieu and Air Vice-Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, staged the election largely to soothe the United States, which pays the bills here. Without the American presence in Vietnam, there would be no election.

The lack of genuine Vietnamese feeling for democracy was underlined not long ago in Ky's statement that he would respond "militarily" if a civilian he disliked won the presidency. His American critics howled, yet Ky's remark was more sincere than most of the pious utterances he contrives for U.S. audiences.

MORE SINCERE

At the same time, the civilian politicians participating in the election seemed to be striving to attain hopes they had decades ago, when France ruled Vietnam.

Men of 50 or more, these schoolteachers, lawyers and doctors are remnants of a French impact that taught the appealing 18th century ideals of liberty, equality and fraternity, and prevented their political emplementation. Such ideals in Vietnamese current revolutionary conditions are as outmoded as the candidates who expouse them.

SEEN AS DUTY

For the mass of the Vietnamese population, meanwhile, voting in the election was viewed as a duty rather than a right or even a privilege. Peasants went to the polls, as they had kn the past elections, less out of coercion than from a traditional respect for the authority that told them that they must vote.

As an old peasant in a village north of Saigon recently explained it to an American investigator: "We are like weathervanes. The government blows and we turn."

To a peasant, an election is a harassment that disrupts his principal aspiration — to be left alone. His hamlet is visited by police, soldiers, campaign workers and assorted other officials, all of them making him submit to registration, exhortations and possibley pressures.

If they go through the motions of this incomprehensible mumbo-jumbo. The peasant are merely rolling with the punch, just as they have somehow adapted themselves to stoically suffering the far more devastating ravages of war.

INCOMPREHENSIBLE

Moreover, an election is incomprehensible to Vietnamese peasants because the notion of free choice, basic to democracy, is alien to their concept of an orderly, harmonious universe in which each man's place is ordained.

Change can occur within this universe, but not through the superficial operation of political candidates making speeches and voters casting ballots. It can only come slowly, as the community to which the Vietnamese belongs itself undergoes change.

Perhaps because they are more deeply rooted in the peasantry than middle-class Saigon leaders have ever been, the communists grasped that individuals could not be expected to join their cause as volunteers enlist in an armu. In building their movement, therefore, they constructed a new environment, using many ancient moral impulses, that engulfed people imperceptibly.

As Douglas Pike described the process in his authoritative book the Viet Cong, the Communist recruit was initially "surrounded by a social organization that had hand no hand in creating but to which he somehow belonged."

NEVER QUITE SURE

Gradually, Pike explained, the youth "came to realize that he was part of the National Liberation Front, never quite sure how this happened and never with any overt choice presented him."

The kind of organization that can encircle and absorb individuals is the Communists' major achievement in Asia. The lack of such an organization is the major weakness of successive Saigon regimes, which have, as an alternative, had to seek support abroad rather than in their own country.

The elections here Sunday may win approval around the world for their apparent fairness, and are bound to be hailed in Washington as a sign of progress.

They are less likely to win equal applause from Vietnam peasants, who, as they ovted, may have sensed that they were obeying an obligation rather than making a decision.

Refugees Blocked

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters) — Syria accused Israel today of blocking efforts by the International Red Cross to get Syrian refugees back to their homes in Syrian-occupied territory.

Syrian Charge d'Affaires Pafic Jouejati charged in a letter to UN Secretary-General U That that the number of refugees has reached 110,000 and that Israel is using "their rightful return as a means of blackmail and pressure against the Syrian government for expansionist aggressive ends."

Jouejati asked Thant to investigate the situation.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains a Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Itching Piles". It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief—here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions—even cases of long standing.

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

OPEN HOUSING demonstrators, 1,000 strong, are led by Father James Groppi, on 16-mile march around Milwaukee streets Sunday. Despite marathon trek group showed little signs of fatigue. (AP Wirephoto.)

DICK GREGORY LEADS PROTESTERS

Milwaukee's Marchers Operate Around Clock

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's marathon marches to desegregate housing will be on a round-the-clock basis, Dick Gregory said today as he marched a band of 100 demonstrators along the city's northwestern boundary.

The round-the-clock marching technique began Monday night after demonstration leaders vowed they would add steam to their campaign with a school boycott today.

The marchers want to force adoption of a law banning racial discrimination on the sale and rental of housing. Such a law has been rejected four times by the ruling common council.

While Gregory and 100 marchers continued to keep city police occupied, the demonstrations' co-leader, Rev. James E. Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest, headed for a rest at St. Boniface Roman Catholic Church in the predominantly-Negro Inner Core.

"The longer we march, the longer rest Father Groppi's group will have," Gregory said.

HAS CANCELLED WORK

The Chicago-based Negro comedian said he has cancelled three months of engagements and would "stay in Milwaukee as long as I'm needed."

When asked how he felt after more than 20 miles of marching Monday and early today, he replied: "The nigger's been sleeping for 400 years and now everyone's worried about him."

The demonstrators have walked more than 50 miles in three days of marches that have been interrupted only for rallies, strategy meetings and snatches of sleep.

Only quiet greeted the marchers Monday night as they moved to the edges of the tree-lined white suburb.

Rev. William B. Hoard, president of the Milwaukee chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People told a rally:

"This is war. We will not sign a new peace pact until the Negro is as free in Milwaukee as the Polish people are. This is only the beginning. We should have been at this crossroad years ago."

The rally followed a march through the wealthy and virtually all-white east side.

Negroes Riot After Youth Gunned Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Hundreds of Negroes surged through the streets of a Brooklyn neighborhood Monday night hurling rocks and bottles at police after a teen-age mugging suspect was shot and killed by a police detective.

Both the slain youth and the detective were Negroes.

Police sent 100 helmeted officers to the intersection of Ralph Avenue and Park Place, where the shooting occurred, to quell the disorder. One sergeant and five patrolmen suffered minor cuts and six persons were arrested.

The slain boy was identified as Richard Ross. Police gave the boy's age variously as 15 or 16 and said he had a record of juvenile delinquency.

Police said the shooting took place when three detectives patroling in an unmarked car came upon five or six Negro youths attacking Samuel H. Samuels, 73.

As they leaped from their car, police said, the youths fled and Detective John Rattley fired after them, hitting Ross in the back of the head. He died in hospital.

RESIDENT BEATEN, CYCLIST SHOT

B.C. Town Terrorized By Motorcycle Gang

CLINTON (CP) — About 40 motorcyclists were escorted for 200 miles back to the Vancouver area by a dozen RCMP cars Sunday, following a night of tension in this Cariboo village.

A local resident was kicked and beaten by the gang, and one of the motorcyclists was later shot through the side by a villager.

A police spokesman said the gang arrived in Clinton about 8 p.m. Saturtday and began drinking in the Frontier Hotel. There was a fight, some glasses were broken and the motorcyclists were evicted.

The spokesman said the two-man RCMP detachment called for reinforcements and 33 additional police arrived from the Kamloops subdivision. The motorcyclists set up camp a half-mile south of town and the RCMP patrolled the area to keep gang and villagers apart.

Three armed townsmen managed to elude the guard and sneak up on two of the motorcyclists who were sleeping on a hillside slightly apart from the others, however, and in an ensuing scuffle one of the gang members was shot.

Police identified him as Jerry Spreeuw, 18, of Powell River, B.C., who was in fair condition Sunday night in Kamloops Hospital.

Police raided the camp at dawn Sunday, seized a quantity of liquor, and ordered the motorcyclists to leave for home.

In the Right Direction

CHARGES OF FRAUD AND doubts of fairness becloud the Vietnamese election, but several aspects of this vast exercise in democracy give cause for satisfaction. The elections were not perfect—as what elections are?—but they were a hopeful first step in representative government for South Vietnam and a promise of more to come.

It is gratifying that despite wartime conditions, and the threats and the attacks of the Viet Cong which caused some 2,500 casualties and kidnappings, 83 per cent of the country's nearly 6 million voters turned out to cast ballots. Both in their support of President-elect Thieu and unexpectedly heavy backing for the "white dove" candidate, lawyer Truong Dinh Dzu, the people showed a pronounced desire for peace. These candidates, and others, had urged various approaches to bombing halts, truces and peace negotiations.

Such solid support for peace can not be ignored by either the new president, his running mate, vice-president Ky, or the 60-man senate. There will have to be more than a gesture in this direction by the government and it is a move that the United States cannot oppose without denying the country the democracy it is supposed to be upholding.

The same considerations will govern the actions of the new president and his colleague in their relations with the elected houses. They will not be able to disregard with impunity the wishes of the senate or of the legislative house to be elected next month, and this is the answer to those who denigrate the elections as a camouflage job for dictatorship. For the first time, the Vietnamese people will have a freely-elected two-house government. Its composition will determine its strength, but it is obvious that the civilian element will emerge from the elections with a stronger voice, and the eyes of the world will be on the president and vice-president in their dealings with the legislative bodies.

The great response of the Vietnamese people to this full-scale call to the polls constituted a significant reply to critics in the West who could see little purpose in the elections. The voters' enthusiasm—many risked death or injury to cast their ballots—was an effective answer to the charge that they would not appreciate or use their opportunity to have a say in running their country.

Defects there no doubt were—chicanery in some cases, slip-ups in the provision of enough ballots, misunderstandings by many villagers voting in a strange system for the first time, perhaps bribery or intimidation at some polls. But the point is that this vital experiment has been launched, the South Vietnam population has spoken, and the way is open to further development of the democratic process. The new voice of the people, and particularly the expression of a consensus for peace, is one to which the South Vietnam government, the United States military forces and the North Vietnam Communist regime will have to give attention.

Positions Unchanged

THE DRAMATIC VISIT OF Yugoslavian Foreign Minister Marko Nikezic to Washington and New York last week was heralded as carrying hope for a settlement in the Middle East. Since President Tito is on good terms with Egypt's President Nasser, it seemed to be taken for granted that Mr. Nikezic was the bearer of good news.

In fact, however, the Yugoslav emissary had nothing new to put before either President Johnson or United Nations' Secretary-General U Thant. His report consisted primarily of President Tito's "views and observations" on the situation and, since the Yugoslav leader is an acknowledged Arab partisan, this can hardly be considered as a fruitful development. In essence these views and observations are to the effect that Israel should immediately return its forces to the June 4 border in return for a guarantee of territorial integrity by either the UN Security Council or through some agreement among the major powers.

This, unfortunately, doesn't take the situation any further forward since the Israelis have firmly resisted any settlement which does not include clear and specific agreement by the Arab states themselves that they recognize Israel's sovereignty and renounce any further belligerent action.

President Nasser's attitude toward a settlement seems to be ambivalent as a result of the Arab summit conference in Khartoum. While he spoke in favor of a political solution to the conflict, he also said the Arab countries must continue to rebuild their shattered armed forces in order to negotiate from a position of strength. He is determined to keep the Suez Canal closed, with the help of massive economic aid from oil-rich Kuwait, Libya and Saudi Arabia.

American encouragement of President Tito's peace-making efforts, modest though it may be, must be seen by the Israelis as a definite danger. With the Yugoslav initiative being backed by the Soviet Union and, it is believed, France, it needs only the addition of the United States to make it into a major diplomatic offensive on the Israeli position.

Spreading the Word

THE CANADIAN UNIVERSITY Service Overseas, although modestly financed and only slightly publicized compared with its United States Peace Corps counterpart, has rendered valuable service to many developing nations and has won for Canada an esteem in foreign parts out of all proportion to the size of the program.

This element of the Canadian foreign aid program has been so successful because it has contributed a vital factor to the growth of recipient countries, skilled expertise in such fields as health, education, agriculture and others. Now to the CUSO program it is proposed to add another vital element, the services of business and industrial experts who will volunteer to go abroad and give advice and guidance on technical matters.

The new service, Canadian Executive Service Overseas, should be a strong complement to the CUSO project, provided of course that sufficient numbers of professional and businessmen can be persuaded to take leaves of absence from their positions and engage themselves in the task. Initially it is proposed that the posting will last for only about three months on the average, a rather limited time but necessarily so, perhaps, if the program is to attract men concerned with their own careers and private lives.

The CESO group is to work closely with CUSO and the External Aid department at Ottawa and the experience gained by the latter two in adapting Canadian ways to foreign should be invaluable. It is, after all, important that local customs and cultures be considered in any attempts to aid other nations and impatience for results must be tempered by the realization that more harm than good has come out of foreign aid plans which did not fit local conditions.

THE STIRRING FRONTIER

By MAURICE WESTERN

A New Heart-Beat in the Old Arctic

ONE of the sights of Cambridge Bay is the half-submerged hulk of the Maud, a ship once used by Roald Amundsen in his drift through the Northwest Passage.

Western

It may afford one clue to the riddle of the central Arctic, Mr. Laing's problem area. Another, it is hoped, lies some hundreds of miles to the west at a place rather sombrely called the Dismal Lakes where field parties are combing the barrens for promising showings of copper ore.

The trouble with the central Arctic is that the old economy has ceased to be viable before a new has taken its place. In the west great activity has been stimulated by the mining boom and in the east, although production is still around the corner, very large proven ore bodies (high grade iron on Baffin Island, asbestos at Deception Bay) give promise of early development. But the central Arctic is an economic barrens offering little in the way of wage employment to people who must depend largely in consequence on government welfare.

Intense Interest

This accounts for the intense interest of Northern Affairs in the staking rush to the Coppermine area. Following the lead of Murray Watts, whose glittering record of discoveries includes the Baffin Island find, a score of companies have poured in, filing between 8,000 and 10,000 claims. Because of the short season, however, only the Watts company has done substantial work and peak activity will have to await another year.

Copper is an old story in the central Arctic; it was, of course, the gleam of this metal on Indian tools and trinkets which led Samuel Hearne to undertake his famous journey to the Polar Sea in 1771. The best he could find was a four pound lump of native copper. Later parties have had little difficulty in picking up "float" copper, deposited presumably by glacial movements, but have been frustrated in the search for an ore body justifying commercial exploitation.

There has in fact developed a theory, reflected today in the scepticism of some Yellowknife mining people, that there is no lode awaiting the searcher; that instead copper ores, though reasonably abundant, are so widely scattered in small pockets as to make exploration an unprofitable pursuit.

Mr. Watts, whose experience of the north goes back to 1932, challenges this theory and much else besides. He can find no evidence that past Coppermine flurries have induced anything approaching a thorough search. After all, there was only a limited inducement to costly exploration when the world price was at least 20 cents below its current level.

Unhappy Fact

In a country torn by faults, with adjoining beds of volcanic ruble, he has found chalcocite and bornite showings in a belt 70 miles long and varying from 20 to 40 miles in width. There are also occurrences in shale, some apparently of promising depth, although the investigation has not carried very far.

But development depends on transportation. The unhappy fact is that the Yellowknife granite starts about 50 miles south of the exploratory area.

The interesting fact is that drillings in the first bed indicate a considerable depth of ore averaging about three per cent copper. Some southern producers now operate on the basis of less than one per cent. No one can prove as yet that a commercial ore body is there but enough has been turned up to carry conviction to a well-known mining engineer from one of the leading Canadian companies who happened to be on site at the time of our visit.

Despite its name, the country around the Dismal Lakes (roughly 40 miles southwest of Coppermine) was remarkably pleasant this August. Mr. Watts has other reasons for satisfaction. Starting on July 8 with a single tractor, he was able to scrape an air strip into shape in 10 days for $2,500 and to construct a 25-mile tote road at the rate of about a mile a day. Drilling conditions have proved far better than in many southern districts. Again, although the camp is well above 67 degrees north latitude, he has found timber (some of it as large as 18 inches at the base) in adequate quantities for a mining operation only a few miles away in the Coppermine valley.

It is about 350 miles as the raven flies to the territorial capital and a Northern Affairs expert calculates that a connecting road would cost about $20 million. This might be a useful supply line (although the Watts party brought in 110 tons in one day by Hercules) but it would make shipments of concentrate prohibitively costly. The answer, assuming that a commercial ore body (enough to produce 200 tons a day for a minimum of seven years) can be found, lies in the northwest passage.

Prime Significance

From a Northern Affairs standpoint, this is the prime significance of the Coppermine search. At one time the passage was used regularly by the Hudson's Bay Company to supply northern establishments but it proved hazardous and has long since been abandoned in favor of the Mackenzie route. The ships which do come in are engaged in a one-way traffic; hence freight rates are extremely high. What modern technology could make of the route no one knows because there has been little incentive until now to test its possibilities.

On the basis of outward traffic alone, the Watts group believe that they could move ore to Japan at $50 a ton on 5,000-ton ships. With an annual production of 40,000 tons of concentrate, they ought not to face a time squeeze because the passage is generally open to Coppermine for about two months, while this quantity, it is hoped, could be moved in two weeks. Success would stimulate other developments — the lower Mackenzie delta area is considered particularly promising by oil companies — and anything which stimulated traffic in both directions would have further favorable effects on rates.

Other Prospects

There are, of course, many other prospects to induce hope among northern experts; the possibility of a new activity area; the re-opening of employment opportunities which disappeared with the abandonment of the Rankin Inlet operations; the creation of new bases which might serve more distant areas as Yellowknife now serves Coppermine. But with costs being what they are — 75 cents a gallon for heating fuel at Coppermine as compared with 28 cents at Inuvik — it is the freight outlook which most intrigues officials of Northern Affairs. Without the Northeast Passage the Arctic achievements of Russia would be scarcely conceivable. In the Northwest Passage we may have the ultimate answer to the challenge of our central Arctic.

It is all, of course, speculative. Coppermine may be the stimulus or it may, as the sceptics suggest, be merely another flash in the pan. With the big companies sufficiently interested to move in, the one certainty is a major effort in 1968 to unlock the secrets of an area which has beckoned and frustrated venturers for 200 years.

Letters

Seeds of Gratitude

In these days of everybody seemingly wanting more money, more leisure, etc., I would like to give a note of thanks to a couple of folk here in Victoria who seem to have never heard of either of these two things. I am writing of Mr. and Mrs. Beastall who have an article each day in the "Times".

This couple seem to have all the time in the world when one has a problem, and give as much care and thought as though one were a personal friend instead of just a voice on the phone.

I am sure I am not alone in these thoughts, and it is one of the things one is apt to put off until tomorrow this saying "Thanks", but I am saying it now for the help in the past and I feel sure I shall be asking again sometime in the future. So many thanks Mr. and Mrs. Beastall—Janet McCoy, 692 Beaverlake Road.

The Stranger

Mr. Hume's article, published on page 2 of August 26 Times, deserves to be enshrined in any museum collection of woolly-minded wanderings.

The long-haired gentleman to whom he refers certainly quarrelled with the religious orthodoxy of his day — but he did not go out of his way to break the civil law. In fact, he never did break the civil law, according to one Pontius Pilate, governor of Judea, who asked "What evil hath he done?"

If Jesus Christ returned to earth in the flesh today, he might not feel at home in City Hall, in a bishop's residence, or in the average Canadian household. But I'm quite sure he would feel even more out of place in Yorkville, listening to a talk on "resistance manoeuvres in preparation for ... the Toronto Police." Nor can I imagine him urging a 14-year-old girl to cast aside the bourgeois ideals of the rotting middle class and leave home for some happy hippy haven where she could expand her personality (and probably her waistline) without the malicious interference of her pettifogging parents.—M. Hall-Patch, 2643 Cavendish Ave.

Anti-Amalgamation

I see by the paper that Mr. Clyde Savage, the city fire chief and the deputy police chief are once again advocating amalgamation.

About 15 years ago the city of Victoria closed a firehall and laid off 14 men. Just a short while ago they came within one vote in council of closing another hall. Recently they farmed out the emergency ambulance to a private concern to avoid hiring more men.

Now we see these men wanting to take over two municipal fire departments with excellent emergency ambulance service, one of their aims being to "consolidate all ambulance services." Does this mean that Oak Bay and Saanich services would also be farmed out because of cost — a cost that only the city finds to be exhorbitant? And where would the ambulance be located in the city? . . .

A mutual aid pact between the city and the municipalities has been in force for years and the city has availed itself of this help when necessary. This means that equipment not in use at the time is sent to the city, but if a need arose in their own municipalities, the trucks would be sent back. Under amalgamation the outside municipalities might find themselves taking second place to the city's needs.—E. L. Lecke, 1879 Feltham Road.

Taking Vietnam to the UN Seen as Risky

THE United States is sounding out friendly members of the 15-nation UN Security Council on a possible Vietnam peace move, it has been learned here. The idea being explored, informants said, is a series of Council meetings to generate pressure for a cease-fire and a peace conference.

Frye

Reactions among other UN delegations thus far have been cool, it is understood. Public debate on Vietnam would simply bring a hot exchange of accusations, exacerbating Soviet-American relations and producing no progress toward peace, it is feared.

The administration nevertheless feels under great pressure from Congress to make the effort. No soundings have yet been taken with the Soviet Union, whose attitude would be critical.

The assumption is that United States delegate Arthur J. Goldberg will report to President Johnson that a peace move would be risky, and that the risks would have to be weighed carefully against possible gains before a decision was made to act.

Among the risks, it is understood, are these:

● That the council would refuse to adopt the agenda, thus slapping Washington in the face from the outset. Nine votes out of 15 are required for this initial move.

● That if the agenda were adopted, Russia would be able to turn the debate to its own advantage by proposing a bombing halt, inclusion of the National Liberation Front (FLN) in peace talks, and an American troop withdrawal.

Diplomats say the United States would have to halt the bombing before going to the council if Washington did not want to be put under great pressure to do so.

● That, after a long, abrasive debate, the Communists would simply refuse to come to a peace parley—and nothing would have been gained, not even a clear propaganda victory.

If Johnson does instruct Goldberg to accept these risks, he will be acting primarily in order to mollify "doves" on Capitol Hill, UN people believe.

There have been insistent calls in recent days for the United States to take Vietnam to the UN.

Major handicaps which have previously inhibited the world organization from Vietnam action are, however, still in effect, it is pointed out.

Neither Communist China nor North Vietam has ever been willing to accept UN jurisdiction. The political balance on basic war issues is uncertain, but at best not favorable to Washington.

The Soviet Union, which might have enough influence in Hanoi to counteract belligerent pressures from Red China, is much more likely to use such influence in a constructive direction if not forced to take a public stance.

Others contend that a little twisting of Moscow's arm might be healthy at this stage, and that in any event, the Kremlin should be required to fish or cut bait on a Vietnam peace.

UN people fear that these conflicting considerations will be resolved on the basis of domestic American politics—that is, that the overriding consideration will be Johnson's desire to protect himself from criticism as he prepares for next year's elections.

If so, it is said Goldberg will be left in the position of going to bat with two strikes against him, but with immense pressure to produce, or at least to make the exercise look good.

Looking Back

From The Times, Sept. 5, 1907.

A bylaw will shortly be placed before the ratepayers for approval or rejection, providing for the purchase of a motor fire-fighting apparatus and the erection of a firehall in the north end of the city at a total cost of $13,000. The firewardens today presented their long expected report on the matter which council referred to them for study and recommendations. Council has realized for some time that additional equipment for the brigade is necessary.

MOONPORT I— Picking the Landing Site

Will the first man-on-the-moon drop in on the Ocean of Storms or the Sea of Tranquility? Scientists have already narrowed the field of potential landing sites to eight, will soon cut it to three or four. Then pilots will get the full course on what to expect at Moonport I.

First Craft Landing on Moon Restricted to Equatorial Area

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON — When they first talked of sending astronauts to the moon, American scientists were like tourists plotting out interesting places to visit. Where do you land in a place you've never seen?

At first, scientists picked 30 potential sites. Since then they've gotten back enough pictures to fill many scrapbooks and they know the moon as well as a gambler knows Las Vegas. The number of potential sites has been narrowed to eight.

And by next February, says Dr. James H. Turnock Jr., special assistant to the director of the Apollo program, the field will be cut down to three or four.

Good Angle

"These are the sites about which the astronauts making the first flights will be thorougly trained," Turnock said. "We don't want just one site. When the spacecraft lands it has to be at a good sun angle

"For good visibility, the sun should be at an elevation of 13 to 30 degrees behind the Apollo Lunar Module, as it stands on the moon.

"The sun's terminator—the line between darkness and light—moves across the moon from east to west at the rate of 13 degrees a day—an earth day, not a lunar day, which consists of 28 earth days.

"If the sun's angle at a particular site is not right the first day, we would have to wait a month for that one. So we have a four-or-five day 'window.'

"This means that if conditions are not satisfactory at the first site, two days later we can get to another site that is properly sunlighted, and two days later to still another."

On the other hand, said Turnock, there is no need to have more than three or four sites, initially.

Each of the first astronauts must be thoroughly familiar with each of the potential landing sites—as familiar as a pilot training for a different landing field. "Training a man on a dozen sites doesn't gain anything," Turnock said in an interview.

Low Crater Count

The initial landings will be made where the crater count is as low as possible and the terrain as level as can be found.

In addition, the potential landing area must be within an ellipse some 20 miles long in which there are no mountains or ridges to cause the radar altimeter to give spurious signals. The Apollo astronauts must know with precision their changes in altitude as they descend toward the moon.

Aside from these primary safety factors, there is no particular advantage or disadvantage to distinguish one site from another for the initial landings, Turnock said. On later landings, when various scientific missions are involved, there may be reasons for choosing specific sites.

All of the first landings are restricted to a band along the moon's equator no wider than plus or minus five degrees of latitude and no longer than plus or minus 45 degrees of longitude.

Turnock explained that because of the complex earth-moon geometry, it is possible to get to the equatorial band with less expenditure of fuel than to other parts of the moon.

Furthermore, if the Apollo spacecraft is aimed for the moon's equator and something goes wrong so that no lunar landing is attempted, the vehicle will be on what is called a "free return trajectory" that assures it of homing along an elliptical earth orbit that has extended to the area of the moon.

In the running at the moment are three sites in the Ocean of Storms area on the far western face of the moon; two about 300 miles eastward; one another 400 miles eastward in the very centre of the moon's face; the others about 500 miles to the east in the Sea of Tranquility.

The Cult of Hemingway Flourishing in Russia

By DEV MURARKA

MOSCOW — An outstanding characteristic of the current Soviet literary scene is that some of the finest contemporary writing is appearing in little-known provincial journals whose numbers are much sought after these days in Moscow.

These publications, however, are not immune from criticism and official displeasure for their lively efforts.

It is symptomatic of the prevailing mood that the editor of one such journal, Mr. Vyacheslav Kostyria, has been dismissed recently. For a brief period he was editor of Zvezda Vostoka (Eastern Star), published monthly from Tashkent in Uzbekistan.

The March issue of Zvezda Vostoka was a special number and virtually a roll-call of great poets and writers, dead and alive. The issue contained a remarkable piece by the highly respected poet and novelist, Konstantin Simonov, dealing with For Whom The Bell Tolls, the celebrated Spanish Civil War novel by Ernest Hemingway.

Physical Strength

The cult of Hemingway flourishes in the Soviet Union as nowhere else. His physical strength combined with reck lessness, his ideological firmness coupled with a prophetic mission, have endowed him with a halo by the Russians.

In Hemingway's own person and that of his characters, the Soviet intelligentsia has found the ideal of an effective intellect missing from their own classical literature, full of noble and ineffective heroes.

Of all the modern writers only his works have been translated fully into Russian. The exception is For Whom The Bell Tolls.

The publication of this masterpiece is held up because of the fierce opposition to it from the veteran Spanish Communist leader, Dolores Ibarruri — better known as La Pasionara. There was one particular episode in the novel where Hemingway shows some soldiers deprecating her action in sending her son away to the safety of Moscow while the Civil War was on. La Pasionara opposes its publication for this reason alone. As it happened, her son, Ruben Ibarruri, died a hero's death on the battlefield of Stalingrad.

In his article, Simonov has highly praised For Whom The Bell Tolls. Referring to the incident about Ruben Ibarruri, he simply says that events have proved wrong the way Hemingway wrote about it.

ERNEST HEMINGWAY
. . . wears Soviet halo

Simonov also alludes to the purges by Stalin and praises Hemingway for conveying realistically the feelings which they aroused among the Russians on the Spanish Front.

He says: "Behind their backs, in their own motherland something was going on, something strange, beyond understanding and gloomy. Many of them afterwards returned home and were slandered and perished. And obviously in the hearts of some of these people there might have been a slowly growing premonition of the coming disaster." He lauds too the sublety with which Hemingway has conveyed this.

Defending Hemingway from charges of individualism, Simonov argues that although the novel is full of contradictions and personal subjectivism, the author succeeds in asserting the superiority of collective will when faced with danger. Of course, Simonov is even more attracted to the novel because of its strong anti-fascist nature.

For Publication

Clearly Simonov's article is a plea for the overdue publication of For Whom The Bell Tolls. It is remarkable, however, that Simonov has published this plea in an obscure literary journal.

His implied criticism of Stalin is courageous, too, since his own memoirs were not allowed to be published in Novy Mir, the Moscow literary journal, and the issue which contained them had to be abandoned and some members of the editorial staff lost their jobs.

The March issue also contained previously unpublished writings of such writers as Akhmadulina and Babel, Mandelshtam and Bulakov, Akhmadulina and Vonesensky were brought together in this issue and for this Mr. Kostyria was criticised since the issue was considered too unbalanced.

There may also have been a bit of local literary politics in the affair since, before Kostyria, the journal was chiefly taken up with local translations of long and indigestable Central Asian novels. When Kostyria tried to turn it into a livelier journal, it no doubt threatened the sinecure of the local literary big-wigs.

The Two Faces of Planning

By PAUL GOODMAN

(Mr. Goodman is a well-known American author, educator and social critic. These are excerpts from a recent address to the Smithsonian Institute.)

In principle, technology, the use of instruments, is a branch of moral philosophy, subject to the criteria of prudence, efficiency, simplicity and so forth.

I need not demonstrate, in 1967, that those who abuse our technology at present are not interested in moral philosophy, they are certainly not being prudent, and they are only in a narrow sense careful of efficiency and costs — they altogether neglect social costs.

But even if we are mindful of moral philosophy and want to use our technology prudently, there are modern dilemmas that are hard to solve. Let me make two small points of philosophical analysis that are obvious but are usually overlooked.

Abstractions

In the first place, as technology increases, as there is a proliferation of goods, and civilization becomes more complex, there is a change in the scale on which things happen. Then, if we continue to use the concepts that applies to a smaller scale, we begin to think in deceptive abstractions.

There are certain functions of life that we think we are carrying on, and that were carried on, on a smaller scale, but that now, on a larger scale, are only apparently being carried on. And sometimes, indeed, because of the error in our thinking, the effects are contrary to those we intended.

Consider a rather poignant example, penology. When some fellows sat in the stocks in the town square and people passed by and jeered at them or clucked their tongues, it is possible (though the psychology is dubious), that the effect might have been reform or penitence. (In my opinion, the old Russian practice of public confession in the square was more likely to lead to penitence and social integration.

The Tombs in New York, however, where many thousands are locked in cages, has no relation whatever to penitence, reform, or social integration; and in fact it is a school for crime, as is shown by the rate of repeaters who come back on more serious charges.

Thus, this kind of penology on this scale has the opposite effect from that intended: it produces crime. Yet we have come by small steps from the fellow in stocks in the town square up to the Tombs of San Quentin.

The change of scale has produced the same contrary effect in schooling. When there was academic instruction for many over a short period or for a few over a longer time, it is likely that some academic education occurred. To be sure, most education for most people happened by other means than schools; society functioned very well and many people became very expert and learned without going to school.

In 1900, 6 per cent graduated from high school in America; less than half of one per cent went on to college. Now, however, 100 per cent are forced to go to high school; last year 75 per cent graduated. Nearly 40 per cent now go to college and by 1970 we plan to have 50 per cent.

On this scale, it is my observation, very little education is occurring. For academic purposes, we might do just as well if we closed all the schools (though of course they serve for babysitting, policing, and killing time). We could provide the academic instruction that is achieved by far simpler and cheaper methods.

Changed Reality

Yet by small steps we have come to the present, using the same framework of administration and the same language, although the reality has entirely changed with the change of scale. And instead of education into society, we achieve increasing youth alienation.

Something similar has occurred in communications. Newspapers and public speaking meant one thing when communication was generally available to all; they mean another thing when we have mass media, semi-monopolies, and licensed channels.

The effect, by and large, has been homogenization and brainwashing — that is, precisely to prevent communication.

And let me conclude with a global example that includes the previous ones. We now see that city-planning has turned into something called "urbanism," planning for urban areas. There are no "cities."

Similarly, in this planning there is no such word as "home," but only dwelling units and housing. Yet it is a real question whether it is possible to have good housing, to provide people with homes, if we slip into thinking of dwelling units.

It is a question whether "urban areas" are governable, or whether just this way of thinking does not worsen anomie.

Two Services

Instead of pretending to educate and communicate or aim at health and citizenship in a mass context that makes these things impossible, it would be better if we began to provide two distinct sets of services: the old, and indispensable, professions with a personal responsibility to clients; and the disciplines of social engineering (a term I here use uninvidiously) working mainly on background conditions and treating persons only in respects where individual differences are unimportant and personal response is not called for.

Our present procedure, however, both destroys the old professions and embarrasses forthright social engineering.

I speak of the "disciplines of social engineering, working mainly on background conditions." This brings me to the second philosophical issue I want to raise.

In fact, at present, we do not really have these disciplines; the social-psychological, anthropological, and ecological studies that are necessary for good social engineering and the right use of new technology are not sufficiently developed.

We do not know the remote effects of what we institue in education, medicine, or urbanism; and I have given a few examples to show how the effects might be the opposite of what we intend.

We are using computers to estimate requirements, costs, and benefits, but in the fields we are discussing the theories on which the programs are based are usually puerile.

Let us imagine, however, that we do have better studies and better programs. There then arises the philosophical question: can we directly apply our good theories to human and social situations?

I think not, for to pre-plan too thoroughly is to kill life; and the more subtle the theory, the more dangerous the attack.

This is the invidious sense of "social engineering"; prudence and science are one thing, predetermining how people are to live and breathe is quite another.

It is probably best just to open a space in which they can live and breathe in their own way. That is, we should aim at decency, not at the "best." Though we cannot draw the lines a priori, in every case there is something to plan for and much to refrain from planning for.

A realistic method of guaranteeing freedom from excessive physical planning and social engineering is to condone or even encourage people's resistance to them.

I say "realistic" because there is in fact a rising wave of populist protest in the country. The courts have encouraged resistance by a tolerant attitude toward sit-ins, certain kinds of trespass, and civil disobedience. And it would be advantageous to replace many bureaucratically run social and welfare services with a guaranteed income, for this would enable powerless people to form their own co-operatives and suit themselves.

Draw the Line

These countervailing factors would then have to be taken into account in the programs of social engineers. At present, needless to say, politicians who have to cadge votes are acutely conscious of inarticulate popular resistance and they do draw the line. But planners disregard it precisely because it is inarticulate; and since they, organized, rational, and well-financed, have more staying-power than the populace, there is a steady encroachment on freedom.

And this brings me back to the first point in this article, the importance of reviving old-fashioned professionals responsible to clients and the immediate community rather than to society and social trends.

UNIQUE CAR was designed years before Volkswagen vehicles became common sight in Canada but it has the appearance of half an import car glued to the end of a Volkswagen bus.

No Glue Used, He Says, And He'll Stick To It

By DAVID GREER

Some people think Volkswagens look pretty funny.

Others get a laugh out of Volkswagen buses.

Then there's the ones who find both types pretty much of a riot. So imagine their reaction when they see the front end of a Volkswagen bus welded to the back end of a Volkswagen 'bug' in downtown Victoria.

Before you stop reading, this isn't one of those clever little Volkswagen advertisements.

And the vehicle whose picture you see isn't the latest development in Volkswagen products.

It's got practically every other breed of car in its blood, but its not even a distant cousin of the German best-seller.

And to prove it Barney Oldfield, 5295 West Saanich Road, will pay $1,000 for every Volkswagen part found in the "Spirit of Tomorrow".

That's the name of the car. Barney owns it, and he's fed up with people who think his hobby is glueing Volkswagens together. It isn't.

BEFORE BUG

Barney, who designs and builds specialized equipment, got the idea for the "Spirit of Tomorrow" back in 1937, which was long before the time of the "bedbug".

That was when he decided to construct a car that was more spacious, better running and safer than the conventional models.

To test his idea that a rear engine vehicle — something practically unheard of in those days — would have certain advantages over the conventional auto, Barney and Wilf Amos, now of Sidney, produced "the Jeep", a prototype rear engine car built from a 1927 Chevrolet 4.

The "Jeep" sold him on the engine in the rear, so Barney set to work in 1939 on the final edition — the "Spirit of Tomorrow".

REAR AXLE

Using a 1939 Dodge frame, steering column, front and rear suspension, and a 1939 Ford V8 engine, transmission, two-speed Columbia overdrive, rear axle and brakes, he built up the chassis of his creation.

For six months Barney drove the uncovered chassis around, placing sandbags in different positions to determine the points of balance.

Then in 1940 he convinced John Norton, a metal worker and body-builder, of the soundness of the project. They began work on the body, made of aluminum flush riveted to an aluminum and steel framework.

With the addition of uphostery and paint in 1942 the Spirit was complete, and soon proved its worth with two trips to California.

Since then it has turned heads over 200,000 miles of roadway, but it's still in top shape. It got a new 1948 Mercury engine in 1952, and this was itself replaced this year when a 289 cu. in., 200 horse power engine and transmission from a '66 Ford took over the job.

Another recent addition provides a real eye-catcher for the unwary motorist who passes the "Spirit." It's a large metal fin which juts out from the rear end of the car, and provides better directional control in crosswinds.

This year Barney caused a flurry of comments when he drove the "Spirit" in the Victoria Day Parade and the Sidney parade.

But apart from its odd appearance, the "Spirit of Tomorrow" has a number of practical advantages over other cars.

It's spacious. The doors aren't half as thick as those of a Ford or Chevrolet, and there's about six inches more headroom.

It's more economical. Aerodynamic streamlining means less air resistance and more miles to the gallon (about 25).

And above all, it's safer. Ralph Nader, author of the controversial best-seller, "Unsafe At Any Speed," would find a good example of what GM should be doing in the "Spirit of Tomorrow."

- The absence of thick corner posts around the windshield gives the driver better visibility.
- The absence of pointed instruments projecting from the dash could mean a life saved in an accident.
- The stabilizing fin and the weight of the car (3000 lb. help it to hold the road more easily.

Homosexual Orgy Charges Hampered by U.K. Law

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard detectives investigating a ring of homosexuals in which troops of the Royal Horse Guards and the Household Cavalry are reported involved are expected to fly to West Germany to question five soldiers.

The five guardsmen, transferred to Germany 18 months ago, are named in a Yard dossier as having attended homosexual orgies given by men prominent in political, business and theatrical circles.

About 30 soldiers have been questioned about male parties at a mansion in Berkshire and apartments in London's Mayfair and Chelsea districts to which young soldiers were allegedly enticed by money, gifts and lavish hospitality.

The inquiries were started several weeks ago by the British Army's special investigation branch. Scotland Yard was called in when it was discovered that a number of civilians were involved.

HAS MADE REPORT

Detective-Inspector John Minors has been put in charge of the Scotland Yard investigation. Already he has made an interim report to the director of public prosecutions.

The cases pose difficult problems because homosexuality between consenting adults in private now is legal. But it is still an offence for such behavior to take place between members of the armed services.

Constitutional Reforms Eyed

Cautious Changes Studied With Rights Bill in Front

By DAVE BAZAY

QUEBEC (CP)—Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau Monday declared the federal government ready to discuss constitutional change.

In a speech he said marks a change in attitude, Mr. Trudeau described his past position as among the questioners "at a time when every last trooper believed he had a new constitution in his bags."

He told the opening session of the six-day annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association "the federal government henceforth declares itself ready to discuss any constitutional changes proposed."

The first step should be adoption of a constitutional bill of rights guaranteeing individual and linguistic rights. This could be followed by a general constitutional conference.

"We are not going to be caught in a posture of immobility," he said. "But we do desire that any changes shall take place in an orderly way and under the guidance of governments responsible to the people."

ADVISED ON JUDGES

Mr. Trudeau also revealed he has been consulting a special advisory committee of the Canadian Bar Association on the appointment of federal judges.

At a news conference, President Perrault Casgrain of the bar association announced makeup of the committee which has been advising Mr. Trudeau since he became justice minister in April.

Mr. Casgrain said the bar association suggested the move as a method to help ensure public confidence in judicial appointments. The bar's advisory committee would give its opinion on qualifications of candidates.

Both Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Casgrain stressed the procedure in no way takes the final responsibility of appointing judges away from the federal governments, which must make the nominations under constitutional law.

In his presidential address, Mr. Casgrain urged federal and provincial governments to establish a law reform commissions to examine existing laws and draft legislation to reform inequitable laws.

ATTITUDE CHANGED

Justice Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand of Quebec, among the audience which heard Mr. Trudeau's speech, said: "It's a change of attitude."

In Mr. Trudeau's address, among several in a day the lawyers set aside for speech-making, he noted Prime Minister Pearson has invited the provinces to a 1968 conference to discuss a new bill of rights.

"It is certainly correct to infer that during a certain period the federal government has not manifested much enthusiasm for public prosecution of the Canadian constitution," he said.

"We realized that a federal system was a delicate machine, easier to throw out of kilter than to start off again."

He said this course was wise, giving the country time to reflect as the federal government tried to maintain harmony among cultural and geographic regions.

But several governments, including the federal government, had set up committees to prepare for constitutional discussion.

The federal government is ready to discuss constitutional changes, he said, but any changes taking place should be orderly, under the guidance of government.

EXPO TIPS BIG HAT TO WORLD'S WORKERS

MONTREAL (CP)—Expo honored the workers of the world Monday as North Americans observed the Labor Day holiday weekend during which nearly 1,000,000 visitors came to the fair.

The three-day holiday weekend at Expo began Saturday with Manitoba's Special Day ceremonies at which Premier Duff Roblin officiated, and was highlighted by a tour of Expo by Governor-General Roland Michener and Mrs. Michener.

Monday was Workers' Day at the world's fair with a ceremony at Place des Nations, where Pierre Dupuy, commissioner-general of Expo, welcomed an official party of labor leaders.

FIRST DAY OF TRAFFIC SWITCHOVER

Swedes Can't Find the Right Curb

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden's first full day of right-hand driving was fairly smooth Monday—except for the death of a 79-year-old motorist who ran into a tree as a car approached from the opposite direction.

The accident happened because Charles Andersson did not know where the right curb would be—a problem that many Swedish drivers were encountering.

Only 16 of 84 accidents throughout Sweden involved personal injury. On an average September Monday with the old left-hand system, 30 to 65 accidents resulted in personal injury.

Lars Skiold, who supervised the switch Sunday, said, however:

"It will be months and years before we can call this operation a solid success, perhaps not until we have a new right-conditioned generation."

For 233 years, vehicles had kept to the left on Swedish roads, and Monday some motorists tended to lapse into old driving habits, particularly at left turns.

The actual cost of the huge operation has been officially given at about the equivalent of $126,000,000. But the final figure could be almost twice that.

All traffic was virtually stopped the day before the official changeover for last-minute preparations—changing of road signs and traffic light systems.

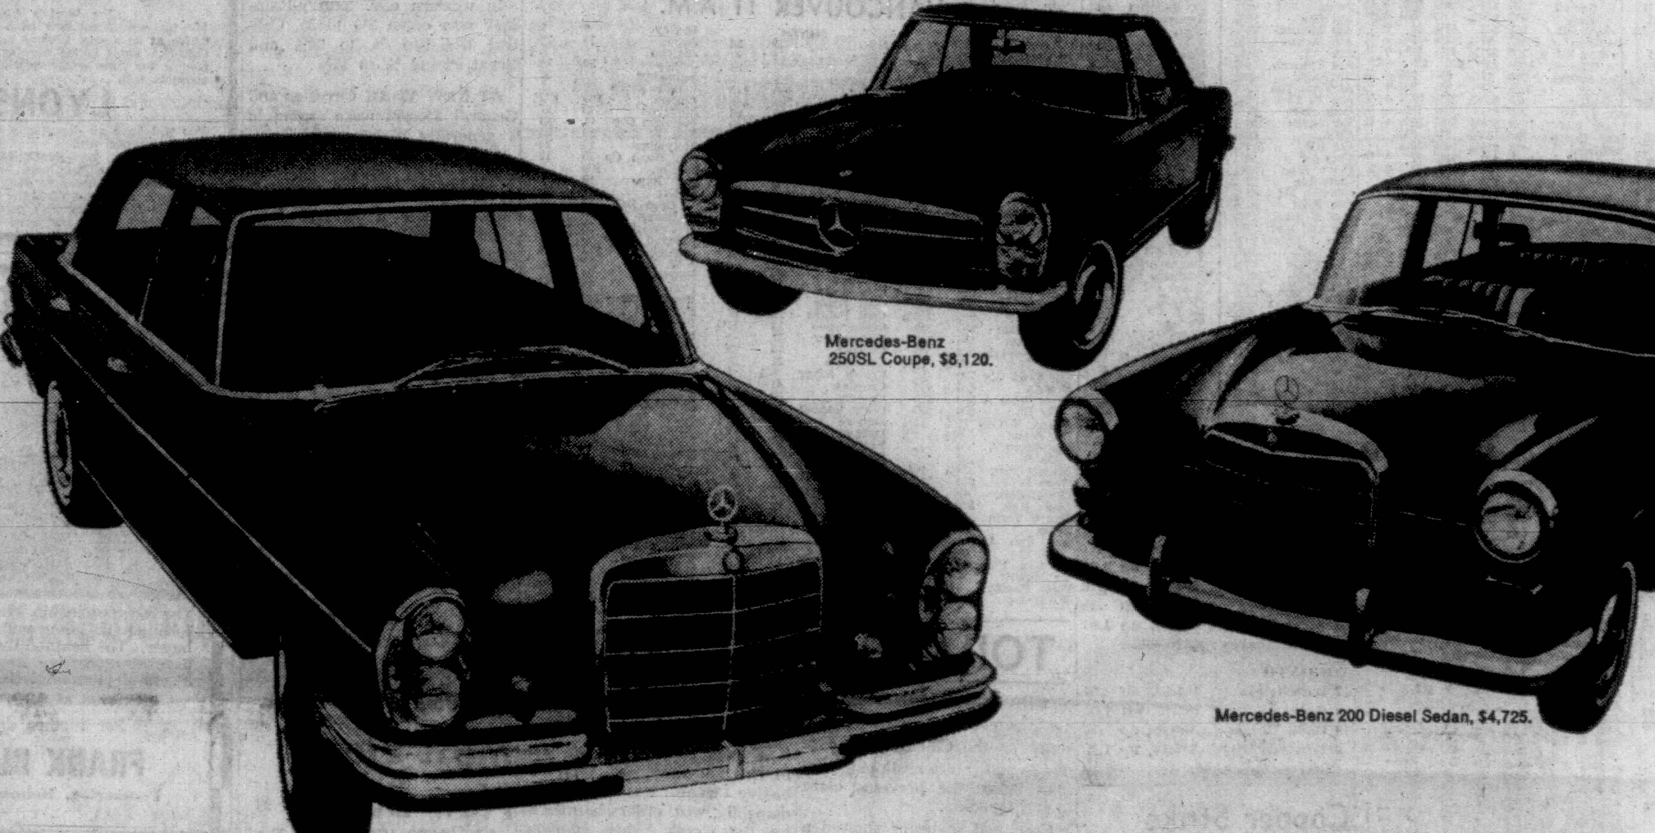
$19,360 worth of Mercedes-Benz cars and why they're worth it.



Mercedes-Benz 250SL Coupe, $8,120.

Mercedes-Benz 200 Diesel Sedan, $4,725.

Mercedes-Benz 250S Sedan, $6,515.

You can buy cheaper sedans than the 250S, cheaper sports cars than the 250SL, and cheaper economy sedans than the 200 Diesel. But if they don't perform as well or last as long, they're no bargain. And the bald fact is that few cars perform as well or last as long as those built by Mercedes-Benz.

The reason: Mercedes-Benz builds its cars up to a standard, not down to a price. Read more about the 250S, the 200 Diesel, and the 250SL—and find why each one is worth every penny of its cost.

250S: the "luxury" car without an ounce of fat.

If you're weary of spongy riding, sloppy steering, overstyled status symbols, the 250S provides a refreshing change.

This is one $6500 sedan that bases its appeal on superior engineering, not mere pomp. As a result, it utterly outruns its rivals. And yet it does so while carrying you and four passengers in hushed comfort: "There is as little engine noise at 100 mph as at a standstill," wrote one automotive journalist after a brisk test run.

The reasons why

Some engineering features you get in the 250S and not found among its major competitors: a fully independent suspension system designed to excel on the worst roads of the world as well as the best; 4-wheel disc brakes that draw you down to smooth, level stops—and banish heart-stopping brake fade from your driving life; and a 4-speed automatic transmission you can shift like a manual gearbox.†

The 250S even has a shock absorber built into its steering system. High-speed, 6-ply rated tires are standard. And an automatic load-leveling device, built into the rear axle, is standard as well.

A nit-picker's despair

Your 250S will make most other $6500 cars look shabby by comparison. Its deep, firmly padded, armchair-like front seats are hand-sewn and hand-trimmed in the company's own upholstery shop. Slender fillets of genuine walnut adorn the windowsills. The final enamel body coat is hand-sprayed, then hand-rubbed.

Showroom snoopers: Check the underside of the dash—you'll find it's fully trimmed and finished, too.

200 Diesel: an economy car so economical it doesn't use gasoline.

Mercedes-Benz pioneered the building of Diesel-powered passenger cars 31 years ago.

Company engineers had a hunch that the Diesel's advantages of low upkeep and long life would find a ready market.

The engineers' hunch was right. Mercedes-Benz has built 500,000 Diesels since 1936. And a recent survey found that over 87% are still running.

Mercedes-Benz has often taken to the racing track to prove new designs and display its engineering skills. Shown here: the world-champion 300SLR sports-racing car of 1955. This "Silver Arrow" pioneered the rear swing-axle suspension now used on all Mercedes-Benz passenger cars.

A Diesel engine sidesteps the combustion methods used in gasoline power plants—and does away with spark plugs, points, condensers, even carburetors.

Diesel fuel is injected directly into the combustion chambers, where it's ignited by the heat of sheer pressure instead of a spark. The Diesel principle is so efficient that far less fuel is wasted—and so powerful that a 200 Diesel engine's compression ratio is twice that of a Cadillac.

Diesel murmur

This powerful compression helps cause a sound commonly called "Diesel knock," most noticeable at idling speed. It's more of a "Diesel murmur" these days.

With its sturdy components, simplified design and economic diesel fuel supply, the 200 Diesel can actually shave running costs down to the amount you'd spend to drive a small gasoline economy car. And remember that a single tankful can take you more than 500 miles.

This is an economy car?

Aside from its low running costs, the 200 Diesel shows few signs of being an "economy" model. You ride on a fully independent suspension. You stop with the power of front (power-assisted) disc brakes. Inside, there is ample space for five normal-sized adults.

And the rest of your 200 Diesel should last as long as that hardy engine.

Its heavy-gauge steel body is welded in 10,000 spots, coated with 24 pounds of primer and 24 more pounds of permanent plasticized undercoating, and patiently hand-sanded before painting. When it is painted, it's painted three times.

250SL: at last—a sports car for grown-ups.

This largely hand-assembled two-seater is a sports car for grown-ups. It doesn't ride like an oxcart, look like a rocket ship or sound like a Grand Prix racing machine.

Standard comforts include contoured, orthopedically designed seats with reclining backrests; 7 separate heating and ventilation controls (with a set for both driver and passenger); and 28¾ inches of forward legroom—more than many luxury sedans.

Yet the 250SL also performs. Its fuel-injection, 6-cylinder, single-overhead camshaft engine could loaf all day at 101 mph (if legal). And that sophisticated, rear swing-axle suspension has earned high praise for its road-holding abilities.

The 250SL stops, too—with the sure stopping power of a 4-wheel disc brake system.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $27,000* to $4,510*

Copper Strike Talks Move To Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration today called copper company and union negotiators to Washington in an apparent attempt to settle the eight-week nationwide strike before it has a serious effect on U.S. supplies.

Labor Secretary Wirtz and Commerce Secretary Trowbridge asked major copper producers in telegrams to come to Washington to discuss the strike situation. The first meeting was scheduled for Wednesday with representatives of the United Steelworkers of America and the Kennecott Copper Corp.

Similar meetings were scheduled for later in the week with the Phelps Dodge Corp., Anaconda Corp. and the American Smelting and Refining Co.

Although the meetings called this week were not scheduled as negotiating sessions, contract talks were expected to be brought to Washington as a result of the meetings.

Exams Available For Tradesmen

Tradesmen's qualification examinations are available on a voluntary basis for the machinist and bricklaying trades.

This has been announced by Labor Minister Peterson. Purpose of the exams is to enable workers to "upgrade themselves and to assure the public that workmen displaying the certificate of proficiency are qualified."

To be eligible to write the machinist exams, a person must submit satisfactory proof of having completed a qualifying period of at least 10,000 hours in the trade.

The qualifying period for bricklaying is at least 8,000 hours.

Agreement Reached

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contract settlements have been reached between the oil workers union and Home, Standard and Shell marketing division.

Agreement terms are similar to those in a two-year contract made earlier with British-American Oil Co., which provides for wage increases of up to 46 cents on hourly wage rates ranging from $2.50 to $3.46.

DIVIDENDS

Shell Investments, first preferred 27½ cents, payable Oct. 1; record Sept. 18; xd Sept. 14.

Dominion Glass, common 10 cents, payable Oct. 13; record Sept. 25; xd Sept. 21.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures prices advanced a cent or more on the Chicago Board of Trade today after slipping one cent below the previous close in early trading.

Corn and soybeans showed a similar, but les dramatic, movement. The rallies were spurred by late-morning export buying.

Oats were about steady and rye was up slightly.

Wheat futures have been on a long decline in the face of bumper crop prospects. Another bearish influence was introduced today by the announcement Monday night by the Canadian government of an estimated 547,500,000 bushel harvest. This was substantially more than previous private forecasts.

WINNIPEG (CP) — A very active trade proceeded in flax on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, prompted by a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report showing a low flax production this year.

Rapeseed showed an easier tone as a steady U.S. soybean market added support. Oats and barley trade was light and domestic, with orders hampered by the Great Lakes shipping strike. There were indications of export interest in rye but no immediate reports of export business.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were down 2 cents except durums unchanged.

Strike at Ford 'Almost Certain'

Times News Services

DETROIT — Negotiations between the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. resumed today with a nationwide strike at midnight Wednesday considered nearly certain.

The bargainers resumed talks without speaking to newsmen. UAW. President Walter Reuther already has warned that a strike by Ford's 159,816 UAW members is certain unless the firm changes its attitude "radically."

Ford said it saw no signs that settlement might be in sight.

Reuther warned Monday that not even a request from President Johnson would stop the UAW from shutting down Ford.

A strike against the giant firm would halt production of 8,000 cars and 1,800 trucks per day and cost union members a total of more than $5,750,000 a day in wages and fringe benefits.

"I think they're going to get it," Reuther said about the prospects for a strike.

OPTIMISM WANES

Ford's chief negotiator, vice-president Malcolm Denise also was pessimistic about the chance of avoiding a strike. "My congenial optimism is getting a little ragged," he said.

Ford did agree Monday to discuss in Detroit the UAW proposal on Canadian pay.

The UAW said it would drop unfair labor practices charges against the company filed when Ford at first balked at the idea.

While the union cannot legally bargain in the United States for Canadian wages, it wants any new contract to include a clause forbidding a company from paying union workers outside the United States less than American workers doing the same task.

The UAW estimates that Canadian workers now get an average of 40 cents an hour less than their American counterparts.

The union is awaiting a response from GM to a union proposal that the contract covering 375,000 GM workers be extended if no agreement is reached at Ford.

A similar union proposal is expected to be made to Chrysler, which employs about 100,000 UAW members.

If a strike is called at Ford, the union would allow the other two companies to continue to operate.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Highland Bell Features

Highland Bell was the feature on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today in light pre-noon trading, adding $1.75 to $14.

Other mining leaders were Western Mines, up nine to $2.99, Dynasty, up 15 to $8.40, and Chataway, which put on a nickel to 31 cents.

Losers included Arctic, down 20 to $1.55; Brenmac, off four to 62 cents; Croydon, .12 to 43 cents, and Madrona, off six to 47 cents.

In the oils, Central Del-Rio slipped $1 to $24.50 and Plains fell three to 50 cents.

B.C. Sugar led the industrials, gaining $1 to $40.50. Cunningham put on a quarter to $12, and MacMillan Bloedel put on 50 to $28.25. Volume at 11 a.m. was 698,315 shares.

AT TORONTO prices moved lower in most sections of the market in light trading today. 1.70 to 9.70 and Highland Bell

In base metals, Leitch rose 1⅞ to 13⅞. Analysts said the activity reflected the hope of speculators that Highland and Leitch might reach an out-of-court settlement in their litigation with Texas Gulf Sulphur over the right to property in the Timmins area. Leitch filed the claim in September, 1964, and will return to court Sept. 11.

Chrysler Corp. rose 3½ to 55½ and Ford of Canada lost 1½ to 167.

Among other industrials, computing Devices rose 2½ and Oshawa A 1⅜ to 47⅜. Atlantic Sugar lost ⅝ to 11¼.

In western oils, Scurry-Rainbow was down 2½ to 35, Central Del Rio ⅝ to 24⅝ and Great Plains ½ to 16¼.

AT NEW YORK Chrysler and General Motors were strong in a generally higher market.

Chrysler, most active of the leading auto stocks, was up nearly 2 in late trading. General Motors made a similar gain. Ford, chosen as the Wednesday night strike target by the United Auto Workers Union, was easy.

Among Canadian stocks, Dome Mines was up ⅜, Distillers Seagrams ⅜. Hudson Bay Mining was down ⅜, Canadian Pacific ½ Granby Mining, International Nickel and McIntyre Porcupine ⅜, Alcan and Massey Ferguson ⅛.

AT MONTREAL prices continued their drifting pattern, with fractional gains and losses about even. The paper, industrial and utility indices were slightly shaded.

Denison held it's 1⅞ point advance made in early morning trading. Dupont rose ⅜ to 29¼, and CAE gained ⅜ to 12¾.

Elsewhere on the market Central Del Rio slipped ⅜ to 24¾, and Bell Telephone dipped ¼ to 47⅝.

AT LONDON buyers were out in force again in equity today and, with dealers currently short of stock, prices were often pushed further ahead on the market.

Gilt edged stocks were inclined easier in quiet trading conditions.

Lacking a lead from Wall Street, dollar stocks shaded lower with the premium Falls were usually around one point.

Canadian banks hardly stirred. Home banks moved forward.

Westbank Must Elect New Board

TORONTO (CP) — The Bank of Western Canada will have a new board of directors before shareholders consider a proposal to wind up the bank, a Toronto shareholder says.

Stockbroker J. R. Findley, one of more than 25 shareholders, who called a meeting for Sept. 14 in Winnipeg to elect directors and consider a windup, said changing the board's makeup will insure the bank will be wound up quickly if shareholders approve.

Mr. Findley said the proposal originated with York Lambton Corp. Ltd. of Toronto, the controlling shareholder with 50.1 per cent.

J. A. N. Chiapetta, a lawyer and a director of New Alliance Investors Ltd. of Toronto, said the change of directors would permit a quick distribution of assets to shareholders. New Alliance is one of the bank's shareholders that called the meeting.

SEPTEMBER REPORT TO INVESTORS

FEATURES

The Algoma Steel Corporation, Limited

This well-managed major primary steel producer, naturally, follows Canada's business cycles but it has shown excellent growth over the years.

Algoma stands to benefit substantially from the Auto Trade Pact and the "Kennedy Round" Tariff reductions; it is already fully competitive in its market area, the fast-growing Great Lakes Region.

The recent results of temporary set-backs do not detract from our appraisal of Algoma's attractive fundamental business and prospects, and the present weakness in the price of the shares, in our opinion, provides an opportunity to invest for capital gains.

We recommend the purchase of Algoma Steel common stock for above average growth of principal and generous yield.

CANADA, U.S. CITED AS EXAMPLES

'Delayed Application Of Financial Restraint'

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada and the U.S. are cited by the International Monetary Fund as "major examples of the delayed application of financial restraint" to curb inflationary trends in 1965-66.

The fund's annual report says a "clear lesson of the 1966 experience is that, in the period ahead, industrial countries should make greater use of fiscal measures in seeking an effective combination of policies to meet their domestic and external objectives."

In the first part of 1967, it says, despite an adjustment of a year, "total output was rising little if at all in such leading economies as the U.S., Germany, the United Kingdom and Canada and a crucial question was whether these countries would achieve a revival of economic expansion on a satisfactory scale during the latter part of 1967."

In its annual report for the year which ended last April 30, the 106-nation fund also hailed Britain's economic austerity program, noted the first drop in official gold reserves since the aftermath of the Second World War and urged industrial nations to achieve early resumption of economic growth.

SHARP SPLIT IN U.S.

The report's conclusions are published with opinion still sharply split here about the wisdom of the plan by President Johnson — Congress agreeing — to apply a surcharge tax of 10 per cent on personal and corporate income tax. It would be a war tax to help finance Vietnam.

Containment of cost and price increases has been a common problem among industrial nations, says the fund. In a number of them adjustments have been limited by three practical circumstances.

These are listed as difficulties in economic forecasting, "insufficient flexibility in the application of fiscal policy and the substantial inability of incomes policy to cope with conditions of excess demand."

"The net result was a tendency for measures of financial restraint to be applied belatedly and to take the form primarily of a more severe tightening in monetary policy than would otherwise have been called for."

PRICE PATTERN BROKEN

Says the report about the Canada-U.S. experience:

"The rates of 1956-66 output growth were large but the remarkable pattern of several years' price stability was broken.

"In both countries, the authorities were concerned during most of 1965 about the maintenance of a satisfactory momentum in the domestic economy and fiscal policies were set on an expansionary course for the second half of the year.

"The increased expenditures related to the hostilities in Vietnam ... added to the strength of expansion in the U.S. and indirectly in Canada and had a mounting economic impact that proved difficult to gauge in advance."

Pressure on domestic resources didn't become apparent until early 1966, it says.

POSES CONFLICT

The basic problem facing the U.S. this year is described as the "conflict posed between domestic and external policy objectives."

"The domestic objective of restoring the economy's rate growth to its non-inflationary potential — estimated at 4 per cent per year by U.S. officials — is not only important to the U.S. in the current situation of widespread economic slowdown among the industrial countries, it also is in the interest of the entire world."

The fund report warns that the U.S. among other things must use "utmost caution" in pursuing lower interest rates as a stimulant to the economy.

"In particular, the U.S. should in present circumstances follow, not lead, any further decline of interest rates in other major countries."

Hoarding Of Gold Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Private hoarding, more sales to Communist China and increased industrial use forced the first decline last year in the free world's supply of monetary gold in more than four decades.

This was reported Monday by the International Monetary Fund which listed gold purchases by mainland China at about $75,000,000, half that of 1965.

It said private hoarding of gold declined from the 1965 peak of more than $1,000,000,000 but still totalled an estimated $760,000,000.

These factors more than offset production of new gold last year and U.S. industry sources have said gold produced this year is continuing to find its way into private hands instead of government money stocks.

PRODUCTION LEVELS OFF

Monetary gold held by national governments and international organizations fell $40,000,000 last year to $43,200,000,000, the fund said.

The fund noted a levelling of free world gold production during 1966 at $1,455,000,000, up only $5,000,000 from a year earlier.

Output in South Africa, which accounts for three-quarters of free world production, rose slightly last year while production outside that country continued to fall. The most significant drop was in Canada, the second largest producer, to $115,000,000 last year compared with $126,000,000 in 1965.

Motives for private hoarding, the fund said, apparently represent a savings preference, speculation over an increase in the price of gold which now is $35 an ounce, safeguards against currency devaluation, fear of war and its attractiveness as an ornament.

British Gold Reserves Dip

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's gold and dollar reserves fell £12,000,000 ($36,000,000) in August to £985,000,000 ($2,955,000,000), the lowest level in two years.

The new total, announced by the finance ministry Monday, is just £1,000,000 ($3,000,000) more than the level registered in September, 1965.

Financial experts said August was never a good month for British reserves, partly because of tourist demand for foreign currencies. In addition, Britain of old debts to West Germany repaid £14,000,000 ($42,000) of old debts to West Germany and Portugal during the month.

Name Change Backed By Shareholders

MONTREAL (CP) — Shareholders of Consolidated Paper Corp. Ltd. have approved a bylaw which proposes to change the company name to Consolidated Bathurst Ltd.

In a letter to shareholders, President R. A. Irwin said the company had recently obtained control of Bathurst Paper Ltd., and wanted to preserve "it's identity and continuity."

Plans to Tighten Up Rhodesia Oil Embargo

LONDON (CP)—The Commonwealth sanctions committee likely will meet within the next two weeks to consider a definite plan to plug breaches in the oil embargo to Rhodesia, an informant says.

The plan likely will include an order to Portugal's Mozambique to quit supplying oil to neighboring Rhodesia or face an enforced squeeze on the volume of oil that reaches Mozambique.

Though it is known that both Mozambique and South Africa have denied the United Nations embargoes against Rhodesia, the informant said Rhodesia is getting most of its oil by rail from the Portuguese territory.

The Commonwealth secretariat, under Canada's Arnold Smith, has worked out proposals for a general tightening up of embargoes against Rhodesia and these were placed in the hands of Commonwealth governments about a month ago.

In addition to plugging oil loopholes, the proposals call on the UN to approve widening embargoes to cover a ban on all cable and postal communications with Rhodesia.

However, it is understood that representatives of some Commonwealth countries hesitated to support the general tightening up and action was delayed.

BAHAMAS GAMBLING PROBE

British Accused Of Wire-Tapping

NASSAU, The Bahamas (AP)—The chairman of the ruling Progressive Liberal party Monday accused British colonial authorities of tapping telephones, opening mail and otherwise spying on members of the Bahamian government.

The charge, levelled by Cecil Wallace-Whitfield, who also is Bahamian minister of works, was given in testimony before the royal commission investigating gambling on the islands.

Wallace-Whitfield charged that prior to last January's election, PLP leaders had their phones tapped, their mail opened and "were even being spied upon."

Wallace-Whitfield produced what he said was a secret report of the Royal Bahamas police force which he said showed that police had him under surveillance last January after he became a cabinet member.

SAYS PM'S PHONE BUGGED

He said an electronic bugging device was found attached to a phone line in the attic of Premier Lynden Pindling's home last winter after he had become premier.

Police in the Bahamas are under British control. Under the Bahamian constitution, the local government is autonomous except in matters of international security, including police, foreign affairs and defence.

The British retain control in these three areas through the governor, Sir Ralph Grey, traditionally a neutral in political affairs.

In January, the all-Negro PLP won an election victory from the business-supported United Bahamian party.

HOLD SECRET SESSION

The commission later went into secret session to study the police report which Wallace-Whitfield said he received through a secret source.

Bahamian Attorney-General Gordon Bryce told the commission that except when the postmaster-general inspects for obscene material or contraband, Bahamian mail may be opened only by order of the governor.

"Then if it is going on it is bound to be the governor's order," said commission member J. Algernon Wharton of Trinidad.

Bryce said wiretapping is illegal in the Bahamas under the Act.

The commission already has said that it cannot call Grey as a witness because he is the Queen's representative.

Arrest Shocks Parish

BOLZANO, Italy (Reuters) — Police have arrested a German-speaking Roman Catholic priest, linking him with terrorists who ambushed and killed two Italian border guards last year.

Rev. Johann Weitlaner, 53, was charged Saturday with political conspiracy by association, which carries a penalty of two to eight years imprisonment.

The arrest of the bespectacled, mild-mannered priest shocked his parish in the tiny village of San Martino di Casies, near the Austrian border.

Italy's Alto Adige South Tyrol province has been plagued for years by terrorist attacks blamed on German-speaking extremists who demand union with Austria.

Slogan Up As Ship Towed In

GENOA, Italy (Reuters)—The 13,000-ton Chinese ship Li Ming was towed into dock here today with a slogan of China's Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung hoisted high—ending a 24-day quarantine imposed by the port authorities when the ship's captain refused to take down political slogans.

During the quarantine, when the Chinese requested fresh water for the crew the Italians answered: "Take down your banners first."

Today, the Li Ming removed banner protests against Italian "Fascist measures" in refusing food and water.

Instead it bore Mao's maxim: "An old Chinese proverb defines stupid people as those who lift up stones to let them fall on their feet.

"Reactionaries all over the world belong to this category of stupid people."

Beat Poet Detained

ROME (AP)—American poet Allen Ginsberg was held by police for three hours Monday night with 17 beatnik companions to whom he was reciting poetry on Rome's Spanish Steps. Wearing a sweatshirt with the words "Stop the Vietnam War Now," the bearded 31-year-old poet was finally released without being charged.

16 IN FAMILY KILLED IN BUS-TRUCK SMASH

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Sixteen members of one family were killed and four others seriously injured when the panel truck they used for a Sunday outing was smashed by a bus. Nine of the dead were children.

Police said the truck, loaded with 30 persons, was en route to Mexico City when the bus slammed into the truck's rear during torrential rains.

Gold River: an experience Louise Monteith will remember

Louise Monteith is a B.C. Telephone Company service representative whose duties took her to lunch with 100 men.

Louise Monteith has met many people during her nine years in the B.C. Telephone Company's commercial department. Through special training and on-the-job experience, she has learned to handle herself with aplomb even in the most delicate situations.

But she couldn't help blushing just a little when she had lunch with 100 men in Gold River.

Construction Crews Busy

She visited Gold River, the new community carved from the wilderness of the West Coast of Vancouver Island where a $60 million pulp mill is going up, along with three other telephone people from Campbell River, B.C. Tel's headquarters for the north island area.

Construction crews were busy in the new community, bulldozing streets, building houses and apartment structures, installing essential services and pouring foundations for a modern hotel complete with commercial dining facilities.

B.C. Tel itself also was busy putting the finishing touches on its half-million-dollar installations, including toll equipment, automatic exchange and outside distribution facilities which are entirely underground.

Some of the new Gold River homes were occupied and Louise and the other telephone people were calling on the community's first home owners in a one-day canvass, taking orders for telephone installations that would be made when the new exchange was completed.

Construction Men's Welcome!

The morning had been a success and Louise was looking forward to the afternoon when she would meet more of the Gold River residents whose accounts she would look after in future by telephone from her Campbell River desk.

Now it was lunch time and the construction camp dining hall was the only eating place available. When Louise walked inside, the 100 workmen there looked up and sighed their approval in clearly audible tones. Shades of pink colored her cheeks for a moment. She smiled, then picked up a tray and walked through the food line.

It was an incident to be recounted to the girls in the Campbell River office next day, to friends at the tennis club, in the night-school modelling course she was taking, and at the curling club where she has been both executive member and skilled skip.

It was one to be related to family and friends in Neepawa, Manitoba, where she was born and raised, and in Winnipeg where she worked before joining B.C. Tel in North Vancouver, and one to spur teasing from husband, Gordon, who has lunched there himself but without drawing wolf whistles.

Contact with Customers

It also was one to be remembered often in future as she carried out her duties as one of the 250 service representatives among the more than 7,200 men and women on B.C. Tel's payroll which exceeds $40 million.

Much of the contact which service representatives have with their customers today is by telephone as it must be to be efficient in a $475 million system with more than 750,000 telephones in service. But this does not diminish the personal interest they take in each of their accounts.

And in British Columbia, where B.C. Tel's more than $1 million a week expansion pace is indicative of the rapid growth of the province, other new communities are emerging from other wilderness areas.

Like Louise Monteith, other service representatives undoubtedly will find themselves on the scene in these developing areas, meeting their customers face to face and perhaps occasionally having lunch with 100 men.

Like Louise, they may blush a little at the experience, but they'll carry out their service politely, efficiently and effectively, just as their fellow telephone people do in each segment of B.C. Tel's operations.

Telephone people are like that.

SERVICE REPRESENTATIVES CAREFULLY TRAINED

Service representatives like Louise Monteith are the telephone people who give their personal attention to residential customer affairs—whether orders for new telephone installations or moves, questions about accounts, inquiries about telephone styles and colors or just general queries about service. They are carefully trained individuals who undergo a five-week course provided by the company before taking up their tasks. They also participate frequently in refresher courses to keep themselves familiar with all services offered.

Why Are You A Poor Talker?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in social and business advancement and works like magic to give you poise, self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances there are ways to make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. DR. FAGER SETS TRACK MARK . . . . . . SHENOW SCORES AGAIN

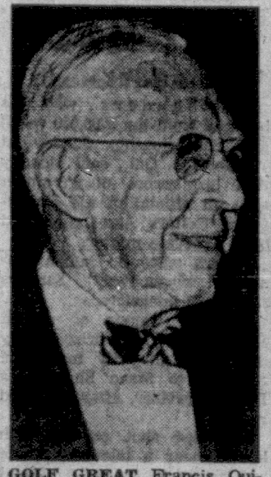
Desert Knolls Pays a Price

(Times News Service)

In the "sport of kings," the "monarchs" during the Labor Day holdiay weekend proved to be Desert Knolls, Westbury Road, Shenow, Dr. Fager, Sweet Folly and Flash Dish.

● At Vancouver, Desert Knolls and Westbury Road ruled at Exhibition Park.

Desert Knolls won the Royal Ascot Graduation Handicap for two-year-olds Monday, paying a whopping $101.40. Favored Great Gales was second and Major Mack third in the mile and 70-yard feature before 23,874 fans.



GOLF GREAT Francis Ouimet (above), considered man who did most to popularize golf in U.S., died Saturday in Newton, Mass. He was 74. Ouimet, as 20-year-old caddy, stunned sports world when he defeated Harry Vardon and Ted Ray to win U.S. Open championship in 1913. After that, golf no longer was considered only for rich and elderly. Original member of golf's Hall-of-Fame, he also became first non-Briton ever to be elected captain of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club in St. Andrews.

Handsome Chief also grabbed some of the glory, setting a track record of 3:34 4-5 for the 2 1-16 miles.

Westbury Road won its fifth race of the year by claiming the $10,000-added S. W. Randall Plate. Costa Rica finished second and Flying Magic third.

● At Chicago, Shenow won the $175,000 Lassie Stakes at Arlington Park Saturday by 1½ lengths over Ave Valeque, a 17-to-1 shot. Lucretia Bori was third about a length behind Ave Valeque.

Royal Sue, owned by Vancouver oilman Frank McMahon, finished 11th in the field of 14 two-year-old fillies.

The winner, timed in 1:18 2-5 for the 6 furlongs, scored her sixth victory in starts and won $92,500 to boost her earnings for the year to $129,831.

SETS TRACK RECORD

● At Salem, N.H., Dr. Fager was pressed down to the finish line by In Reality but came though with a narrow victory in the $265,900 New Hampshire Sweepstakes Classic with a track record performance at Rockingham Park.

Dr. Fager hit the finish line 1¼ lengths in front of In Reality with a time of 1:59 4-5. The clocking was three seconds faster than the record established by Buffle last year.

Barbs Delight finished third in the field of five three-year-olds.

● In New York, Sweet Folly, off at 16 to 1, burst between horses at the head of the stretch to win the $59,100 Gazelle Handicap at Aqueduct. Treacherous and Swiss Cheese finished second and third, respectively.

● At Del Mar, Calif., Flash Dish came on in the stretch and won the 17th running of the $58,780 Del Mar Debutante by a length. He overhauled pacesetter Time To Leave just before the wire, finishing with a time of 1:09 4-5. Third was Esquimau Pie.

Every Tourney In Canada Just Fine With Bill

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (UPI)—If Billy Casper had his way, the entire Professional Golf Association tournament tour would be played in Canada.

You can hardly blame him for thinking this way as he has played two tournaments this year in this country and has won them both, for total earnings of $65,000.

Casper turned the trick again Monday in the $200,000 World Golf championship as he won a sudden-death playoff with Al Geiberger of Carlton Oaks, Calif., on the first extra hole to win first prize money of $35,000.

Casper, the slimmed-down 36-year-old Mormon from San Diego, took a par-four on the first playoff hole after Geiberger missed an eight-foot putt for a par.

The two golfers finished in a tie after 72 holes in this the fourth and last of the Carling World tournaments, which this year was held on the tough, 7,024-yard Board of Trade country club course.

Casper, who trailed third round leader Geiberger by three strokes entering the final round, shot a two-under 69 for 281. Geiberger, who started the day at 209, finished with a one-over 72 for his three-under score.

PLAYER THIRD

The only other player who finished under par for three rounds was the small South African from Johannesburg, Gary Player, who wound up with a 71 and a 283. Player earned $8,500.

Geiberger, who earned $17,000 as runner-up, missed his chance to win the tournament on the last hole of the event when his 20-foot birdie putt stopped an inch short of the cup.

On the extra hole, Geiberger hit his drive to the right and barely into the woods. Casper's drive landed in the rough on the left side of the 449-yard 14th hole.

Their approaches both would have landed in the water, which separates the 12th and 14th greens. However, fans standing near the green stopped the balls from rolling into the water.

Casper pitched to within three feet of the pin and dropped in a putt which he called "a real knee knocker."

He made his putt after Geiberger missed his eight-foot putt for a bogey five.

'GET INSPIRED HERE'

"I must get inspired up here," said Casper afterwards. "I'm sure looking forward to defending my Canadian Open title here next year."

He added, "I just wish they could arrange several tournaments more in Canada."

Victoria professional Bill Wakeham failed to make the 36-hole cutoff, scoring 76-78—154.

CITY SOFTBALL TEAMS ELIMINATED SWIFTLY

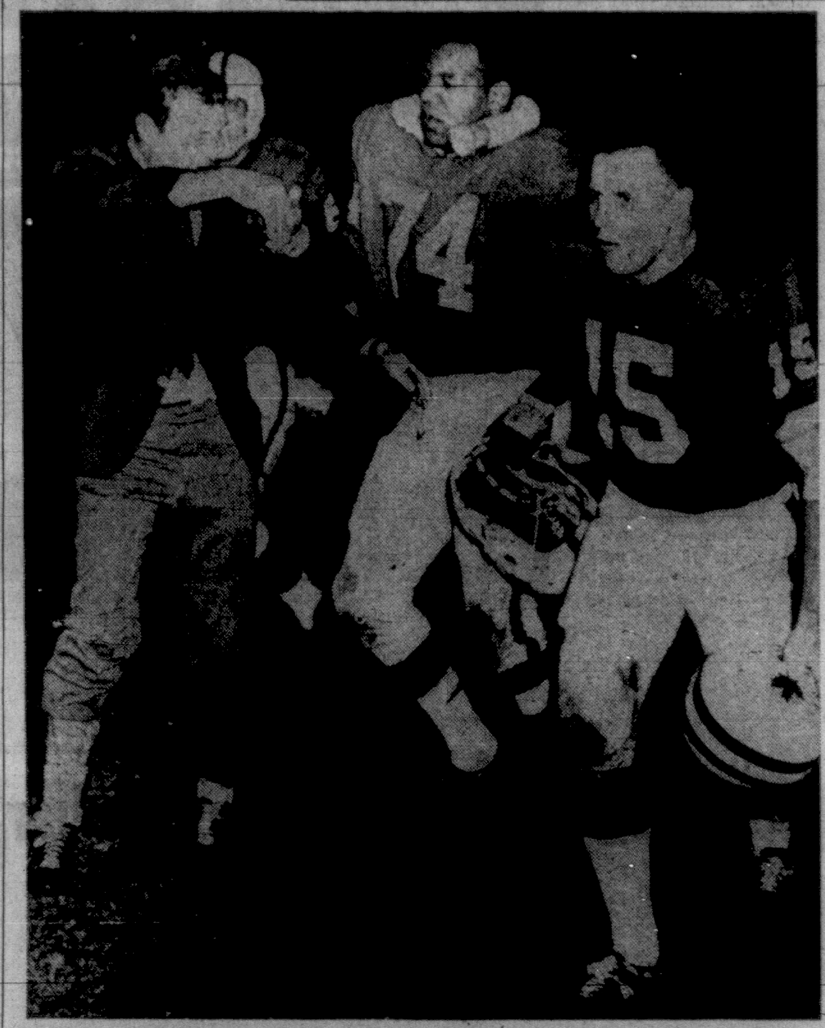
Victoria teams made a swift exit from provincial softball playdowns on the weekend.

Carlings were clipped 3-1 and 2-0 by Nanaimo and Langley, respectively, in the double knockout Senior "B" final at Kelowna. Barry Gallia was brilliant for Nanaimo, striking out 16. Loser Dave Norman gave up just five hits.

Glen Langsett hurled a tight game for Carlings but errors led to the locals' downfall. Prince George defeated Nanaimo 1-0 to win the crown.

Victoria Red Lion were also shunted to the sidelines quickly in the Senior "C" final at Port Alberni.

Red Lion lost 3-0 to North Vancouver Saturday, were bombed 12-2 by Nanaimo Sunday. Port Alberni went on to defeat White Rock 11-3 for the title.



PAIN QUICKLY FORGOTTEN

WIN 19-10!

Steelers Stop Seattle Unbeaten Skein at 34

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Don McKeta is completely aware that one game doesn't make a season, but you'll have a hard time convincing the coach that his Victoria Steelers are not on the right track.

They shackled the vaunted Seattle Rangers 19-10 Saturday with the first and best upset of the Continental Football League season, and McKeta sees no reason why "they shouldn't keep going."

It wasn't a championship, but Steelers celebrated in that fashion. That's because the Victorians put an end to one of the longest winning streaks in football.

Coming into Royal Athletic Park, Mel McCain's Rangers had won their last 34 games!

In between, the Steelers proved a point to themselves and, perhaps more important, to hometown fans.

The point being, Victoria might just "belong" to the Continental's Western Division.

Steelers accomplished their stunning upset, before about 2,000 fans, by mixing in several football ingredients.

They withstood Seattle's early threats with a stubborn defence. They piled on an overdose of second-half spirit and finessed victory on the strength of Terry Durham's passing and some clutch receiving.

Mounties Strike Out In Flag Bid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Portland Beavers and Spokane Indians clash tonight in a baseball game to determine the wearer of the 1967 crown for the Pacific Coast League's Western Division.

Beavers, backed by the hard hitting of Willie Smith, Steve Bailey and Richie Scheinblum, swept a doubleheader from Tacoma 7-5 and 2-0 Monday night to clinch a tie for the division lead in the last night of regulation play.

The Indians forced a sudden death playoff game by tying the Beavers with a 5-2 defeat of the Vancouver Mounties.

League president Dewey Soriano said club managers selected Portland as the site of the playoff by the flip of a coin. The winner will face Eastern Division champion San Diego in a best-of-seven PCL final.

Vancouver, with an excellent chance of finishing first, flubbed its chances by losing its last four games.

Durham Danced, Defence Was Dandy

The scrambling Durham completed 11 of 24 passes for 215 yards. The throws included touchdown heaves to Hayward Williams and Billy Siler.

A field goal and two converts by Ken Danchuk and a safety touch complete Victoria's scoring.

That was the offense. But the defensive corps had to be the glory group.

Emphasis on that score can be found in the fact that Seattle's offense managed only three points — that a field goal by former Winnipeg Blue Bomber George Fleming.

85-YARD ROMP

An interception by defensive halfback Ralph Winters, an 85-yard sprint, provided Rangers with their only major. It was converted by Fleming and Seattle carried a 10-2 edge into the second half.

There is no question that Seattle deserved that spread, and perhaps more. Les Mueller and Marty Wyatt chugged out good gains on the ground for Seattle. It was a diversified attack that carried Seattle into excellent field position.

Penalties at crucial points dropped Steelers into even greater holes on at least three occasions in the first half.

THEY ESCAPED

Each time, however, Steelers managed to squirm out of the "pit." A timely sprint by Durham, or a clutch grab of a pass to Williams or a goal-line stand provided the escape hatch.

With the defence continuing to shine, Victoria's offense jelled quicky in the second half. It was little Steve Bramwell who scratched the original spark, breaking away for a 49-yard pass-and-run play that took Victoria to Seattle's nine-yard line.

Siler was held for no gain but on second down Durham caught Williams in the end zone and Steelers were back in business.

Seattle's Jim Morgan fumbled the kickoff return on the Ranger 18 and Steelers struck again. Durham rambled for six on a keeper and on the next play he "alley-ooped" a pass to Williams.

Winters, defending, batted the ball away. It bounced away and into the arms of the alert Siler.

That was the cruncher, insofar as Seattle was concerned.

SAN JOSE'S FULLER . . . . . . IN GREAT FORM

Apache on the Loose

Times New Services

There's an Apache on the loose in the western division of the Continental Football League.

San Jose has him.

Charles Fuller, former San Francisco State star, led the San Jose Apaches to a 40-20 victory over Eugene Bombers at San Jose Saturday night.

Fuller averaged 8.6 yards per try in 14 carries and scored two touchdowns before 7,896 fans.

The victory left San Jose, Sacramento and Orange County, (Anaheim) tied for first place each with a 1-0 won-lost record.

Seattle and Victoria are tied for second each with one victory and one loss.

Long Beach has lost one game and Eugene has lost two without a victory.

Long Beach dropped out of the league after it's only game — a loss to Seattle.

Long Beach, however, is to be carried in the league standings until the commissioner rules otherwise.

Sanders Zips Lip On Beef

(Times News Services)

Doug Sanders, who was bounced from the $200,000 world golf championship Sunday at Woodbridge, Ont., said Monday that his verbal disagreement with an official of the Professional Golfers Association had been a private matter.

"There were no public witnesses whatsoever," Sanders said in an interview.

Sanders, winner of almost $100,000 in official prize money this year, allegedly made the remarks to Steve Shabala, a PGA supervisor, after the third round.

Hiss tee shot on the 16th landed near a television cable and he asked the PGA official for a ruling.

Shabala granted a free drop, but disagreed on Sander's suggestion that it should be on the opposite side of the cable.

Sanders accepted Shabala's decision and played the shot, scoring a par four. After the round, however, he made remarks to Shabala.

"It was entirely between the two of us with only Bob Rosburg present," Sanders said. "While I am sorry for what occurred, I feel sure that I will be vindicated."

Nifty Norman Keeps Coveted Daffodil Cup

By PETER MEDWID

Winning can get to be a habit.

Especially if your name is Norm Ellefson and you have the hottest thing there is on four wheels.

Norm easily defended his Daffodil Cup "A" modified championship Monday night at Western Speedway to chalk up his 11th victory in 17 starts this season.

Victoria driver Al Smith, who won the main event Saturday night and who trailed by only one point going into Monday's feature, was third in the race and second in overall points.

Larry Sproule of Vancouver, who did some fancy driving in the last 15 laps to hold Smith, was runnerup and third in overall points.

Ellefson, a native of Edmonton and now driving out of the Pacific Northwest, had an easy time in notching up his second Daffodil win and is almost certain to repeat his claim as the winningest driver in the Canadian-American Modified Racing Association (CAMRA).

BATTLE EXCITED CROWD

But it was the battle for second place between Sproule and Smith which captured the attention of the crowd.

Smith spun out in the backstretch in the 4th lap and made it back onto the track almost a lap behind the leaders.

Luck dealt a hand in the next lap when Frank Jannet of Calgary and Bud Hoesle of Boise, Idaho, clashed on the south turn and both wound up in the weeds.

Hoesle's No. 91 caught on fire which forced starter Phil Hendry to halt the race.

When the race was restarted, the cars took their positions from the previously finished lap which cancelled out the lost lap Smith had to make up.

Before the race resumed, both Hoesle and Jannet managed to get back into the race and Ellefson had moved from 15th to fifth position.

NEVER LOOKED BACK

After the restart, it took only one lap more for Ellefson to take the lead and hold it by a good margin.

After the 70th lap, Smith had worked his way up to behind Sproule and about the 80th managed to take the lead for a brief moment.

But he got caught behind Jannet and had to give way to Sproule who came up on the outside.

In Saturday's 50-lap opener Smith took the lead in the 27th from Mel Andrus of Salt Lake City and finished several lengths ahead of Ellefson.

BLEW HIS ENGINE

Eldon Rasmussen, a two time winner of the Daffodil Cup, blew his engine in the time trials Saturday. Bill Crowe of Moise loaned Rasmussen a car for the main event but he finished well out of the running.

Elvin Haggith was awarded second place in Saturday's "B" main event when the race was called one lap from the finish when his car caught fire after a spin out and a stall. When he tried to restart the motor it mushroomed in flames.

Calgary, Riders Hold Big Edge

Grey Cup champion Saskatchewan Roughriders and Calgary Stampeders, the best next-year club in Canadian football, turned the Western Football Conference into a two-way race Monday by scoring convincing wins.

The Roughriders turned in a defensive show to defeat Edmonton Eskimos 18-6, and the Stampeders avenged an earlier loss to Winnipeg Blue Bombers by shellacking the Bombers 39-0.

The wins left Calgary and Saskatchewan tied for first place in the WFC with 10 points each. Winnipeg and Edmonton are next in line with four points each, and British Columbia Lions have two points. The Eskimos have played seven games; all other clubs have played six.

EVANSHEN SCORES TWO

Terry Evanshen scored two touchdowns for the Stamps. Gerry Shaw, Lovell Coleman and Peter Liske scored the others. Bill Good converted four, kicked a field goal, and added two singles on wide field-goal attempts.

The Roughriders trailed the Eskimos 3-1 after the first quarter but edged into an 8-6 lead at the half. They scored 10 points in the third quarter and the fourth quarter was scoreless.

Hugh Campbell scored both Saskatchewan touchdowns. They were converted by Jack Abendschan who also kicked a field goal. Al Ford kicked a single to round out the Roughrider scoring.

For the Eskimos, Peter Kempf kicked two field goals.

Winnipeg's loss was expensive. Regular quarterback Kenny Ploen has already missed two games because of a shoulder injury, and his replacement, Bill Van Burkleo, injured a knee early in Monday's encounter. He played the rest of the game, but by the time he reached the dressing room afterwards, he was unable to move the knee.

The Bombers also lost end and flanker Laurence Barrett, thought to have at least two broken ribs. And Ed Ulmer missed much of the game with a knee injury and Cornell Piper with a hurt ankle.

FOR 30 DAYS

Ticats Leave Argos Hurtin'

Hamilton Tiger-Cats seemed far from ferocious Monday as they mauled Toronto Argonauts 12-9, but the effects of the mauling may hurt Toronto for at least 30 days.

Hamilton remained tied with Ottawa Rough Riders for first place in the Eastern Football Conference as each club posted a Labor Day victory. Toronto held third place, but lost middle linebacker Jim Andreotti with a twisted knee.

Ottawa's victory was a 17-5 conquest of Montreal Alouettes before a record Ottawa crowd of 24,647 fans.

At least three Argos were damaged by the Ticats, traditionally the toughest club in the EFC. Defensive tackle Mike Wadsworth and offensive back Jim Dillard were sidelined with ankle injuries.

Wadsworth could miss a game with Hamilton at Toronto's CNE stadium Sunday, but Dillard, who continued to play Monday, was not harmed severely. Andreotti may be placed on the 30-day injured list.

Toronto yielded a touchdown to Dick Cohce, a 25-yard field goal and a convert by Tommy Joe Coffey and two singles by Joe Zuger.

Toronto settled for a touchdown by Mel Profit, a convert and a single by John Vilunas and a single by Dave Mann. Mann, using a kick formation, passed 39 yards to Profit on third down for the score.

Whit Tucker led Ottawa, defending eastern champs, with two touchdowns on passes from Russ Jackson. Tackle Moe Racine converted both and added a single.

Win or That's It For Dave's 'Rocks

Mighty Vancouver Machine Takes 3-0 Lead in Final

By LARRY ROSE

Victoria Shamrocks tonight face the ominous task of sidetracking the finely-tuned machine that is the Vancouver lacrosse club.

And even coach Dave Unwin will admit that the Rocks must come up with a supreme effort if they hope to prolong the Inter-City Lacrosse League final.

Relentless as an onrushing tide, Vancouver swept to a commanding 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven Western Canada final by stopping Victoria 5-3 Saturday night at Kerrisdale Arena.

And with a second successive Mann Cup berth within the club's grasp, Vancouver will be even tougher tonight at Memorial Arena.

If a fifth game is necessary, it will be played Thursday night in Vancouver.

The game Shamrocks gave it everything they had Saturday but were unable to mount a sustained attack against a tough Vancouver defence.

When Victoria did get in close, acrobatic Vancouver goaltender Skip Chapman was usually there to make the save.

Chapman was not exactly overworked in turning back 18 shots but made key third period stops off Ranjit Dillon and Jim McNeill as the 'Rocks fought desperately to overcome a 4-2 deficit.

Victoria defenceman Jack Showers was sitting out a minor penalty when hustling Gary Stevens clinched the Vancouver win with a goal at 12:23.

Seconds earlier, Victoria goalie Barry Forbes raced far out of his goal in pursuit of a loose ball, was knocked down but managed to get back into position before Vancouver could get a clear shot.

Reg Foster scored Victoria's final goal, a power-play effort from in front of the goal, at 18:33 but the 'Rocks could get no closer.

Sid Warick and Ross McDonald gave Vancouver a 2-0 lead early in the opening period before Nirmal Dillon, playing his first game since suffering an eye injury in the semi-final, scored on a blazing 35-footer.

Bob Salt put Vancouver ahead 3-1 at 5:33 of the second period but Victoria's Tom Collett came out of the penalty box to score at 10:45 and make it 3-2. Collett was stopped on his first attempt but grabbed the rebound and put it behind a surprised Chapman.

WARICK CAUGHT FORBES

Warick's second goal of the night at 12:53 of the middle period was the one that broke the Shamrocks' back.

Forbes left his net to chase a loose ball but Warick got there first. Unchecked, Warick shot into the yawning net with Forbes down.

Forbes turned in a standout effort for the losers in stopping 23 shots. His performance would have been good enough to win most nights.

REBOUNDS . . . Saturday was a rough night for Collett. Although Tom scored one of his club's three goals, he also picked up three penalties and accidentally knocked the ball into his own net ... Collett attempted to grab a loose ball in front of the Victoria goal during the first period but it hit the end of his stick and dribbled past Forbes, McDonald getting credit for the goal ... Victoria's rugged Bill Gray was again the number one target of the 2,000 fans. Gray tackled Vancouver's Gord Frederickson in the night's only fight and won a one-fall decision ...

JUNIOR CHAMPIONS

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Angels defeated Binscarth, Man., Cardinals 16-2 Sunday to win the Western Canadian junior baseball championship.

Gaels Foster 'Power' Legend

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Oshawa Green Gaels perpetuated their legend of invincibility Monday by thrashing New Westminster Salmonbellies 17-7 in the first game of the best-of-seven Minto Cup lacrosse finals.

The second game is scheduled Wednesday.

The Green Gaels have been Canadian Junior A lacrosse champions for the last four years, defeating New Westminster in the finals in each of the last three years.

Oshawa's Gaylord Powless, who scored 167 points this season for his second straight Ontario Lacrosse Association Junior A scoring title, thrilled 2,700 fans by scoring one goal and assisting on nine others.

FOUR FOR JONES

Ross Jones contributed four goals while Larry Lloyd and Phil Clayton scored three each. Jim Higgs tallied twice and single goals went to Don Stinson, Charlie Marlowe, Bob Goulding and Joe Krasnaj.

New Westminster goals were scored by Bill McMurchy, Ray Benny, Al Lethwaite, Charlie Hardy, Kerry Gallagher, Ed Goss and Steve d'Easum.

ANGLER'S 'CATCH' ON LAND

Herb Francis went fishing late Monday and made an unexpected "catch" even before he dropped his aging plywood boat in the water.

Francis claimed the consolation award—a spanking new boat with motor and trailer—at the annual Esquimalt Anglers' Association derby.

Accompanied by two of his children, Francis was launching his old boat when Ken Bendall, secretary-treasurer of the Esquimalt anglers, stepped up.

* * *

"Why are you putting that old thing in the water?" said Bendall. "Why don't you go up and get your new boat?"

"You're kidding," replied Francis unaware that his name had been drawn.

In the ensuing excitement, Francis never did get launched.

* * *

One who did fish, however, and caught a fine-looking chinook salmon was Norm Martin. He won the major fishing prize after plunking a 36-pound, six-ounce chinook on the scales to top the three-day derby.

Also winning "big" was the Cerebral Palsy Association. Bendall said "about $1,500" was realized from the derby.

Other prize-winning salmon were weighed in by Bill Boothroyd (17.05), Carl Fischer (17.03), Charlie Farrill (16.03), and Kas Satala (15.08).

Leprechauns Sweep Series

Sparked by the brilliance of captain Ivor Thomas and hooker Morris Little, Edmonton Leprechauns swept a two-game exhibition rugby series from Vancouver Island teams.

The Albertans, getting tries from Little, Thomas, Chris Braiden and a drop goal from David Graham, blanked Oak Bay Wanderers 12-0 Saturday.

They defeated Duncan 16-3 on Sunday, with Braiden, Cliff Champan and Ian Nutting each scoring a try. Edmonton's other points were scored by Dave Hawcourt, who kicked a penalty goal and two tries.

Brooklin Redmen Pull Even in East

BRAMPTON (CP) — Brooklin Redmen defeated Brampton 5-3 Monday to even their best-of-seven finals at 2-2 in the Senior "A" Ontario Lacrosse Association.

Fifth game is scheduled for Brooklin while Elmer Tran, Don Cragg and Dave Houston added one each.

Don Arthurs scored twice for Brampton and Bill Castator scored the other goal.

Brampton took a 2-1 edge in the series by defeating Brooklin 8-5 Saturday as Wayne Thompson and Bryan Aherne each scored two goals.

Dickson Only Fourth To Post Great Double

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Bob Dickson, alternately brilliant and erratic, scrambled through the final 36 holes Saturday in three over par and became the amateur golf champion of the United States — a title denied him two years ago because of a rules infraction.

Dickson posted a 285 total for his four rounds over the 6,946 rolling yards of the Broadmoor West Course, carved out of the foothills of the Rocky Mountains in 1965. Par is 35-35—70.

A stroke behind him was Marvin "Vinny" Giles, a budding lawyer from Lynchburg, Va.

The triumph made the towering Oklahoma State graduate the third U.S. golfer to hold both the British and U.S. Amateur titles in the same year. The Immortal Bob Jones did it in 1903 and Lawson Little in 1934 and 1935. One Briton also has done it, Harold Hilton in 1911.

Gary Cowan, the defending champ from Kitchener, Ont., played his last two rounds in 74-77—151 and he finished with 298, far down the list.

Ash-Heap Refugee Gets 19th Win for Giants

By United Press International

Who would have believed Mike McCormick's magic number would reach as high as 19? It likely will go higher and provide the San Francisco Giants with a 20-game winner for the sixth consecutive season.

Relegated to the ash heap when he developed a sore arm several years ago, the smooth working McCormick matched the American League's Earl Wilson of Detroit for season high when he won his 19th game Monday, a 4-3 victory over Houston Astros.

The 28-year-old McCormick, master of a deceptive changeup, was beset by sore arm miseries that ruined two chances to star in World Series competition. He was the man who went unnoticed in 1962 when the Giants won the National League pennant and lost out on a potential Baltimore World Series share when the Orioles traded him to Washington the year before they won the 1966 American League flag.

"I realize my fast ball isn't what it was when I was a kid and sometimes people tell me I forget that it still is worth using," McCormick claims. "I think I'm smart enough to know when it's good — and there are times when my fast ball still is pretty good."

San Francisco's triumph elevated the Giants into a third place tie with Cincinnati, 11 games behind the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped a pair to the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-8 and 9-3. I other National League action, second place Chicago beat Los Angeles 2-1 in 11 innings before losing 8-6, Atlanta swept a pair from Philadelphia 8-2 and 8-1 and Cincinnati edged New York 2-1.

The tight American League pennant race remained at a status quo as the bunched up clubs split doubleheaders. First place Minnesota beat Cleveland 4-1 and then lost a 2-1, 10-inning nightcap, Boston topped Washington 6-4 after losing the opener 5-2, New York edged Chicago 3-2 and then lost to the White Sox 3-2, Detroit blasted Kansas City 8-4 before bowing to the A's 4-2 and Baltimore stopped California 4-2 prior to losing 5-4 in 12 innings.

LIONS LIFT BAN . . . . . . ON QUARTERBACK

Vikings Collar Kapp

MINEAPOLIS (AP) — Minesota Vikings are reaping rich dividends from all those years United States football players and coaching personnel have flooded northward across the border to the Canadian Football League.

Three years ago, Jim Finks, an Illinois native who went to Tulsa University and played in the National Football League seven years before going to Calgary Stampeders as general manager, returned to the U.S. as general manager of the Vikings.

Last March when Norm Van Brocklin resigned as Vikings' head coach, Finks slipped across the border and lured Bud Grant back to the U.S. to coach the Vikings. Grant from Superior, Wis., starred at the University of Minnesota and played briefly in the NFL before heading north where he wound up coaching Winnipeg Blue Bombers for a decade.

Sunday, Finks made another border raid.

Finks signed quarterback Joe Kapp, former University of California star, who has been playing the past eight years in the CFL, to a Vikings' contract.

Kapp, 29, is the second best passer in CFL history, but had decided he wanted to return to the U.S. He refused to sign and play with British Columbia Lions this year and has been suspended by the CFL. The Vancouver club lifted the suspension Friday.

Finks confirmed that Minnesota will give the Lions compensation. "We've made a satisfactory arrangement with Vancouver," Finks said Sunday night. "It would be both cash and players, or one of the two."

Finks was elated to land Kapp. "He's experienced, he's a competitor and he has a lot of leadership qualities," Finks said. "Whether he can play here and win here remains to be seen. But we are glad to have him."

"I wanted to play in the National Football League," Kapp said. "I informed Vancouver of that some time ago. I'm delighted Vancouver could make a deal with the Vikings.

SEATTLE GOALIE HOLDS O'KEEFES TO 2-2 DRAW

Victoria O'Keefes showed only spurts of mid-season form, but John Camacho proved a trifle more consistent. Consequently, O'Keefe's were held to a 2-2 draw by Seattle Hungarians in Monday's exhibition soccer match before about 800 fans at Royal Athletic Park.

Camacho, a goaltender who recently moved to Seattle from San Francisco, was a standout in thwarting Victoria's Pacific Coast League team.

Peter Brett, on a pass from newcomer Peter Wilson, and speedy Jim Menzies scored Victoria's goals in the first half of a rough game that, at times, threatened to get out of hand.

O'Keefes have another exhibition match scheduled next Saturday against New Westminster Royals, another PCSL entry.

Winning Not Enough For Coach's Security

BALTIMORE (AP) — Doug Millward, who coached Baltimore Bays to victory in the Eastern Division of the National Professional Soccer League and to a 1-0 decision over Oakland Clippers in the first league playoff game Sunday, has been fired as coach.

The Baltimore Evening Sun reports that Millward's last game as coach of the Bays would be Saturday in Oakland, the second game of the two-game, total-goals playoff.

Millward, 35, was quoted as saying Sunday night:

"I've been fired and they still haven't given me any satisfactory reasons for my dismissal."

A second-half goal by Dennis Viollet gave the Bays its victory over Oakland in the opening game of the playoff to decide the first-year championship of the league.

A record Baltimore soccer crowd of 16,190 turned out for the game.

Hornets Stung By Timbermen

Cowichan Timbermen threw out a tough defence to drop Victoria Hornets from the unbeaten ranks and create a three-way snarl for first place in the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League.

Chilling Hornets' best offensive thrusts with timely pass interceptions, Cowichan humbled Victoria 21-0 at Macdonald Park on Sunday.

At the same time, Oak Bay Farmer Construction romped to a 33-8 victory over James Bay Mustangs at Carnarvon Park.

Brian Mann, quarterback Mark Stone and Miles Dobson scored Cowichan touchdowns. All three were converted by Greg McMartin.

Oak Bay's majors were scored by Gary Johnston (2), quarterback Phil Pimlott, Jim Forward and Terry Iverson. Johnston made it a 15-point afternoon by booting three converts.

Fullback Johnny Howe accounted for all of James Bay's points, returning a kickoff 80 yards for a major and also booting a single and convert.

Victoria Batsmen Sparkle In Draw With Vancouver

Victoria and District Cricket Association batsmen rang a merry tune Monday. It proved to the most popular hit, from a Victorian's stand-point, in almost a decade.

The final result was a draw against Vancouver's representatives in their annual inter-city meeting for the Virtue Cup.

In one of their best performances in several years, the Victoria side, batting first, scored 226 for nine declared. Vancouver, which had won a July meeting in handy fashion, replied with 190 for the loss of nine wickets when time ran out.

CLARKE SCORES 95

Setting the tempo for Victoria was Cowichan's Peter Clarke. He narrowly missed a century, scoring 95 runs. John Brierly (45), Peter Josselyn (26) and Tom Brierly (17) also contributed valuable runs.

Vancouver's E. Jorssen, like Clarke, also came within an inch of scoring a century. He ran up 99 runs before being put out. Bob Beeney, with 23, was another valuable contributor.

Victoria's attack, consistent most of the day, was handled by Tim Brierly (5 for 34), Walter Tate (2 for 38) and Jim Longridge (1 for 31).

In regular association activity at the weekend, a rare tie and Cowichan's title-clinching victory provided the highlights.

Cowichan clinched first place Saturday with a five-wicket victory over Incogs at Shawnigan Lake. Incogs, sparked by Eric Kjekstad's 56 runs, scored 157 runs.

Only a great partnership by Tim and John Brierly saved Cowichan.

Incogs had taken five wickets for just 45 runs until the Brierly boys came along. John scored 52 and Tim 50 to pass Incogs' total.

On Sunday, the rare tie occured when Albion and Castaways both were all out after scoring 97 runs:

	GP	W	L	D	T	Pts
Cowichan	15	11	1	3	0	61
Oak Bay	14	10	3	1	0	52
Incogs	15	7	5	3	0	41
Alcos	14	5	9	0	0	25
Castaways	15	3	9	2	1	20
Albion	15	2	11	1	1	13

Youngest Champion Only 14

Fourteen-year-old Larry Carlson became the youngest player ever to win a Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association championship when he captured the novice singles title.

Winner of the Burnside club singles, he recorded a clean sweep in defeating five other club representatives in the district rolloffs at Vic West.

Bert and Jenny Bennett of Victoria Club won the Andy Dore scotch doubles trophy by defeating Oak Bay's John and Doreen Green. The Bennetts failed in a bid to win a second major trophy, losing to clubmates Hector Tapp and Vi Cole, 21-11, in the Anscombe Cup final.

Lake Hill's Chuck Davies and Tom deBoucier claimed the Fairhall Cup, downing Andy Dickie and John McMillan of Burnside 19-18 in the men's doubles final.

Wouterlood on Top

J. Wouterlood and D. Scoones maintained their 1-2 standing in the white division while Ed Seedhouse and A. Sheard remained tied for the red lead in the City Chess Club's ladder competition. Winning weekly matches were Wouterlood, Hasse, O'Neill, Bennett, Seedhouse, Strodyk and Glover.

'AUNTIE' GOES MODERN IN BIG WAY

Former 'Pirates' Invade BBC for New Pop Network

LONDON (CP) — A venerable British "Auntie" is trimming her Victorian skirts to mini proportions and plunging into the wild world of pop culture.

The rejuvenated matron is the BBC, which Monday introduced about 30 newly-hired disc jockeys slated for duty on BBC pop music network.

The network, to be called Radio 1, starts grinding out the beat Sept. 30.

On that day, the BBC also will put new names on three of its existing radio networks.

The present Light Program, which features light entertainment in words as well as music, will become Radio 2.

The highbrow Third Program takes the name Radio 3 and the wide-ranging Home Service, with its big helpings of news, drama, talks and good music, will operate as Radio 4.

OPEN FM STATIONS

Later this year and in 1968, the publicly - owned, non-commercial BBC will open a total of eight FM stations serving particular communities — a Canadian-like feature novel to this country. Radio in Britain now is regional rather than geared to particular towns and cities. The new stations will complement the work of the four main networks.

But on Monday, Auntie—as the 40-year-old BBC is known to millions of Britons—saved all her attention for the bizarrely - costumed disc jockeys soon to brave her household.

Seventeen are former "pirates"—record - spinning announcers who worked for the flock of unauthorized stations which blared pop music and commercials at Britain from vantage points off the coast until a government ban shut down all but two of them. Auntie has a legal monopoly on radio broadcasting.

Her new additions raised many a bureaucratic eyebrow at the BBC's August London headquarters, Broadcasting House, as they flashed their Carnaby Street costumes and hippie hairdos.

The ex-pirates, whose earnings will average about $150 a week, are not the only fresh faces at Broadcasting House.

A 35-year-old man named Karl Miller has taken over the editorial chair at the BBC's weekly magazine, The Listener, and turned the previously drab publication inside-out with new makeup, new talent and new editorial zing.

The highbrow Listener's average sale of 67,000 copies is rising and other publications in the field are protesting that the magazine is ranging too far from its prime task of giving printed circulation to broadcast material.

Beach Boys Booked On Burglary Count

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jack (Murph the Surf) Murphy and Allan Kuhn, Miami beach boys convicted of stealing the priceless Star of India sapphire from a New York museum three years ago, were booked last week in a California burglary investigation.

Murphy, 30, and Kuhn, 29, were arrested in a Van Nuys, Calif., motel, along with Terry Ann Terrell, 28, Robert Greenwood, 31, and Bob Staples, 27.

Murphy and Kuhn are also charged in Florida with the beating of actress Eva Gabor and her husband, and the theft of Miss Gabor's $25,000 diamond ring.

Kuhn and Murphy were convicted along with Roger Clark of taking the 563.35-carat Star of India and 21 other gems from the New York Museum of Natural History.

They were released last January after serving 21 months in prison in New York City. Kuhn and Murphy were released on $5,000 bail in the Gabor case in Miami.

Protest Jet Noise

NEW YORK (AP)—A fleet of 21 police tow trucks helped unsnarl a Labor Day traffic jam at Kennedy International Airport after Queens residents residents staged a 100-car stall-in to protest noise from jet planes. Six stalled cars, their drivers still at the wheel, were towed to the police garage at the airport, and another 35 of the vehicles that overheated or stalled were pushed off the roadways.

Wilson Asks Suit To Stop the Move

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson is suing a pop music group called The Move, charging that a satirical postcard to publicize a new record libels him.

Wilson was granted an injunction against the five members of the group last week to stop them from distributing the card which carries a drawing of Wilson sitting nude on a bed.

The court order also prevents the group from publishing, printing or circultating the postcard until Sept. 6 when a further hearing is scheduled.

Two thousand copies of the postcard, publicizing the group's new record, Flowers in the Rain, were mailed to television stations, show promoters, other pop stars and friends of the group.

One arrived at No. 10 Downing Street, official residence of the prime minister.

The Move, whose hits include I Can Hear the Grass Grow and Night of Fear, specializes in smashing up television sets and effigies of famous people during ther performances.

Sun Lures Record Crowd to Fair

★ ★ ★

Closure Of Hall Reviewed

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Attendance at the Saanichton fair over the Labor Day weekend sailed above expectations, especially on Monday, when more than 6,000 people poured through the gates.

Attendance for the three days is estimated at 11,000, slightly higher than last year and a new record, according to Bud Michell, president of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society.

Good weather — clear and sunny skies — played a big part in bringing the crowds, including many visitors from up-Island and the mainland.

Six auxiliary Central Saanich policemen assisted in controlling the heavy traffic, while on the grounds between 12 and 14 members of the Victoria Citizens Band Radio Club helped park cars.

BOTH SIDES

Outside the fairgrounds, cars on East Saanich Road were parked for more than a mile on both sides of the road.

They were also parked on Wallace Drive for about one-quarter of a mile.

While the fair was a success, many visitors Sunday complained at the closure of the Agricultural Hall containing the horticultural exhibits, home arts and crafts. All other attractions, including the midway, were in operation.

Mr. Michell explained that it has always been the practice to close the hall on Sunday.

"We have done this to give our committee members a rest," he said. "But we will review this policy next year."

BRUISED FACE

While there was no serious accidents, a young boy, Collin Podgorenko, bruised his face in the steer riding competition. He was taken to hospital for a check-up.

Spectators took a lively interest in the many attractions. They filed by the hundreds through Central Saanich centennial museum which depicted through household utensils and machinery, 100 years of progress on the farm.

Equally as popular with the crowds was an old threshing machine which was put to work to demonstrate how seeds are separated from the straw.

FAIR RESULTS ON PAGE 32

Spectators also swarmed to see the cutting horse competitions on Sunday; the Jerry Gosley Smile Show and the Midnight Ramblers.

Neatly turned out in uniforms, youthful members of the 4-H Clubs ran through a full program of events on Saturday and Monday.

MAJOR AWARD

In the 4-H dairy section, Pat Lanyon, 1388 Tapping Road, won a major award.

She received the T. Eaton Co. gold watch awarded to the boy or girl exhibiting the best dairy calf.

Ken Smith of Sooke, a member of the Saanich Peninsula Beef Club, won, the Woodward trophy for having the best steer in the show.

His steer at the PNE last week was named grand champion.

Gordon Michell, also in the beef section, won the champion showmanship competition and received a special prize donated by the Vancouver Island Angus Association.

VEGETABLES

Few people among the 11,000 spectators missed viewing the horticultural exhibits featuring some exceptionally fine collection of vegetables.

The flower show, the home arts were equally as popular.

In the basement, there was also widespread interest in the photographic competition, especially in the entries of Mrs. J. L. Grieve. They included colored photographs of native wildflowers and mushrooms.

The flower show was excellent and the hall was packed for presentation of awards to winners.

Winners of some of the major awards included R. A. Pedersen, R. J. Eveleigh, Harry Parker and Mrs. J. Church.

In the vegetables section, K. B. Hincks, received the Scott Cup for the best collection of vegetables.

THERE was strong representation (pretty too) from the mainland at Saanichton fair horse shows. Many prizes went across the water, and Cloverdale Rodeo Queen Paddy Deptford took her share. With her well-schooled Tandy Taylor, Queen Paddy shipped to Saanichton directly from PNE, where she also was a major winner.

THE MYSTERIES of making butter in an old butter churn is explained by museum official Willard Michell to Graham Bonfas, 12, of 1932 Mount Newton Cross Road. The churn is one of many old farm utensils exhibited in Central Saanich new centennial museum. It was opened at the Saanichton Fair grounds Saturday by Reeve Gordon Lee.

BUCKING STEER and young rider fight it out in the ring in the steer riding competition at the Saanichton horse show. It's a popular event. Spills are frequent. One boy suffered a bruised face in the contest when he was thrown to the ground. He received hospital treatment.

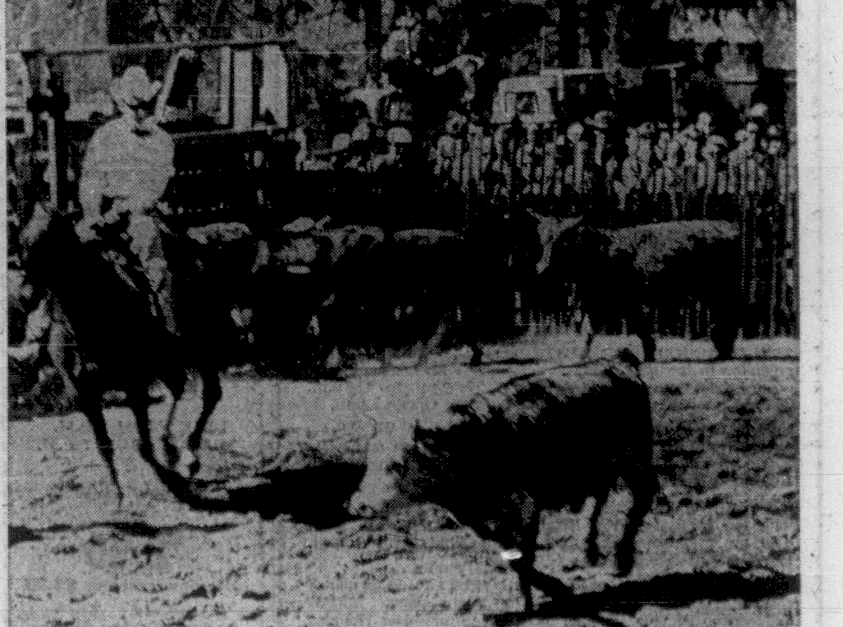
CAKES GALORE were entered in the home cooking section at the Saanichton Fair, but few were as large as this eye-catcher being examined by Mrs. L. Milne, judge, and Mrs. K. C. Sedgman, a fair committee member.

KING-SIZE squash held by Harry Bickford, one of the organizers of the horticultural section at the fair, was one of many super vegetable entries in the show. Competition was keen among gardeners in most divisions.

AMONG THE HUNDREDS of spectators keenly interested in the cutting horse competition was Mrs. W. C. Woodward of Woodwynn Farm, Central Saanich. She saw her son, C. N. "Chunky" Woodward, standing with Bonito Tivio, win the Times perpetual trophy in the open cutting horse competition. Mrs. Woodward is a staunch supporter of the Saanichton Fair and is an exhibitor in the livestock section. Her Aberdeen Angus cattle are famous throughout western Canada.

GOATS were a popular attraction at the fair for young people and grown-ups alike. This one being shown by Glenda Mutrie, 10, and Francis Sewell, 15, of the Saanich 4-H Goat Club, is a pure-bred Toggenberg.

HEAVYWEIGHT was grand champion shorthorn bull at the Saanichton Fair. Owned by George Tatton of Sooke, his name is Rockyford Snowstorm and weighs 1,750 pounds. He was reserve champion at the PNE and at the Regina Fair this year.



TRYING to keep the steer from joining the herd in the cutting horse competition at Saanichton Fair is Bob Grimshaw, riding Paloma Dulce. The horse, owned by H. J. Block, Ladner, placed third in the open competition for the Times Perpetual Trophy. Grimshaw is trainer at Block stable, became interested in horses when he lived at Saanichton.

TORIES SET GROUND RULES

No Jeering Allowed at Rally

By KEN KELLY

TORONTO (CP) — Each candidate for the Progressive Conservative leadership is required to sign a pledge of support to the winner in the voting Saturday winding up the five-day party convention.

Announcing this Monday. Gene Rheaume, convention executive secretary, said such a pledge is normal practice.

Mr. Rheaume, former Conservative MP for the Northwest Territories, reviewed convention details in a press briefing. He was joined by convention co-chairman E. A. Goodman and Roger Regimbal.

He spelled out nominations procedure. Candadates have until 10 a.m. Friday to file their nomination papers, signed by at least 25 but by no more than 50 accredited delegates. The upper limit was imposed to guard against a contest for names.

To make sure the candidate agrees to his nomination, he will also have to sign the papers.

With nine men now in the field and a possibility of two women entrants, several ballots are in prospect on 20 voting machines to be installed on the floor of Maple Leaf Gardens.

To make sure the 2,400-odd voting delegates know how to use the American-made machines, test models are being installed this week at the Royal York, main convention hotel where policy discussions and other activities are going on for 2½ days and later at the Gardens.

Mr. Rheaume said the total number of votes polled by each candidate on each ballot will be publicly announced by Mr. Goodman or Mr. Regimbal and will be posted in foot-high letters on a board.

Low man on each ballot will be dropped for the next round of voting until one man attains a clear majority.

"Except, of course, in case of a tie when the balloting will be done all over again," Mr. Rheaume said. And if two candidates get no votes on the first ballot, both will be dropped on the next round.

Whoever wins will address the convention immediately.

John Diefenbaker, leader since 1956, hasn't said yet whether he'll seek another term in office.

PLAN TIGHT SECURITY

With upwards of 10,000 people in the Gardens for official nominations Friday at 2:30 p.m. EDT, convention officers plan to keep a tight hand on demonstrations.

They will allow five-minute demonstrations for each man immediately after his official nomination is announced formally. Demonstrations at any other time are strictly out.

If the demonstrators continue, "we intend to ask them to stop and, if they don't, we'll throw them the hell out," said Mr. Goodman.

Possibly reminiscent of last fall's party annual meeting when Mr. Diefenbaker was booed and hissed, the convention planners "will not allow any negative demonstrations against any person whatsoever," Mr. Goodman said.

To help enforce order, the co-chairmen can call on more than 400 party volunteers, the 120-member Gardens usher staff and eight hired security guards. They're under command of two Toronto lawyers — John Hilton and Erne Du Vernet.

DEBATE PROGRAM

The whole convention program and arrangements, involving accreditations, use of voting machines and similar contentious points, will be up for debate Thursday night — immediately before the scheduled address of Mr. Diefenbaker.

The longer the debate, the longer delegates will have to wait to hear the national leader and, perhaps, get a clue to his own leadership intentions.

Reports of the policy, credentials, elections, organization and other committees will be placed before the delegates Saturday an hour before the scheduled 1 p.m. EDT start on voting.

"No debate will be allowed on these reports," Mr. Rheaume said. Debates on policy begin Tuesday and extend until noon Thursday in plenary sessions and subcommittees.

The ballot will list the candidates alphabetically and each round of voting may take nearly an hour. There'll be 15 minutes between the announcement of the result of one ballot and the start of voting on the next ballot.

CHECK CREDENTIALS

Mr. Rheaume said the officials figure it will take about 30 minutes to get voting delegates into line at their designated voting machines. They'll go through a series of security checks, including visual indentification from their picture on their credentials, a spot check of their credentials number and a check of the signature they bear.

With 20 machines in operation, the tally from each machine will be collected by chief elections officer Lincoln Alexander of Hamilton, Ont., and his deputy Pierre Durand under scrutiny of one official agent and three scrutineers for each candidate.

Mr. Goodman said the officers don't intend to make public the totals recorded on each machine. Delegates will be assigned voting machines on an alphabetical basis so there won't be a way of determining regional or provincial support of each candidate.

"We've never found it beneficial in the long run to show how geographical regions voted," Mr. Goodman said.

For Friday's nominations, each mover will be allowed eight minutes to speak and the seconder four minutes. Each candidate will speak 19 minutes. Their order of speaking will be based on a draw by Mr. Alexander immediately after nominations close at 10 a.m. Friday.

HOPEFULS POUR IN; RACE HIGH-SPIRITED

By KEN CLARK

TORONTO (CP) — Candidates for the Conservative leadership are seeking voter support with massive campaigns, most of them including an expensive combination of hoopla, liquor receptions, personal appearances and gimmickry.

Much of the action centres in Toronto hotels where most leadership convention delegates will be lodged.

The frantic activity is a last-ditch effort to swing the huge bloc of uncommitted among the 2,400 delegates, who will decide on a leader Saturday.

So costly is the pitch, one candidate faces a $3,000 bill for hotel expenses alone. And he is operating on a small scale, with rooms in only two hotels. Others have rooms in four, many of them "hospitality rooms" where delegates are wined if not dined.

The pitch was begun Monday by some candidates as the first delegates began arriving. Most of all delegates are expected by Thursday.

Davie Fulton, Premir Stanfield of Nova Scotia and Alvin Hamilton were among the first of the nine candidates to show. The others, with their bands, buttons and boosters, were sure to be close behind.

HEES USES STAMPERS

George Hees, who makes his entrance today, will be helped by patrolling Dixieland group called Jim McHarg and his Metro Stompers, borrowed from a local nightspot.

Mr. Fulton has a seven-piece group. Mr. Stanfield will bring Don Messer and his Islanders from the Maritimes for an evening delegate jamboree at the Royal York, the main convention hotel.

Most of the candidates have their headquarters suites in either the Royal York or the Westbury, almost next door to Maple Leaf Gardens, the main convention site. Mr. Fulton has most of the 12th floor of the Westbury.

Donald Fleming operates out of an office-building penthouse near the Gardens.

There is sign competition outside the Gardens already. There are two big Fulton billboards, one French and one English, across the street. Down the street is a billboard for Premier Roblin of Manitoba.

There's a Stanfield house trailer in a parking lot across from the hockey arena to supply the 600-member press corps with information and literature.

Some pro-John Diefenbaker buttons and stickers were around even though the controversial party leader hasn't said yet whether he will run. He will be the last big name to arrive at the convention and that adds to the suspense surrounding his decision.

The Roblin organization plans to capitalize on a front-page Montreal newspaper story that forecasts a first-ballot lead for their man. Huge batches of the paper have been ordered for convention circulation.

Delegate Padding Charge Withdrawn by PC Official

By KEN CLARK

TORONTO (CP) — A Conservative official Sunday withdrew charges questioning the integrity of leading party figures who selected 90 policy people as voting delegates at the party's leadership convention.

The reversal by Dr. James Johnston, the national director, came at an all-day meeting of the committee arranging the convention, which starts today.

Dr. Johnston moved that the convention co-chairman, E. A. Goodman and Roger Regimbal, and Gene Rheaume, the executive secretary, acted in good faith and without improper motives. The motion was passed unanimously.

He had earlier contended that the selection procedure was illegal and was weighted in the favor of one of the nine candidates contesting the party leadership. He did not say which one.

Dr. Johnston had also charged the list was too large and it was pruned at the Sunday meeting. But he said that at about 67 there were still too many names.

The list comprised people who had worked on policy for the party convention. Many attended the party's thinkers conference last month at Montmorency Falls, Que.

Dr. Johnston also told reporters he would have to study the results of the meeting before deciding whether additional protests would be made. He doubted it would become a major convention issue.

Mr. Goodman, a powerful backroom figure in the party, said the meeting went over the list and dropped about 10 names because they did not attend the Montmorency conference. A few were dropped because they couldn't come anyway for various reasons.

The arithmetic juggling as outlined by Mr. Goodman and Dr. Johnston did not quite jibe. Mr. Goodman thought the final list would be two larger than Mr. Johnston's figure. Precise figures appeared unlikely until today.

Mr. Goodman also rejected earlier charges by Laura Mann of Ottawa, another well-known Conservative that the selection committee for delegates-at-large in Ontario rigged the choices. Mr. Goodman was also on that selection committee.

A report presented to the convention committee, found all delegates-at-large for all provinces were properly selected.

Both Miss Mann and Dr. Johnston are known supporters of leader John Diefenbaker, who has added to convention suspense by keeping quiet on whether he will try to keep his job.

Mr. Goodman said the final policy delegate list will comprise about 51 Montmorency people and several others who have positions at the convention.

There was some evidence of intricate delegate juggling with announced additions and subtractions confusing the picture.

Dr. Johnston said he still disagrees with "changing the rules after the game has started" by making the policy delegate list too large.

He said he was not acting on behalf of Mr. Diefenbaker, but protecting the interests of Conservatives everywhere. He was "not completely unhappy" with the delegate results. At least the list had been reduced.

The big show starts with 2½ days of policy discussions, with a big blue-bound copy of the Montmorency decisions as the basis.

Conservative policy-makers dealing with the Carter report on taxation will be in a committee with a non-Conservative as one of the two chairmen.

He is Sheldon Silvers, a tax lawyer in the Toronto law office of Mr. Goodman. He says he is not a Conservative and is mildly embarrassed about his convention role, but did it because of his relationship with Mr. Goodman.

Mr. Silvers cannot vote for the leader. At the policy discussions, he will serve as "resource person" and moderator rather than as a policy-moulder. He says it will be up to the committee to do that on the Carter report.

Quebec Issue In Spotlight At Sessions

TORONTO (CP)—The Progressive Conservative party's stand on national unity is expected to be the dominant issue at its centennial convention here this week and may determine whether John Diefenbaker will seek another term as leader.

Leadership candidate Michael Starr, who with Mr. Diefenbaker opposes any move to have Quebec set apart from the rest of Canada, is expected to start the unity debate at the party's policy meeting tonight. He will be the first speaker.

The last of the candidates to speak will be Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba, who has been calling for changes in the constitution to give Quebec a special status in Confederation.

Each candidate will be given 10 minutes to make his presentations to the 400-member committee before answering questions.

DEPENDS ON POLICY

Mr. Diefenbaker said in Ottawa Friday he wants to know what the party's policy will be before deciding to run another term as leader. He made it clear he would not accept a two-nation concept outlined at the party's recent thinkers' conference in Montmorency Falls, Que.

And he said his views would be presented to the committee by an unnamed spokesman.

Mr. Goodman said a 145-page report on the thinkers' conference would form the basis of policy committee discussions.

Mr. Goodman said the committee's decisions are not binding on members of Parliament or the party leader.

The luck of the draw determined that leadership candidates would address the policy committee in this order:

Former labor minister Starr, former agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton, former trade minister George Hees, Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia, car rental agent John Maclean of Brockville, Ont., former justice minister Davie Fulton, Senator Wallace McCutcheon, former finance minister Donald Fleming and Mr. Roblin.

Late comers would be added to the bottom of the list. Nominations for leadership candidates close at 10 a.m. Friday.

Long Weekend Death Toll 13

The British Columbia Labor Day holiday road death roll rose to 13 overnight with the death of Wilfred Gordon Nunweiler, 21, of Prince George, in Dawson Creek hospital.

He was fatally injured in a head-on collision on the Hart Highway six miles south of here that claimed the life of Mrs. Margaret Peck, 52, of Citrus Heights, Calif.

A wet curve on the Trans-Canada Highway near Boston Bar claimed four lives in one three-car accident Friday night.

Killed in one car were John Norman Gavel, 33, his wife Leola, 32, and Archibald Robertson, 63, all of North Vancouver. Killed in another car was Pamela Ruth Mills, 27, of Vancouver.

Alexandra Elaine Smith, 24, of Port Kells, died in Ladner Sunday when a car ran into a power pole.

Allan Mundt, 57, of Vancouver was killed Friday night in a one-car accident on the Port Mann Freeway in Burnaby.

Near Quesnel, Mrs. Mary Gertrude Irvine, 88, of Vancouver, died Friday night when she was thrown from a car that crashed into a ditch.

Lucille Alice Paul, 18, was killed early Sunday when a car containing eight persons overturned near Williams Lake.

Orin Edward Sundset, 21, of Bashawa, Alta., died Saturday when the car he was driving overturned in Kootenay National Park, 20 miles north of Radium.

Mrs. Louisa Frank, 74, of Courtenay, B.C., was killed Monday when struck by a car in Vancouver.

Brian Douglas Wilson, 5, of Langley died in hospital Monday three hours after he was hit by a car near his home while riding his bicycle.

Widow Wins $50,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Mary Eaton, a 56-year-old Vancouver widow, won the main prize at the Pacific National Exhibition Monday — a 90-pound solid gold brick or $50,000 in cash. Mrs. Eaton took the cash.

COURT-MARTIAL faces Field Marshal Abel Hakim Amer, Egypt's former vice-president and army commander, along with 50 other officers, accused of plotting against President Nasser.

Brush Fires Spread

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. (CP)—Brush fires swept large areas of Southern Saskatchewan during the weekend, killing at least 88 head of livestock and razing thousands of acres of pasture land.

Half Million Face Closed Classrooms

DETROIT (UPI) — A half million Michigan children face closed classrooms this week because teachers in 38 school districts insist they will not work without new contracts.

Stalled contract negotiations between the Detroit School Board and the city's 11,500 teachers left little chance that classes would begin as scheduled Wednesday for 300,000 students.

Nearly 30,000 students were expected to be without teachers in nine outstate districts where classes were to begin today. Teachers in the other 29 districts planned to boycott the opening of classes Wednesday.

Takes Command

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Wearing the new green dress uniform of the Canadian Armed Forces, Commodore William Prine Hayes, RCN, 47, took over command of the Royal Military College here Friday.

Thieves Worked Holiday

Hit Drink Plant; Hack Pool Dome

Between $500 and $700 was taken when thieves broke into a soft drink plant on Bridge Street over the weekend.

The rear doors at Victoria Beverages, 2941 Bridge, had been forced and police found two crow bars at the scene.

The money had been left in a cash drawer.

The robbery was one of several over the holiday weekend.

DOME SLASHED

On Saturday the plastic dome over the swimming pool at the Crest Motel on Belleville, was slashed and two life preservers worth $60 were taken.

The same day two windows were forced at S. J. Willis School and a classroom was found in disorder.

Later some children found a typewriter, several textbooks, and pencils, on a construction site at Quadra and Topaz. The articles were identified as being from the school.

A Red Lion Hotel employee reported a red phone equipped with a warning light was missing from a room after a guest had checked out Sunday.

Plastic and copper pipe was taken Saturday night from a house under construction of 1677 Hillview.

Two boys, aged 12 and 13, took keys from a lady's purse in a car parked at Burnside Gardens and attempted to drive the car but it stalled 50 feet away from the starting point.

A U.S. visitor lost $30 from his car Monday afternoon when thieves smashed the side vent window.

Don Thompson, of Sunnyville, California, said the money was taken from a purse which had been left under a pillow on the front seat of the car while it was parked on Douglas Street.

Experts Fear River Work To Hit Fish

The B.C. Fish and Wildlife Branch is investigating the possible effects on sport fishing of a $1,800,000 flood control plan for the Cowichan River, a department spokesman said Monday.

"We hope a method can be found for flood control that will not result in the loss of the sport fishery at the upper end of the river," said director Dr. James Hatter.

"If the river is straightened and a continuous channel is made it will not support a good fishery."

Hatter was commenting on a statement by the Cowichan Fish and Game Association that a Water Resources Department proposal for flood control could destroy the fishing in the river.

FASTER FLOW

Association president Arnie Williams said the proposal to straighten the course of the river would result in faster flow and wash out salmon spawning beds.

Hatter said his department will ask the water resources branch to consider some alternative scheme if research shows the present plan would endanger fishing.

WEATHER SNAFUS 100TH STOP

The Centennial Helicopter visited Victoria Monday on the 99th stop of a planned 100-stop coast-to-coast tour.

The 100th stop was to be Tofino on Vancouver Island's west coast, but the weather interfered.

Bearing greetings from Canadian premiers and mayors, the aircraft will now visit communities in the interior of British Columbia before returning to the Island and ending its trip at Tofino in late September.

When it stopped at Victoria's heliport Monday, pilot Frank Ogden of New Westminster was greeted by provincial centennial chief L. J. Wallace, local centennial committee chairman Arthur Mebs and Mayor Hugh Stephen.

The helicopter was donated for the centennial flight by the Enstrom Corporation of Michigan.

RVYC's Reality Champ of Champs At Maple Bay

By PAT DUFOUR

The eight-metre Reality, owned and skippered by Royal Victoria Yacht Club's Jack Smith, proved herself the champion to beat all champions at the Maple Bay Regatta over the weekend.

Coming through in fine form, Reality's most outstanding achievement was to win the new Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy. Mr. Pearkes was there to present the trophy. It goes to the winner of A, B, C and D cruising classes.

Another winner had to settle for second place to Reality.

This was Winsome III, the Lapworth 36 owned by C. Rickard of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club. Winsome III is the only yacht to have won three consecutive Swiftsures.

In third spot was Cloud Race, skippered by D. Martin of the mainland club. Cloud Race also came first in the B class series, being trailed by Winsome II and by Gigi, skippered by Royal Van's C. Sanlin.

ROSS CUP

To round out her skipper's trophy cabinet, Reality also placed first in A class and eight-metres. The latter competition won her the Ross Cup.

Delighted with his yacht's performance, Smith confides, "it's the sort of thing that happens once in 10 years."

The veteran yachtsman had several clubs represented in his crew, who were Pat and Denny Coverdale of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, Tom and Wanda Varty of the Maple Bay Yacht Club, Kim Fresnel, Seattle Yacht Club, and Californian Linda Dobson.

ONE TO REMEMBER

Ideal wind conditions made the weekend racing an event to be remembered.

Large yachts pacing themselves on Sunday's course, were able to throw up their spinnakers as soon as they crossed the start line and rounded Arbutus Point. Winds of 12 to 14 knots provided swift and comfortable rides.

The number of yachts competing in this year's summer-end regatta was much lower, dropping from last year's 250 to a comfortable 140, allowing racing committees to perform with the ease of a well-oiled winch.

Thunderbirds, usually one of the largest one-design classes at the Labor Day regatta, were diminished in numbers because of an international meet in Port Townsend.

Of those that competed at Maple Bay, Ned Ashe's May D II proved the best. She beat out W. McCormick's Sequoia and West Vancouver Yacht Club's Aquila, skippered by J. Wilson.

Royal Van's A. R. Booth came second in the A class in Concerto, being followed by Anacortes skipper, R. Dursch in Eos.

Concerto also had to settle for second place in the eight-metre class. Third was Pandora of Rhu, skippered by K. McLean of the same club.

Corinthian Yacht Club's J. Leffler captured first place in the Dragon series. Trailing Leffler's Puff were Kitsilano Yacht Club's D. Black in Cam and Reluctant, skippered by CYC's M. Godsil.

MAPLE BAY WINNER

A Maple Bay entry, Buzzy III, skippered by Vic Palmer, placed first in six-metre racing. Second was B. Lake's Hank Q and third, John Todd's Leanoria.

Two Royal Vancouver yacht club skippers came first and second in C Class. First was K. Clark's Lana and second, Vogel's Lollipop. Third was Wingsong V1, skippered by West Vancouver Yacht Club's J. Grieve.

RVYC's Don Evans won the D series in If, being followed by CYC's S. Watson in Wren.

RVYC's Norman Marcus won the Cal 20 series in Selene. In second position was S. R. Bachlaine's Tangerine. Winner of the Shark series was Charlie Pash's Chas-Moi. Second was Brian Saunders' Hustler and third, R. Meb's Tar-Tar.

Other winners were: Lightnings, 1, N. Williams' Gamma; 2, N. Martin's Keeli and 3, M. Graham's Ventosa; 505s, 1, H. Heath; 2, C. Wall and 3, A. J. Edward; Enterprises, 1, B. Ayers' Madrona, 2, B. Heath's Karakal and 3, P. Gallagher's Nuria.

The Fireball series was won by A. Harrison's Tahv 11. First three places in Snipes were K. Robertson's Jakeda, J. MacAdams and B. Sampson. Uniqua winners were J. Sharpe, B. Miller and P. Jensen.

BROTHERS SCORE

Two RVYC brothers sailed to first and second spots in OK Dinghy competition, Ed Cushing beating out his brother, Frank. In third place was RVYC's Dr. Henry Thompson.

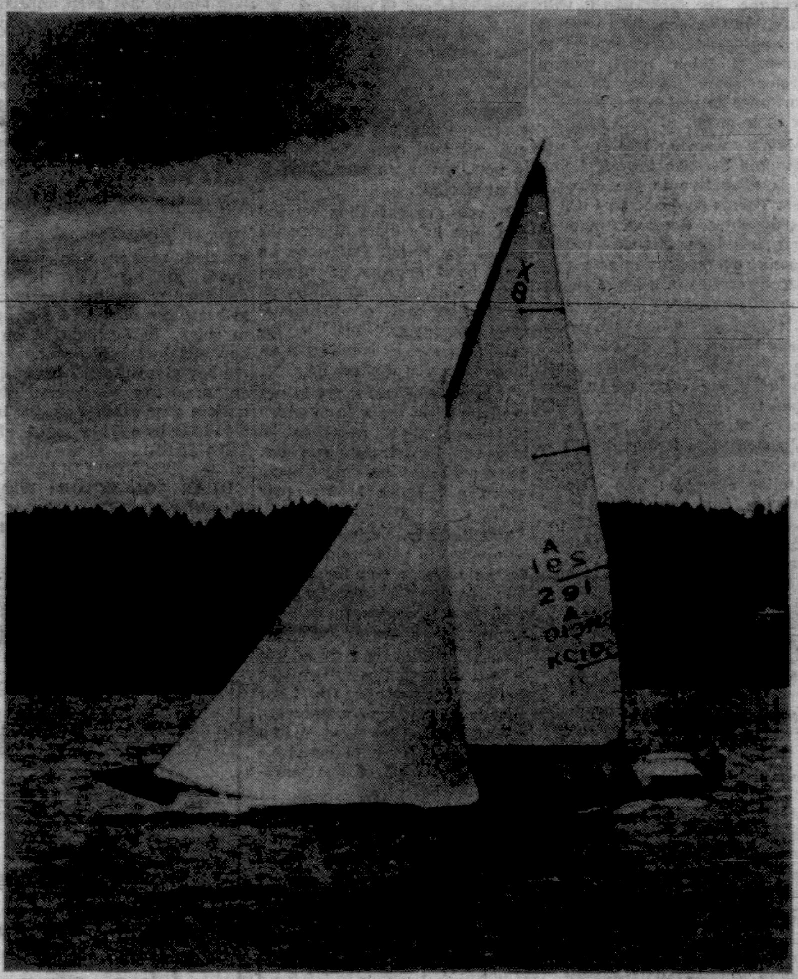
Three Maple Bay entries won top spots in Sabots, skippered by helmsmen under 14 years of age. First was D. Gladman, second, K. Palmer and third, R. Sutfin. Maple Bay entries also placed first and second in senior Sabot racing, D. Blackburn being first, and J. Brohilow, second. In third spot was Nanaimo Yacht Club's O. Griff.

First three placers in El Toros were G. Hemphill's Puff, P. Brownlee and M. Cushing's Vif.

An honorable mention in this class went to B. Fiander of the Corinthian Yacht Club.

Doug Beer, Victoria catamaran designer, won this class in Bow Jang, beating out Ken Keith's Seles, also designed by Beer.

RVYC's Syd Halls sailed his self-built Wild One to victory in X class competition, beating out D. Watson and M. Carers. The Comet class was won by Lionel Dohm's Hi-Jack.



DIGGING IN and looking every inch a champion, Jack Smith's Reality slices down the course on the last leg of a race that won her skipper an armful of trophies, including the big one, the new Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy.

31,000 Troop To Schools For New Term

'Time to Trust Students' —Reynolds Rd. Principal

Today is the day Victoria's largest single enterprise got under way.

More than 31,000 young Victorians set out for a busy year of school.

More than 1,200 of them are attending for the first time. Although most of the remainder are returning to familiar surroundings, 450 of them will find something quite different.

These are the Grade 8, 9 and 10 students at the new Reynolds Junior Secondary School. They will find more new than just the building.

Principal Robert Hunter said this morning "It's time we trusted students. Ninety-eight per cent of them are honest, yet we knock ourselves out trying to catch the 2 per cent."

Mr. Hunter's new school will be run on an honor system. There will be no bells except a warning bell twice a day.

"We're going to try and keep to our schedule without bells," he said.

There are no locks on book lockers, and supervision will be cut down.

NO POLICEMEN

"We want teachers on duty that a pupil can go to, but not as policemen."

The new building features an encircled court yard on to which sliding glass doors open from the cafeteria. Many windows have sliding "black-out" boards, and all the desks are mobile and flat so they can be put together to form working tables.

New teaching techniques will also be emphasized.

"We hope to try individualized instruction and team teaching," said Mr. Hunter, "but these innovations must come from the teachers themselves. They know I'm open to such innovations."

Rockheights Elementary School is in full operation today for the first time, and several portable classrooms erected during August are also open.

NO SHIFTS

The combination of new schools and portables should prevent either shift systems or classes of more than 39 pupils.

The British Columbia Federation of Teachers warned last spring no teacher will take a class of more than 40 pupils this year.

There were several classes over the mark last term, but according to both school superintendent Joseph Chell and school board chairman Peter Bunn, every possible step has been taken to ensure no teacher is confronted with such a large class.

For most students, today was an easy day. Administrative details concerning books, class lists and registration procedures mean serious learning can't begin until Wednesday.

Another 4,000 students in Victoria have a few more days of holiday. At the Institute of Adult Studies, day classes start Sept. 12, and evening classes Sept. 13.

Registration at the University of Victoria starts Sept. 11, but classes don't start until Sept. 18.

DEMOLITION ORDER DUE ON APARTMENT

On Sept. 14 Victoria's public works committee will request city council to issue a demolition order for the Quadra-Topaz Garden Apartments.

For more than two years the uncompleted building has been the source of constant complaint from neighboring residents and has at various times been described as an eyesore and a hazard.

City manager Dennis Young introduced the subject to a meeting of the public works committee today when he reported that recent negotiations to sell the building had fallen through.

MRS. GRACE MAYHEW . . . ex-envoy's wife

Mrs. Mayhew Funeral Wednesday

Mrs. Grace Mayhew, wife of Canada's first ambassador to Japan, died here Saturday at 89.

A member of First United Church, Mrs. Mayhew was an ardent supporter of all church activities and, said a clergyman Saturday, "a moving spirit in the life of the church, especially among the women members."

Married in Ontario in February, 1908, Mrs. Mayhew was a constant encouragement to her husband, Robert Mayhew, throughout his career as a businessman, politician and diplomat.

She spent two years in Japan with her husband between 1952-54 when he opened Canada's first embassy in Tokyo.

FREEMAN

Last fall she shared with her husband the honor paid him by the City of Victoria when he became the eighth Freeman of the city.

Mrs. Mayhew is survived by her husband; a son, Logan, of Victoria, and a daughter, Mrs. Jean Lawrason, Ontario.

A second son, Charles Allan, was killed in action with the RCAF while flying over the Indian Ocean in 1943.

Funeral services will be held at McCall's Funeral Chapel at 3 p.m. Wednesday with the Rev. Robert Morris and Rev. Dr. Hugh McLeod officiating.

California Woman Hurt In Collision

A California visitor is in Royal Jubilee Hospital in good condition with minor injuries following an accident at Sidney Monday.

Mrs. Iraida Didenko, 734 23rd Avenue, San Francisco, was the passenger in the car driven by her son when it was in collision with another car at Patricia Bay Highway at MacDonald Park Road.

Neither Didenko nor the driver of the other car was hurt but the visitors' car was described as a total wreck.

The injured woman was taken to Resthaven Hospital then transferred to Royal Jubilee.

A city girl is in Royal Jubilee Hospital with cuts and a broken ankle after an accident on Douglas Street Sunday afternoon.

Nesta Agnew, 17, of 2358 Beach, was a passenger in the car driven by Robert Proctor of HMCS MacKenzie, when it went out of control and struck a street sign and a utility pole. Proctor suffered facial cuts.

'Someone Running Around' Setting Fires in Saanich

Fire crews were using three trucks at noon today to fight a grass-fire on the Prospect Lake Road about half a mile south of the Gregarah Golf Club.

The fire was one of three reported almost simultaneously at about 11 a.m.

One at the end of Burnside Road was quickly controlled; so was another on the Prospect Lake Road.

But the third fire gave considerable trouble and more help was called.

Saanich fire department suspects arson.

"Someone must be running around in a car, setting the fires," an official said. "It's just as it was a few weeks ago when we had a rash of grass fires."

FAILED TO REPORT LOSS TO INSURANCE FIRM

Engineer Reprimanded by Mayor

City engineer James Garnett was reprimanded by Mayor Hugh Stephen this morning for failing to notify an insurance company of an $11,000 loss of equipment.

The equipment, an electronic brain used for recording below surface tides and currents, was lost off Clover Point on May 8.

Although completely covered by insurance the company carrying the policy was not informed of the loss until July 26.

Between the time of the loss and the information being passed on to the insuring company the city had spent $2,889 on search expenses.

After moving that the bill be paid out of the contingency fund the mayor criticized Mr. Garnett's actions.

"We are not here this morning to allot blame," the mayor told the public works committee. "The equiment was lost and I think we all realize that these unfortunate things do happen.

"But I would like the city manager to issue instructions to all deparment heads that in future when claims are to be made against an insurance company, they must let the insuring company know immediately."

Mr. Garnett said he felt the original search justified because the equipment could not be regarded as lost until a search had failed to recover it.

"It was supposed to be on the sea bottom, and that's where it was," said Mr. Garnett. "It wasn't lost until we couldn't find it."

Mayor Stephen refused to accept the answer.

"As soon as it happened the insuring company should have been informed," he said. "If it wasn't lost when it happened why are we still looking for it?"

Once the insurance company was informed of the loss it took over the search and has agreed to pay any further search bills. But it has informed the city that it cannot be responsible for expenditures incurred before it was informed of the loss.

ELEMENTARY

"When you insure anything it is elementary, whether it be a truck a car or anything else, you let the insuring company know immediately you have a claim," the mayor stated.

Mr. Garnett made one last attempt to justify the $2,888 expenditure.

"I think it should be pointed out that the total bill is not just for the search," he said.

He added that the loss of the equipment had also brought the city side-benefits.

"I am not impressed with this argument," the mayor answered.

COOKING CAN BE FUN — By Mary Moore

First Day of School Brings Use for These

Moore

To give your lunch box efforts a lift for your precious loved ones' sakes I have three ideas — not necessarily brand new, but different. One is for a brownie recipe which all of the kiddies welcome; the second is for a muffin in a cup; another innovation is baked apples in foilwrap — carry-able!

LUNCHERS' BROWNIES

(These call for miniature marshmallows.)

Two eggs, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup butter or margarine, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup sifted flour, 1 cup miniature marshmallows, ½ cup broken walnuts.

Beat eggs until thick and pale. Add sugar gradually while continuing to beat. Melt butter, chocolate and semi-sweet chocolate together over hot water and add with vanilla to egg mixture, beating. Fold in flour. Stir in marshmallows and nuts. Spread in buttered 9-inch pan and bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit about 30 minutes. Cut into squares or diamonds while still warm in pan.

BRAN MUFFIN CUP CAKES

Of course, if desired, these may be baked in greased muffin tins.

One-quarter cup white or brown sugar OR molasses, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1 well-beaten egg, 1 cup all-bran, ¾ cup milk, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 9 to 12 whole walnuts, ¼ to ½ cup chopped raisins or dates (optional).

Blend sugar or molasses and shortening and beat in egg. Stir in bran and milk. Let stand 10 minutes to allow bran to soak up milk. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together and stir in along with raisins or dates if used, until barely mixed. Fill nine 2¼" fluted paper cups ⅔ full. Gently top each with whole walnut. Bake at 400 degrees Fahrenheit about 25 or 30 minutes.

LUNCH BOX BAKED APPLES

Select choice large baking apples. Remove cores and peel halfway down from stem end. Place each on large square of aluminum foil. Fill centres with sugar, shakes of cinnamon, nutmeg and dot of butter, or fill with raisins, nuts and small amount of sugar. Sprinkle peeled suface with sugar. Bring foil up over apples and enclose by twisting. Place on shallow pan and bake at 400 degrees Fahrenheit for about 50 minutes. Cool, then chill. Put cold in lunch box at last minute. Wrap a piece of cream cheese in foil too to be eaten with the apple. Remember to include a plastic spoon.

SHE WON OUT

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two air force officers said a woman recently broke off a downtown parking meter with her car, then asked them to help her put the meter into the car so she could take it to a police station. Police say she never showed up.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerr, who were wed in Victoria on August 22, 1917, celebrated their golden wedding annivercary with a family dinner in the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club. Present were their four sons-in-law and daughters and their children. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. David (Margaret) Weir with Charles and Peter, Mr. and Mrs. Chic (Olive) Melnyk with David and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David (Ivy Ann) Stewart with their children, Laura and Brett; Mr. and Mrs. Buz (Marie) Long with Steven, Kristine and Linda Mae, Mr. and Mrs. Ron (Patricia) Howard with Ron Jr., Harry and Paddy. WHY GROW OLD?

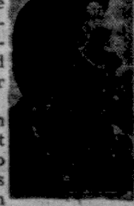
By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Remember! You Use Sense About Choosing Your Scent



Lowman

A woman sends a message about herself to those around her with the perfume she uses just as she does with the clothes she selects, her mannerisms and the tone of her voice.

Some women like to use just one perfume so that it becomes identified with them in the minds of others, sort of like a trademark. We store away odors, and the people or occasions connected with them, just as we store visual and audial memories. Some of the fondest ones may be evoked by the distinctive scent of a grandmother's perfume, a husband's after-shave lotion, a special flower, or a favorite dish.

If a woman uses just one perfume, she must use it with care, only on occasions when it is appropriate, and lightly at times. I think most women prefer some variety in their perfumes to match the occasion or their mood.

Many women like to use perfume because they feel that it is attractive to the opposite sex. This is no doubt true if it is used subtly. However, many a man has been offended by his date's overstated message which resulted in a fog of sweet, heavy fragrance.

It is easy to use too much scent because of a simple defect in perception. If we are exposed to a strong odor for a continuous length of time, our sense of smell will become so accustomed to it that it fails to record as it seems to others. A similar example: The odor of burning food may have faded for us, but still be perceptible to someone who has just entered the house.

The informed use of perfumed products can be very effective. On a hot summer day it is very pleasant to catch a whiff of a light flowery cologne. On special occasions heavier, more exotic fragrances are in order.

If you would like to try several perfumes, you might first experiment with the cologne or toilet water of the same fragrance. These are much less expensive than the perfume and will permit you to choose without too much cost. This is often possible.

If you are sampling several perfumes in a store, don't sniff out of the bottle. Put some on your hand or arm. Perfumes react differenly on different people because of individual body chemistry. Test it for staying power by smelling it an hour after you applied it.

It is probably safer not to use perfume when the area to which it is applied is going to be exposed to strong sunlight. Some perfumes have ingredients which will cause brown spots under such conditions.

Traditionally, perfume should be applied to pulse points, such as the temples and the wrists. You can dab a little under your chin, though, if you want to do so.

This Pen That Points Makes Teaching Easy

By Penny Saver

It's not just the junior set that goes back to school this week, but a great number of school teachers, too. One of our neighbors is returning to her grade three class after a long summer's rest, and she's been busy getting prepared for weeks. I've always thought that getting the children ready to go back was quite an undertaking, but from seeing all the work my friend has been doing, I guess parents have things pretty easy. Charts, seat-work, lesson plans stretching for miles and miles through her rumpus room have convinced me that my problems with the junior set aren't too bad.

If there is a school teacher's best friend in the classroom, its probably a pointer. This is used for everything from pointing out words on the board to pointing out the pupils to answer questions. (In my day it was once in a while used on the fingers of a naughty youngster, too.) There is a new pointer for sale that performs all the usual jobs, and a new one, too . . . it's a pen.

The pointer has a firmly attached cap on the end (to prevent using the ink when it's not needed), and it can collapse into a pen. This gadget is a great teaching aid — because the teacher always has a pen or pointer in her hand, but with this she has both at once. It is priced at $1.50.

For senior students and teachers, too, a see-through report cover will be a big help in the filing system during the coming year. These covers have an added advantage of a "grip back," which will hold loose leaf paper tightly without it being necessary to punch holes in it. The backing of this cover comes in different colors, so that a report will always be easily identifiable. A handy office aid, too, these covers are priced at 38 cents each.

If you'd like to know where I found these back-to-school helpers, please give me a call at 382-3131.

IN MOSCOW

Odd Gown Wins Raves

MOSCOW (AP) — A British model wearing an evening gown with a peekaboo circle just above the navel won a roar of applause Saturday at Moscow's fashion show.

It was the first day for British models at the Sports Palace, where the fashions of the world are being paraded before Russian audiences.

Michael Whittaker, the British producer, said his show got compliments from all sides.

"The Americans called it the greatest, the French said it was fantastic, and the Russians said they had never seen anything like it," Whittaker said.

Hit of the show was the peekaboo evening gown worn by Mary Keates.

Mini-skirts abounded. But they have become commonplace at the Sports Palace in the 10 days of showings by other countries.

Outdoor Beauty

That lovely fair complexion of yours was never meant to stand up to the harsh summer weather. Be kind to it, see that it is well protected when you're golfing, lazing on the beach, or anywhere in the great outdoors. Wear a wide, shady hat and sunglasses — this will keep you from squinting your eyes. Before you venture out smooth on your oil of Olay before making-up, and don't forget your neck. Your skin will maintain a milky look despite the drying effect of the summer.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Retarded Need Love, Patience

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column about the couple who put their retarded child in an institution with others like him, "for his own good."

People used to say that to me, until they learned that that's where we got our children in the first place.

Our little boy was 9 months old and weighed 10½ pounds when we got him. The doctor said he didn't think the child would ever see his first birthday as he was a cerebral palsy child, and retarded, too. I told the doctor that with God's help I would bring him through. I spent many a sleepless night and shed plenty of tears when he would have convulsions, but I would work with him until he got over it.

He has done so well with therapy. He has gained to 42 pounds and the doctors say he will be walking without braces in a few months. He is such a dear, loveable child, and has brought so much joy and laughter into our home.

Our little girl came to us at 5 weeks old. She's a retarded (Mongoloid) child. She is now 3 years old and walks and talks and grows smarter every day. All it takes is love and patience to care for these little ones.

I have 4 grown children and 10 grandchildren. All normal, and I love them all. I hope you will print this, Abby, so others will realize that even imperfect babies need a loving home. Thank you.

DOROTHY

DEAR DOROTHY: There are no words to describe the nobility of people like you. The relatively few cases of man's true humanity to man should make countless millions ashamed.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that worried mother who was so shook at the idea of her daughter presenting her garter to her prom date as a souvenir to relax. In Scotland, when a boy and girl become engaged, the boy gives the girl his kilt. If an American version of that custom ever catches on, the boy will give the girl his TROUSERS!

CUSTOM COLLECTOR

DEAR COLLECTOR: What's the difference? I'm told that in most American homes, it's the wives who wear them.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are ordinary working people (retired) trying to get along on social security, so we must draw on our savings, which, of course, are limited.

We have a number of children, all adults and married with children of their own, up to college age.

From time to time in order to help them out, we have lent our children money, interest-free. They promised to pay us back on instalments. After two or three instalments we have been forgotten, although they seem to have money for pleasure trips, luxuries, etc. "There is honor among thieves," it is said. What has happened to our kids? Where have we failed?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Don't assume that because your children have not honored their commitment that YOU have failed. THEY have failed. You can lead some people to a fountain of integrity, but you can't make them drink from it. (P.S.: Silence implies agreement. Speak up!)

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Eastwood cut their wedding cake at the reception which followed their marriage in St. George the Martyr Church. (Ian McKain)

Carries Prayer Book Used by Her Mother

A white prayer book, carried by her mother at her own wedding, was used by Lynda Jean MacLean on Saturday when she became the bride of Terence Michael Eastwood in the Church of St. George the Martyr. It was topped with a nosegay of yellow roses and stephanotis.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white crystal crepe that had appliques of re-embroidered Chantilly lace on the scoop neckline and slim-fitting skirt. The bodice was in demi-empire style and the short sleeves were gracefully belled.

A bow at the back waistline held a cathedral train. Lace flowerettes trimmed the illusion net ring that held her two-tier veil of illusion net that misted to her waist.

PRINCIPALS' PARENTS

Parents of the principals are Dr. and Mrs. J. Beattie MacLean, 2662 Queenswood Drive, and Dr. and Mrs. B. J. Eastwood of Edmonton.

White gladioli and stocks were at the altar and the church was decorated with standards of chrysanthemums in fall tones. Pews were marked with white chrysanthemums and ribbons.

Dr. N. S. Noel officiated and Dr. MacLean gave his daughter in marriage. Organist was Jim Furmston.

Miss Maryann MacLean was maid of honor for her sister and bridesmaid was her cousin, Miss Judith Moon. Both were gowned in yellow lustre silk. Their full-length empire-waisted gowns had overskirts of sheer, draping softly from the shoulders. Ivy edged their cascade bouquets of roses and chrysanthemums in rose and coral shades.

Jack Eastwood was best man for his brother and ushering guests were Bennie Eastwood, Kevin MacLean, the bride's brother, and Dale Ward.

PROPOSES TOAST

R. V. Maclean proposed the toast to the bride's happiness at the reception which followed in the faculty club of the University of Victoria. Gold and bronze chrysanthemums set the decor with the three-tier wedding cake being set on a table that was covered with a hand-made lace cloth and enhanced with tall white candles in triple candelabra.

As her going-away outfit, the bride chose a chartreuse wool dressmaker suit, toning hat in silk shantung, toast-toned accessories and corsage of Tropicana roses.

The newlyweds will make their home in Vancouver.

Plan Beauty School At Cadboro Bay

Women members of Cadboro Bay United Church are planning a new program. The morning unit of United Church Women will sponsor a beauty school, to be held at the church hall, 2625 Arbutus Road, next week.

Women will be able to attend one of two sessions next Tuesday, one being planned for 1 p.m. and the other at 7 p.m.

The following day, teen-age girls will be able to attend a session at 7 p.m. Coffee will be served.

Instruction will be given on skin care and makeup by Mrs. Maud Dunne, representative of a well-known cosmetic manufacturer. Sponsored by the Bay, Mrs. Dunne will supervise individual analysis and charting as well as the application of makeup.

Of Personal Interest

FOR DELEGATES

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes will entertain at a tea in Government House on Wednesday. Their guests will be delegates of the British Columbia Museums Association, who are attending a seminar and meeting of the association in Victoria.

Fete Bride-Elect

A decorated laundry basket held the gifts for bride-elect Miss Bonnie Cook when Miss Norma Dean entertained at a kitchen shower in her Vernon Avenue home. Pink carnations en corsage were presented to the honor guest, Mrs. J. Cook, the bride-elect's mother and Mrs. G. Patterson, mother of the groom-elect. Invited guests included Mrs. S. Johnson, Mrs. D. Patterson, Mrs. E. Cloverdale, Mrs. L. Patterson, Mrs. R. Lowery, Miss Carol Quisy, Miss Denise Weeks, Mrs. G. Dean, Mrs. R. Woelke, and the Misses Valerie, Julie and Vickie Cook and Wendy and Collen Patterson.

To Wed Soon

Mr. and Mrs. William Knowles, 930 Inverness Road, announce the forthcoming marriage of their eldest daughter, Lynn Margaret, to Mr. Ronald Scott Bowker, second son of Mrs. E. Bowker, 1117 Esquimalt Road, and the late Mr. A. Bowker. The wedding will take place on Saturday, September 9 at 7 p.m. in Esquimalt United Church.

Attend Wedding

Many guests came from Vancouver for the Eastwood-MacLean wedding. They included Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glendenning, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haworth, Mr. and Mrs. D. Alina, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Maclean, Miss Judith Moon, Mrs. Marilyn Moon, Mr. and Mrs. P. Peverett, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. MacLean, Mrs. W. J. MacLean, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ripple. From Edmonton were Dr. and Mrs. B. J. Eastwood, Miss Janis Eastwood, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Eastwood, Mr. Jack Eastwood, Mr. and Mrs. E. Dieno with Raymond, Howard and Leslie; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moon, Miss Patricia Moon, Mrs. Marion Orser and Mrs. Elsie Frant. Mrs. J. E. Anderson came from Seattle, and from Portland were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ward.

Engagement

Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Lane, 500 Beach Drive, announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Mary Kathleen, to Mr. Robert L. Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hughes, of Chinook Ranch, Longview, Alta. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 23 at 3 p.m. in Oak Bay United Church. Rev. Alex Calder will officiate. The bride-elect has chosen as her attendants Miss Marnie Porter, maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Miss Sue Lane (her sister) and Miss Irene Hughes, the groom-elect's sister. A reception will be held in the bride-elect's home following the service.

From Japan

Miss Frona Colquhoun has recently returned from Japan where she was on an extended tour under the auspices of the American String Teachers' Association. Members on the tour attended master classes conducted by Dr. Shinichi Suzuki in Matsumoto.

Allan Kerrigan Takes Bride in Ladner Ceremony

VICTORIA MAN WED ON MAINLAND

A wedding of wide interest to many in Victoria took place recently in Sacred Heart Church, Ladner, when Patricia Annette Luck became the bride of Allan Kerrigan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Luck of Tsawwassen and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kerrigan, 1152 Greenwood Avenue. Arrangements of white and red gladioli decorated the church for the service conducted by Fr. Othmar OSA. Mr. Luck gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's gown, which she made herself, was fashioned of white lace over satin. A sweetheart neckline and sleeves ending in lily points were features of the empire-line bodice. A self-fabric circlet held her softly misted fingertip veil. Pink and white roses with stephanotis and white silk ribbons formed her bouquet.

The bride's attendants were her eight sisters, who wore matching gowns of ice-blue satin. Miss Yvonne Luck wore a circlet of cornflowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Circlets of pink and blue flowers were the headpieces for the Misses Jacqueline, Denise, Nichola, Andree, Sharon, Chental and Danielle Luck, who carried nosegays of pink carnations and roses.

USHER GUESTS

Best man was Bob Crellin and ushering the guests were Ken Flanagan and Marc Lalonde.

A garden reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. Arrangements of pink and white gladioli decorated the head table, which was centred with a tiered wedding cake. Mr. Lalonde proposed the toast to the bride.

The couple will be making their home at Tsawwassen following a honeymoon trip to the Okanagan. For travelling, the new Mrs. Kerrigan donned an outfit in brown floral print which she accented with white accessories.

Shulton Rediscovers Centuries-old Beauty Ingredient . . .

Introduces Desert Flower with Aloe Vera for Skin Care

If Mother Nature can keep a plant blooming in the desert, why can't she do the same for a woman's skin? She can. Now Shulton uses one of Mother Nature's own beauty ingredients, amazing aloe vera gel, in new Desert Flower skin care products: Moisture Base, Cleanser, Night Cream, Skin Toner and Hand and Body lotion.

This precious gel keeps the aloe vera plant smooth and soft even in intense desert heat. Imagine how moist it can keep a woman's skin! Shulton has also included other special ingredients that supplement the natural workings of aloe vera and keep the skin even more fresh and supple. Now it's possible to use Mother Nature's own secrets—and to improve on them—all at the same time!

Time for refreshing, luscious B.C. Bartlett Pears in all your favorite salad combinations.

And it's time to enjoy Bartlett Pears in all your favorite fresh pear desserts, too. They're delicious baked or stewed, tempting and tasty for snacks, and ideal for lunchboxes.

B.C. Bartletts will add welcome variety and perk up many a meal during the winter months . . . If you make lots of taste-tempting preserves, jams and pickles during the next few weeks.

For harvest-time special savings buy your Bartlett Pears in the economical B.C. Handi Pak box.

ELEGANT PEAR SALAD

1 pkg. orange jelly powder
1 pkg. lemon jelly powder
3 cups clear apple juice
2 tbsp. lemon juice
¾ cup fresh pears, diced
¾ cup fresh peaches, diced
¾ cup fresh prune plums, diced
4-5 fresh prune plums, halved & pitted
4-5 fresh pears, pared & halved

Dissolve jelly powder in hot apple juice. Add lemon juice. Refrigerate, and when gelatin reaches consistency of egg white, add diced fruit. More fruit may be added if desired. Pour gelatin and fruit mixture into ring mold or any 1 quart jelly mold.

Keep in refrigerator until firm (overnight is best) and then turn onto lettuce-lined platter. Surround with pear halves and prune plums. Fill centre cavity with pear slices and top with your own choice of dressing. Serves 8 to 10.

He was named Chief Whee-Um (Mighty River), a title taken from a portion of the Nanaimo River famed for its fish abundance. Ceremony was at Nanaimo Civic Arena.

Cabot Has the Time, Never Gets Clock

By ED GOULD

"I'm still Britain's largest export," said portly Sebastian Cabot at his Deep Cove summer home near Sidney.

"Big in a weighty sense, that is."

Co-star with Brian Keith of the Family Affair series on American television, Cabot said he has retained his British citizenship although resident in the United States since 1955.

•

"I haven't really thought much about taking out citizenship," he said. "I'm a landed alien, according to them, but I'm really only concerned with being where I can get work.

"If I could work at acting in television or movies in Victoria, I suppose I'd work here. I certainly would find it more pleasant than Hollywood. The pace is much slower, the rush after the buck less hectic, and the climate seems suitable for film and television work."

•

Mr. and Mrs. Cabot seldom entertain at the "modest" Hollywood home, least of all to actors and others involved in the television-film world.

"Our neighbors are as diversified as they are here," he said. "An insurance man, a doctor, and so on."

They frequently attend receptions at the British Consulate and at the British Columbia Travel Bureau in Los Angeles. Ron Worley, now deputy travel minister in B.C., held such a function to boost the attractions of B.C.

"I couldn't understand why half of the people there were even invited," Cabot said. "I at least live here part of the year and Glen Ford was born in Canada. Olivia de Havilland was there — does she have any connection with Canada or B.C.?

•

"But I'm damned if I know why Robert Vaughan (co-star of The Man from U.N.C.L.E.) should have dropped in for 20 minutes and been presented with a beautiful, expensive ship's clock. Damn it all — I had my eye set on that clock!"

He often meets the premier of B.C.

"I know old Bennett," he said. "We get along splendidly."

Cabot doesn't feel there is any respite in the "television wasteland" scored by Federal Communications Commission head Newton Minow 10 years ago.

"The endless cycle of westerns, blood-letting gangster shows, situation comedies and then more westerns, are still with us and are likely to continue," he said.

He included his own program in the "wasteland" and did not feel that introduction of a national educational network now being proposed in the U.S. would help upgrade content of programs on the private networks.

"There may be a token program from time to time, but I don't think it's likely to make much difference," he said.

•

Critics of such a network in the U.S. have warned of the dangers of propagandizing by the government. Cabot agreed that a certain amount of propaganda might creep in, "more than would be allowed in Canada or Britain on their state-owned networks."

He mentioned a TV commercial in which he praised the glories of fishing in British Columbia which led to a brief furore between actors' unions in Canada and the U.S.

"Somebody in the Canadian union, ACTRA, got on to the American AFTRA group who lost interest when I told them it was a taped television commercial and out of their jurisdiction.

"The ACTRA union complained I was taking work away from Canadians. Hell, I only did it for Worley as a favor — a public service to plug B.C." he said.

Woman Breaks Arm, Knee In Car Crash

CHEMAINUS — Mrs. Molly Scott of Chemainus suffered a broken arm and knee in a car crash Monday night.

She was driving on Crofton Road about 9:20 p.m. when she lost control of the car and smashed into a telephone pole.

Her condition is satisfactory.

Passenger Ralph Skolos of Duncan received multiple face cuts but is in satisfactory condition.

Monkey Disease Fatal

MARBOURG, West Germany (Reuters) — Two more persons have died of a mystery disease imported into Germany with a batch of Rhesus monkeys from Uganda. The deaths Sunday of a 39-year-old veterinary surgeon and a 28-year-old laboratory assistant brought the death toll to six.

Driver Receives Head Injuries

DUNCAN — Keith William Emerson, Cowichan Station, is good condition in hospital after suffering head injuries in a two-car crash Saturday.

Emerson and Leslie Russell, Cowichan Station, collided almost head-on while driving on Old Koksilah Road.

Noreen Russell, a passenger with her husband, suffered minor head injuries and was not detained in hospital.

SURVIVED BEFORE

Morton Down, Far From Out

By DON DINGWALL

NORTH COWICHAN — Reeve Don Morton has survived several crises in his seven-year career as reeve of this municipality.

He is currently the butt of critics in the wake of three successive defeats of a $450,000 sewer bylaw.

But it won't be easy for anyone to replace him.

In an interview, Reeve Morton gave no indication he does not expect to be in the thick of municipal politics next year.

Like the song says "He didn't says Yes and he didn't say No" to the question of whether he would run again. But he talked at length about future plans:

"With a few exceptions I enjoy the challenges and associations of municipal life."

Once a Social Credit candidate for Cowichan-Malahat, Reeve Morton still counts himself a supporter of the present government.

But probable successors as reeve needn't look for comfort here either.

He said "no" to any thought of having a second stab at provincial politics.

"The municipal job has grown so big a man can't ride two horses at once," he said. "I must apply myself to the job in hand."

Then, with a look into the future, he mused: "Next year North Cowichan will have to make a sewer survey; investigate further recreation development; make improvements to Chemainus water supply; extensions to the south end water supply; and employ a resident engineer."

Employment of a full-time engineer might require a revamping of the public works management and administration.

What is the outlook of the man in charge of a municipality with an annual $3,000,000 budget?

Don Morton sees his job as reeve as being responsible for policy and public relations.

He says it's not part of his job to pretend to be a professional admonistrator.

A reeve and council's job is to employ the best professional men and be guided by them.

His political creed is: "Do what you believe right and if enough people don't agree they will soon indicate it."

He gives credit to his immediate predecessor, General C. A. P. Murison, for doing a great deal of groundwork in zoning and introducing building regulations.

North Cowichan is the only municipality in the province with a large forst reserve which it owns outright.

It was this 15,000 acres of good fortune because the municipality was formed in 1873, and the E & N railroad didn't go through until 1881.

This forest reserve is now divided into 10 woodlots and leased to small loggers.

Don Morton says "It keeps the money at home and helps build up our captial reserve."

Reeve Morton feels there should be some provincial help to municipalities in the establishment of sewage disposal plants.

Don Morton believes the time is fast coming when major utilities such as sewers and water, and planning and recreation will be regional concerns.

These are some of Reeve Morton's views. It's a fairly safe bet he'll be propounding them come the December elections.

Hearing Aid Accessory
IMPROVES HEARING FOR $2

A remarkable new low-cost hearing aid accessory, just introduced, may offer improved performance and comfort to thousands of hearing aid wearers. Called "sound governors", the tiny devices closely resemble the flint from a cigarette lighter, and are used to control the sound pressure of a hearing aid. According to the maker, they can be installed in minutes in any type of hearing aid.

Hearing aid engineers explain that sound amplified by a hearing aid creates pressure against the eardrum. Tolerance for this pressure varies in each hard of hearing person; too much pressure can result in unbalanced or uncomfortably loud sound in certain frequency ranges.

Recent experiments have revealed that sound can be mechanically "filtered", much like air or liquid. Special "sintered" metal alloys have been developed to make tiny "sound filters" of various densities, which can control sound pressure in precise steps.

The filters will be marketed under the name, "ComfortEar Sound Governors" by the Medical Acoustic Instrument Co., pioneer manufacturer of hearing test instruments.

'Martians' Speak English

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard, the air ministry, the army and the RAF teamed up Monday to determine that six saucer-shaped objects found giving off "bleep-bleep" signals in southern England "were made in Britain — not Mars."

After the objects were exposed as a hoax, two young apprentices from the royal aircraft establishment at Farnborough claimed they made the six "flying saucers" over a two-month period as part of a rag week — a time set aside by students for fun and raising money for charity.

But for a while, experts had taken the episode seriously after a woman reported seeing a fiery object fall from the sky and radio hams complained of unusual interference on their sets.

The objects weighed about 100 pounds, were silver grey, about 4 feet long, 2½ feet wide and 1½ feet thick. They were discovered in six widely separated places along a line from the Thames Estuary to the Bristol Channel.

The air ministry took some for X-ray tests, Scotland Yard sent five detectives to a distant golf course where one was located, another was impounded by police and the British Aircraft Corp. sent a man to take a look. Britons got to see them on national television.

EXPERT OPERATES

Finally, an expert cut open one of the objects. Inside were two British-made storage batteries, a British-made transmitter and a six-inch loudspeaker for sending out the bleep-bleeps.

Christopher Southall and Roger Palmer, both 22, teamed up on the hoax.

Southall, explaining the objects' construction and a bad-smelling white substance found in them, said: "The "things" are made of a special plastic, which we developed, backed up by glass fibre. The foul-smelling substance inside was simply a mixture of flour and water paste."

"Sunday night, 14 of us planted the objects so that it would appear that a team of flying saucers had landed in England. We did it to publicize our rag week at the end of this month. We aim to raise £2,000 ($6,000) for local charities, and this was the best way of drawing attention to it."

"We also thought we would give the police an exercise in dealing with alien spacecraft, because it could happen one day."

The Wonderful World of Animals

By DR. FRANK MILLER

Poison oak and ivy entanglements are seldom a severe problem with canines. Most don't even bother to itch. Unfortunately, though, they may carry highly irritant resins from these plants on their coats, and the material may be transferred from there to sensitive human skin. A dog suspected of being such a carrier should be thoroughly washed with a mild detergent, thoroughly rinsed, and then the process should be repeated.

The human involved in the process might best wear rubber gloves and long sleeves. If sensitized skin—dog or human—is exposed to toxic resin, it may be neutralized by immediately rubbing the area with several layers of freshly cut, raw potato. (The potato process is of no value unless used soon after exposure.)

* * *

DEAR DR. MILLER: For what seems like forever to me (it's actually about six months I guess), my husband has been on a raw onion kick. He thinks it has something to do with vigor and all that. But the only thing I've noticed lately that's stronger is his breath. Now he's decided our dog, Pretti, has to join him. She hates raw onions and he's trying to stuff one a day down her! Can you come to her rescue—and, perhaps, mine? He claims it will keep her free or worms and disease. —F. L.

DEAR F. L.: I'll have to leave you to your own devices to combat your spouse's halitosis. However, I'm happy to come to Pretti's rescue. While the degree of damage done to Pretti would depend both upon her size and the size of the onion being stuffed down her daily, I would strongly suggest your husband keep his onion orgies to himself (if he can!). An onion a day—given to a small dog—would cause a severe anemia, followed quickly by death.

* * *

DEAR DR. MILLER: A friend said she read in your column that animals smoke and develop cancer. I can hardly believe this. Either you are kidding or she was. Which? I know only humans get this bad habit?—T. G.

DEAR T. G.: Yes, I did mention animals may develop cancer from smoking. Perhaps I neglected to mention these "volunteers" were experiemental test animals. While they don't like to smoke at first, almost all of them from dogs to rabbits to monkey quickly become addicted to smoking, and then eagerly seek a smoking session. While lung cancer is found in some of these addicts, the primary cause of death is emphysema and related lung lesions.

* * *

DEAR DR. MILLER: We're raising our first canaries and have run into a problem. The young are just three weeks old and doing fine. At least they were until the mother bird started to pull out their feathers! What can be done to stop her?

DEAR S. E.: This hen seems to be doing some advance planning. She is probably plucking her poor offspring to provide nesting material for the next batch. To save the youngsters from complete "defoliation," put them in a nursery cage hung on the front of the breeding cage. This way, mama and papa bird can still feed the kids, but they won't be so easily denuded in between times.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20 volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Susan Holmes, age 12, of Phoenix, Arizona, for her question:

Is it true that earthquake waves cannot pass through fluids?

The word "seismology" takes its meaning from an older word for earthquake — which is borrowed from another older word meaning shake. Seismology, naturally, is the science of earthquakes and a seismologist uses a seismograph instrument to gather information on the shuddering shivers that go on in the earth. A major earthquake sends shivering vibrations in and through and around the earth. These are called seismic waves. And seismic waves behave in very strange ways. Besides, there are several different kinds and each type of seismic wave has a behavior patern of its own.

Sound waves are pulses of energy passing through surrounding particles. Seismic weaves, like sound waves, also vibrate through surrounding particles. Sound waves spread out in all directions from a center, such as a beating drum. They travel at about 1,100 feet a second through the skimpy particles of air. four times faster through the denser particles of water and still faster through densely packed particles of steel. Seismic waves are started by massive earth movements at the core of the earthquake, which may be miles underground. Some types behave like the sound waves, radiating out from the core and passing through solids, liquids and air. But there are other types of seismic waves which do not follow these basic rules.

Vibrates Particles

The three main types of earthquake vibration are called P waves, S waves and L waves. Each has its own story to tell the seismologist. The P stands for the primary waves that push out in all directions from the core of disturbance. They move through solids, liquids and gases. The first P wave to reach the surface pinpoints the epicenter of the earthquake at ground level. These P waves bring enormous amounts of energy to the surface. Some of this energy starts L waves that fan out around the earth's crust. L stands for the long wave lengths of these leisurely vibrations. There are at least three types of L waves that spread outward, on or just below ground level.

The strangest seismic vibrations are the S, alias the secondary or transverse waves. Like the P waves, they start at the deep core of the quake. But S waves shake and vibrate the surrounding particles from side to side. You can demonstrate this motion with a skipping rope. Tie one end and shake the other end up and down. The rope forms waves at right angles to a line between its two ends. These strange transverse waves can pass through rigid solids — but not through liquids or gasses. When they reach the surface, their energy joins the L waves already spreading through the curved crust.

The different seismic waves travel at different speeds, some in different directions and some through different substances. The seismograph keeps a continuing written record of them all. Each can give a bit of evidence about the kind of material through which it passed. The evidence from different seismic waves is pieced together to give a picture of the inner, unreachable depths of our planet.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Karen M. Zylak, age 11, of Willowick, Ohio, for her question:

How deep is a quicksand?

This measuring job is for experts and no, absolutely no, amateurs need apply. In fact, few qualified geologists would apply for a job measuring the depth of a quicksand. We may call it a bog or a swamp, a marsh or a fen — but it is always a tricky piece of territory. It may be a soggy mixture of silty mud and water beside a lake or lazy river. It may be a pit of soupy sand and tidal water by the sea. The sneakiest of these booby traps is a bit of drowned land where the dregs of an old lake are clogged with a covering of tempting green vegetation. This and every other type of quicksand is too soupy to support your footsteps and too gooey for swimming.

Almost always, the surface of the trap blends in with the ground around. You cannot look ahead and see it in your path. Its sides may be steep or sloping. One step in the wrong direction may lead you from dry land to dreadful disaster. The soggy soup is trapped in a basin-shaped formation of solid rock, which may be wide or narrow. Its solid floor may be only a foot or two below the surface — but most quicksands are deeper, much deeper. Geologists say that the pools go down 30 feet or even farther.

9 IN MEMORIAM

BEGGS — In loving memory of "Mom" Nancy Marshall Beggs who passed away Sept. 3, 1966.

"Years slip away but memories stay,
As near and dear as yesterday."

—Dearly loved and remembered by her son and daughter-in-law.—Bert and Rose.

CRADDOCK — In loving memory of a beloved wife, mother and grandmother Annie Craddock, who passed away Sept. 4, 1965.

God knows how much we miss her,
Never shall her memory fade;
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where she is laid.

—Ever loved and remembered by husband Barney and family, George, Win, Lloyd and Edna, Larry, Elsie, Arlene, Merv and boys.

HOLE — In loving memory of our darling mother, Sylvia Hole, who departed this life to be with our Lord, September 4, 1965.

Two years have passed since you left us, mother dear.
You always gave a helping hand and spread good cheer.
We often think of the beautiful memories you left behind.
No wonder we love you, you were so brave and kind.

—Lovingly remembered by Doris and George.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here we are back again with the code word ARCH.

Analyze the lead. Review the bidding. Count your winners and, finally the $64,000 question: "How can I make or how can I beat this contract?"

Opening lead—♥ 6

In duplicate you also look for overtricks because one made or saved is likely to be the difference between a good score or a bad one but in rubber bridge the contract is all-important.

West's six of hearts opening lead would be correct in any game. He wants to attack in hearts before declarer gets a chance to develop his own suits. Don't worry about that old saw: "Never lead away from a king." It might have been a good rule in the game of whist although we doubt it, but we know it is a bad rule in contract bridge.

East wins the heart lead with the ace and has what should be an automatic lead to trick two.

That automatic lead is the deuce of clubs. It works this time. West takes his ace and returns clubs. The defence has four tricks gathered before declarer can do anything except follow suit.

Anyone can see that East's lead is correct when he looks at the South hand and anyone should see that it is correct without looking at anything but the East hand and dummy.

East knows that either South or West holds the ace of clubs. If South holds it there is nothing East can do to beat the contract. South will have time to clear up the trump suit. He may have to lose an immediate trick to the trump ace if West holds that card but it will be clear sailing then since the diamond suit is sure to develop. East must lead that club and hope for the best.

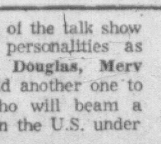
Andy Stephen Looks at TV

CHANNEL CHIT CHAT: The field of the talk show is loaded down with such diverse personalities as Johnny Carson, Joey Bishop, Mike Douglas, Merv Griffin and Gypsy Rose Lee. Now, add another one to the list. He's Woody Woodbury, who will beam a syndicated routine to about 20 cities in the U.S. under the guiding hand of Ralph Edwards.

He has already taped shows with such guests as Edgar Bergen, Bob Crane of Hogan's Heroes and Stan Kenton. . . . "Tom and Jerry" and "Underdog," color cartoon series currently presented Saturdays on CBS-TV, will become Sunday features starting Sept. 10.



Stephen

"Family Affair" star Sebastian Cabot and his wife, Kay, have been resting at their Deep Cove hideaway for the past week. Television's "Mr. French" is feeling fit and 50 pounds lighter after an operation earlier this year which saw him miss some of the series episodes.

The family will slip back to Hollywood next weekend for the start of taping of the second half season of the show on Monday, Sept. 11, the day the new Family Affair season premieres. The series will gain Canadian fans this season as it will be a regular feature of the CTV network lineup.

Shows that will be seen for the first time this year on CBC-TV are the adventure series Mission Impossible and the reactivated Dragnet series . . . The new CBC-TV public affairs feature on Sundays at 10 p.m. has been tentatively entitled Sunday Night Magazine. It will debut Sept. 24.

U.K. students go against a Canadian all-star team in a special edition of CBC's high school quiz program Reach for the Top in color on Sept. 19. Winnipeg's Bill Guest handles quiz master's chores on the show which was video-taped at Expo during July.

Patrick MacNee, co-star of the delightful British series The Avengers, is headed for the U.S., where he wants to work . . . Art Carney, due for another season stint with Jackie Gleason's Honeymooners, is set as star in a musical version of Pinocchio which is planned as a 1968-69 Christmas feature on NBC-TV's Hallmark Hall of Fame.

MOUNTIES LAG IN PAYMENTS

VANCOUVER (CP) — City officials have been instructed to find why Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League are not paying rent on Capilano Stadium on a monthly basis.

Alderman Earle Adams, council finance committee chairman, said the baseball team made a $3,700 payment for June but none since.

The Mounties were ordered in April to make payments monthly instead of four times a year.

Hockey Students Receive Trophies

Six players were awarded trophies as the fifth and final week of the Esquimalt summer hockey school ended Friday at the Sports Centre.

Receiving awards were Danny Peck, Randy Lane, Richard Burton and Kevin Park, all of Victoria, Bill Schan of Port Alberni and Derick Black of Kamloops.

Rebels Win Out In South Arabia

LONDON (AP) — In a major policy switch, Britain Monday night prepared to invite leaders of South Arabia's once-outlawed socialist front to take over power from a crumbling government of sheikhs and sultans.

At the same time, ministers pondered moves to speed Britain's military withdrawal from the desert federation and the Aden protectorate. Independence for the country has been set for Jan. 9.

Two senior envoys headed for the Middle East to arrange termination of Britain's century-old command of Aden and its hinterland.

High Commissioner Sir Humphrey Trevelyan, after 36 hours of consultation here, was flying back with sanction to isitiate talks with leaders of the National Liberation Front, who now control 12 of the 17 federal states.

In their campaign for power, NLF men have been battling against British security forces and political rivals.

ATTACKS CALLED OFF

But NLF attacks on the British have been called off pending Trevelyan's formal response to an NLF offer to discuss the formation of a new government.

Ideally the envoy would like the NLF to take in representatives of other South Arabia groups, including some federal ministers and leaders of the Cairo-backed Front for the Liberation of South Yemen.

But in the face of NLF refusal there would be little that Trevelyan could do but to yield to their demands for sole control.

Lord Shackleton, minister without portfolio, was flying to Beirut to advise Venezuelan, Afghanistan and Mali delegates of the special United Nations mission about Britain's latest moves.

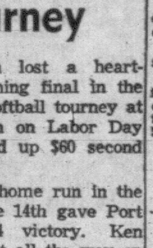
The three-man group is seeking to ease South Arabia's approach to statehood.

HOME GARDEN

Two Shows Scheduled On Weekend

By HILDA BEASTALL

This week brings two more flower shows to the Victoria area.



Hilda

One is the two-day chrysanthemum and dahlia show of the Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society; the other is the one-day flower and vegetable show of the Gordon Head Garden Club.

The two-day show of chrysanthemums and dahlias will be held on Friday and Saturday in Centennial United Church Hall on Gorge Road from 2 to 10 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday.

The show will feature early flowering, disbudded, outdoor chrysanthemums and all types of dahlias. There should be something of interest to all fanciers of these two late summer season flowers, though amateur gardeners may wish for larger showings of the useful spray varieties of chrysanthemums.

GROUP ENTRY

The local society expects to send a group entry of 20 blooms to Toronto on Sept. 23 for the Canadian Chrysanthemum Society's International Centennial Festival. We wish them good weather and good luck.

Gordon Head Garden Club will be staging its 13th annual fall show on Saturday in the Community Hall, Tyndall Avenue, from 2 to 9 p.m.

Here we shall have, in addition to all the lively color of early fall flowers, the richness and aroma of tree fruits, and tantalizing colors of vine and root crops from amateur gardens.

In all, these fall shows are an invitation to visitors and newcomers to the area to see at close range some of the practical results of the gardens they have been admiring all summer.

Century Inn Collects $60 In Tourney

Century Inn lost a heartbreaking 14-inning final in the Senior Open softball tourney at Lake Cowichan on Labor Day but still picked up $60 second money.

A three-run home run in the last half of the 14th gave Port Alberni a 5-4 victory. Ken McCorkall went all the way on the mound for the losers.

Earlier Century lost 9-3 to Duncan, tripped Kings 2-1, defeated Powell River 11-8 and Duncan 14-4 and in 31 innings of play Monday tripped Mayos 2-1 and Lake Elks 8-1 before dropping the final.

Century players picked up three awards. Flay Hall was the runs-batted-in king; Don Frampton hit the most home runs and Carl Walker was chosen most valuable player.

Canadian Horse Finishes Second In Pacing Derby

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — True Duane, the 5-to-2 second choice, rushed up on the outside at the mile mark and drew out in the stretch to win the $50,000 National Pacing Derby at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night.

The four-year-old colt finished 2 lengths in front of Golden Blend, a 27-to-1 longshot from Canada, who finished fast to be second.

Oribiter N. came in third with Overcall, the facorite, fourth.

True Duane went the 1¼ miles in 2:32 4-5 and returned $7, $4.80 and $3. Golden Blend, by the Dela Rosa Farm of Quebec, and driven by Claude Peltier, returned $16.80 and $6.80. Orbiter N, reined by Del Insko, paid $3 to show.

CHINESE MAY BYPASS HONG KONG

MACO (AP)—Communist Chinese are studying a plan to make this Portuguese colony the main gateway to the south coast of mainland China. This would strike a blow at British Hong Kong, 40 miles away.

Chinese engineers and technicians have been prowling Macao's waterfront. Portuguese officials won't talk about them, but sources with close China contacts say the Chinese have laid out plans for deep-water facilities to accept ocean-going ships at Macao and send them up the Pearl River to Canton, the metropolis of southern China.

The Portuguese have dreamed of this since they colonized Macao 400 years ago. They never had had the means to do it.

MONPOWER

The Chinese have the manpower and presumably the money—equivalent of many millions of dollars that would be needed for initial dredging and the big continuing job of maintaining deep passage in the Pearl River. It picks up silt over a vast area of China.

Western engineers suggest that de-silting basins inland, plus constant dredging of the main waterways, could keep the harbor and channel open. Dams and canals might divert enough water to keep the channel deep enough so that at least medium-sized freighters could reach Canton, 40 miles upriver.

Economically, the project might not seem rational, but there would be advantages if the initial development and maintenance costs are discounted. Canton, a city of 4,000,000 persons, is a major terminus for a transportation network extending to China's central and northern areas.

RAIL LINK

Only a small rail line links Canton and Hong Kong. It ends at the border, 21 miles north of Hong Kong harbor, so the route is mostly for products to be used in Hong Kong.

Shipments for the rest of the world go by small coastal freighters and rival junks, for transfer to ocean-going freighters in Hong Kong harbor. Or they go by rail and road to Shanghai or Tientsin, major Chinese seaports.

The Communists could exercise complete control over the Macao route. They have, in effect, controlled Macao since January, when the Portuguese government bowed to Chinese demands backed by riots. Macao's Communists dictate what Macao's government should do, how its businesses can operate, what its radio stations broadcast and what its newspapers print.

U.S. Skydiver Wins

ABBOTSFORD (CP)—Seattle skydiver Jim Lowe, 25, beat Canadian and United States competitors to take the top awards at the sixth annual Canadian northwest championships Monday. Joe Lauscher of Calgary was top Canadian and won the Richard Harder Trophy, a memorial to an Abbotsford skydiver killed two years ago.

RETAINED as chairman of the British National Coal Board is Lord Robens, who came under fire following the Aberfan disaster. He had offered to resign.

Four Tie For Dance Award

A total of 60 entrants took part in Highland events at the Saanichton Fair Monday.

The various piping and dancing events took place between 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. While the majority of competitors were from Victoria, some came from Nanaimo and Duncan.

Four competitors tied for the R. E. Nimmo Memorial Trophy awarded to the competitor with the highest points in the Highland dancing section. They were Lynette Smith, Cheryl Rafter, Cheryll Jackson and Jeffrey Kerr.

NO THIRD PARTY

Negroes Veto White Leaders In Left Group

By DAVID S. BRODER
The Washington Post

CHICAGO, Ill. — The New Left convention held here over the Labor Day weekend produced no serious threat to Lyndon B. Johnson and the Democrats. But one aspect of the gathering was full of menace to America.

Reporters and television crews who swarmed into Chicago thinking they were to witness the birth of the first new left-wing third party since Henry Wallace's 1948 Progressives were soon dissillusioned.

The 2,100 squabbling youth group leaders, neighborhood organizers, peace movement ladies and assorted radicals who attended the national conference on new politics lack the three essentials of a third-party effort: money, organization and a candidate.

They recognized that fact themselves by voting to emphasize local organizing for the next year while keeping the door open for "independent" presidential candidates in selected states. They all but excluded the possibility of a national left-wing, anti-Vietnam, anti-Johnson ticket.

WELL EDUCATED

The caution of that approach was one of several signs that the white organizers in the group are not nearly so radical as their rhetoric would suggest. Most of these neighborhood workers are well-educated and obviously well-meaning young men and women who, where it now for the social conscience that sends them into the slums, the Delta and Appalachia, would be waiting their turn for PTA and planning commission service in the comfortable suburbs most of them come from.

In a real sense, their voluntary decision to channel their talents into the ghetto is a national service of the highest order. As Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John Gardner has pointed out, the gap between the Scarsdales of America and the slums is one of leadership as well as money.

In the neighborhoods they have adopted, the young-activists are helping to close this gap; to the extent they succeed in organizing their chosen constituencies, it seems inevitable that they will be drawn into the old politics they profess to scorn. That has always been the American pattern.

NEIGHBORHOODS

And though these young militants fancy themselves rebels, their emphasis on the local organization is completely in tune with the times. Dr. Benjamin Spock, their keynoter, told them they should resist the centralizing forces of a mass society by seeking "the greatest possible degree of self government" for their neighborhoods. Barry Goldwater himself could not have said it better, nor would Hubert Humphrey disagree.

The menace in this convention lay not in its radical rhetoric but in the rampant racism of the black power extremists who took control of the gathering before its end. They represent an evil that is every bit as frightening at close range as that of the white supremacists.

Naively or idealistically, the white organizers of the new politics conference sought a political alliance with the most radical elements of the Negro leadership, including the Black Nationalists who have adopted the tactics of the Communists and some of their ideology as well. The white radicals in 1967 did not know any more than the white liberals in 1948 that you cannot co-exist with a disciplined extremist cadre without being captured.

EASY TO SCOFF

It is easy to scoff at the New Left leaders for being naive. But the sad truth is that their conference represented perhaps the last effort by anyone in white politics to maintain a channel of communication with the most militant Negroes, whose influence in the ghettoes is on the rise.

The Negro extremists told the white radicals they would enter no coalition they did not completely control, because they trust no white man, whatever his program, with a share of leadership in their struggle. With blunt language and brutal political blackmail, they invited their would-be white allies to "go to hell." That many of the whites aquiesced willingly in the black caucus takeover did not lessen the despair of those who had hoped to form a genuine biracial movement on the left.

REAL VICTIM

The real victim of the new politics meeting was not the left's third-party movement, a chancey affair at best. The victim was the Negro community. The black militants' takeover of the convention, recorded on television and in the press, makes superb propaganda for the agitators of white supremacy.

The mixture of race and radicalism seen in Chicago last weekend is explosive. In the ultra-militant Negroes isolate themselves in the program of political and physical terrorism they espouse, they will bring down a policy of brutal repression that is the worst nightmare possibility in the racial tragedy confronting this country.

HORSE LOVERS HAVE BIG WEEKEND

Fine horseflesh and fine competition were seen over the Labor Day weekend at one of the largest horse shows ever held at the Saanichton Fair.

Throughout the three-day show, sunburned spectators, never numbering less than 1,500, watched junior, western and English events.

Breeding and halter classes this year were the largest ever—a total of 130 entries.

The classes were held in a new ring—especially built for this event.

Results are as follows:

English Events:

Maiden jumpers — 1, Space Jet, Mark Robbins; 2, Ahmurs Storm Prince, Gay Gilson.

Open show hack — 14.2 hands to 15.2 hands — 1, Beauvale, Anncy Robb; 2, Charcoal, Mrs. C. C. Carpenter; 3, Sun Glass Boy, Theresa De Groot; 4, Cinefa, Willy De Groot.

Victorians Work at Expo

Ethel Doan, a primary school teacher at Ahousat, has returned to Victoria after two weeks as counsellor at the Sermons from Science Pavilion at Expo 67.

"It was a wonderful experience," she said.

Other Vancouver Islanders who have served as counsellors at Expo are Edward and Grace Friesen, both Victoria school teachers and members of University Chapel, and Duncan Henderson, an elder at First Baptist Church.

Still to go are Dr. and Mrs. Brian Sutherland of University Chapel; Mrs. Sheridan Rice and her daughter, Greta, a librarian, and Jean Mathieson, a school teacher, all of Central Baptist Church.

CARS PELTED WITH ROCKS

TEXARKANA, Ark. (UPI)—Bands of Negroes pelted passing automobiles with rocks Monday night for several hours after two policemen shot and killed an 80-year-old Negro man.

More than 40 police from both Texarkana, Ark., and Texarkana, Tex., along with Arkansas state police and sheriff's deputies went to the scene of the shooting after a crowd of 200 Negroes gathered.

The threat of a major racial outbreak never materialized, police said.

N. American King Dethroned at Fair

A crowd estimated at 2,000 jammed the horse ring to watch Canadian and U.S. horsemen compete in cutting horse competitions at the Saanichton Fair over the Labor Day weekend.

The centre of attraction in the contest was Stardust Desire, owned by the Douglas Lake Cattle Co. and ridden by David Batty.

The horse was the 1966 North American champion cutting horse, having won the most points at shows in Canada and the United States during the year.

Batty, an ex-Duncan rider, is now chief horse trainer at the Douglas Lake Ranch in the Nicola Valley of B.C.

But in the Saanichton "go rounds" Stardust Desire lost by one point in open competition for the Times Perpetual Challenge Trophy.

It was won by Bonito Tivio, ridden by C. N. "chunky" Woodward, owner of the cattle ranching company and also of Stardust Desire. The aggregate score was 437 to 436.

Ex-Saanich horseman Bob Grimshaw, riding Paloma Dulce, owned by H. J. Block, of Ladner placed third, and Bob Mote of Tigard, Oregon, riding Irish Rainbow, fourth. H. J. Block with Rocky's Champ, placed fift.

Grimshaw is a trainer for the Block quarterhorse stables.

Switch From English Sparks Resignation

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Indian Foreign Minister Mahammedali Currim Chagla today resigned in protest against the government's policy on language in the educational system.

He said changes invlving a sudden switch from English to regional languages would imperil national unity.

Chagla, a former education minister, said he accepts the argument that Hini must ultimately replace English and play the unifying role that English plays today.

But he said the changeover from English to regional languages must be gradual and not impair educational standards.

Chagla, 66, was the first Moslem to hold the post of foreign minister. He assumed office last November in a reshuffle of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's cabinet.

In his resignation statement, Chagla said he is all in favor of development of India's own languages, but the changeover should be gradual.

Some heating fuels give you "extras" you'd be better off without. Like fumes and soot. With electric heat, no fuel is burned so no dirt is created to mar your furnishings. You get even, comfortable heat; operating costs are low, and your heating system requires little or no maintenance. Come to think of it, electric heat does give you one extra . . . the extra resale value it adds to your home. As the trend to all-electric living continues, more and more homebuyers will be demanding modern, efficient electric heat. That could mean a lot when the time comes to sell.

14,000 homeowners have made Electric Heat B.C.'s hottest seller!

LUSTY CHEERS GREET ROYALTY

QUICK recovery was made by King Constantine of Greece in Ottawa who dropped speech but retrieved it. He was not speaking at the time. (AP Wirephoto.)

OTTAWA (CP) — King Constantine of Greece and his stunning queen, Anne-Marie, were welcomed to Ottawa Monday with loud applause, cheers and whistles from a crowd of about 4,000 spectators on Parliament Hill.

A group of about 200 Greek-Canadians, many of them dressed in the colorful costumes of their homeland, waved Greek flags and cheered lustily as the 27-year-old king and his 21-year-old Danish-born wife stepped from their limousine.

Governor-General and Mrs. Michener, Prime Minister and Mrs. Pearson and External Affairs Minister Paul Martin were on hand to receive the rotal couple.

There was no sign of the demonstrators who dogged the king's footsteps in Toronto protesting the recent military take-over of the Greek government. The RCMP were out in force with uniformed and plain-clothed officers, but the ceremony proceeded without incident.

Today the king meets government officials for talks and signs the guest book at city hall. The king and queen are guests of Prime Minister Pearson at a country club luncheon before departing for Montreal.

The king will preside over Greece's national day festivities at Expo Wednesday.

FRAIL CRAFT WRECKED

Intrepid Canadians Plan New Ocean Try

DUN LAGOHAIRÊ, Ireland (AP)—Two Canadians who failed in their attempt to cross the Atlantic in a frail Canadian-built currach are making plans for a further attempt.

They have decided that their first attempt showed their next currach will need a higher freeboard and a sealskin instead of a canvas covering.

The two men, Vinto Lloyd and Capt. Louis Lourmais of Halifax, now staying at a Dun Laoghaire hotel, reported: "We are down to our last nickle. It seems that we will have to look around for another sponsor."

Their first attempt came to grief when their frail craft, built at a cost of about $5,600, was dashed against the rocks between the Ineska islands off the Mayo coast after they had covered only 160 miles from their departure point at Fenit in County Kerry.

Now they are planning to make another attempt next spring to prove that the Irish discovered America by sailing the Atlantic in an ancient Irish craft.

'MOVE GRAVES' —NASSER

LONDON (Reuters) — Egyptian President Nasser has demanded that the graves of 3,000 British and Commonwealth war dead be moved from a cemetery near Alexandria.

Confirming this Monday, an official of the War Graves Commission, which is trying to prevent the graves being disturbed, said the Egyptian president could insist on their removal.

The 3,000 dead are Australians, New Zealanders, Indians, Pakistanis and Britons. They include victims of two world wars.

CANOES END LONG JOURNEY TO MONTREAL

Manitoba Paddlers Win Final Expo Sprint

By BORIS MISKEW

MONTREAL (CP) — Six sturdy men paddled the Manitoba canoe to victory Monday in the final sprint at Expo 67's Regatta Lake after the team had captured Canada's centennial canoe pageant.

The Manitoba paddlers overtook the British Columbia team during the second lap of the 4,500-metre sprint which climaxed the 104-day race from Rocky Mountain House, Alta.

Thousands of Expo visitors lined the banks of Regatta Lake to watch the final sprint after the 10 canoes completed their journey to the world's fair.

Manitoba won the race to Expo along the treacherous rivers and lakes by completing the 3,213 miles in 531 hours, six minutes and 15.5 seconds.

The canoeists from eight provinces and the Yukon and Northwest Territories reached Expo Monday under a warm September sun after spending the night at suburban Lachine.

The canoes, each with six paddlers, challenged the Lachine Rapids en route to the fair and all but two made it without incident.

The Yukon canoeists ran into difficulty in shooting the rapids and their craft tipped over while the Alberta crew got a dunking when their canoe became filled with water and had to be towed to shore where it was emptied and the race resumed.

The final sprint was not part of the centennial race but was put on sepecially for Expo visitors prior to the official welcoming of the canoeists at the end of their journey.

British Columbia, which came second in the pageant in 532:26:14, also finished second in the final sprint.

Ontario was third in the final sprint, followed by Alberta, Northwest Territories, New Brunswick, Saskatchewan, Quebec, Nova Scotia and Yukon.

In the Centennial pageant, Alberta finished third in 535:19:30, followed by Ontario, New Brunswick, Saskatchewan, Quebec, Northwest Territories, Yukon and Nova Scotia.

The Manitoba team, whose skipper was Norman Crerar of Flin Flon, Man., won first-prize money of $2,500 apiece and the Alberta crew $1,500 apiece.

Each member of the remaining seven teams received $1,000.

All 100 members making up the 10-canoe teams received watches from Expo for participating in the final sprint.

IN FRASER CANYON

Two Men Shot Dead On Troubled Ferry

LYTTON (CP) — RCMP at this Fraser canyon town today were questioning a young man following the shooting deaths Monday of two men found aboard the Lytton cable ferry.

Police said ferry operators David Errol, 24, and Gerald Kennedy, 29, had each been shot with a small calibre bullet.

A man was taken into custody about 90 minutes after the slayings.

Police said the men were shot, then placed on board the ferry which was pushed into the middle of the Fraser river. The bodies were discovered after impatient residents became tired of waiting for the ferry to dock.

Les Hampton, another ferry operator who was not on duty at the time of the slayings, went out to the vessel in a rowboat to pull it in. The ferry was nearly swamped several times in the river.

Mr. Errol was the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, two of the four persons who drowned when their car rolled off the end of the ferry July 21.

Also killed when the car overran stopping blocks, were Raymond Mason, 53, and Mrs. Angela Oates.

The ferry, which runs between Lytton and West Lytton, has been a subject of controversy since June when members of Lytton Indian reserve protested that it was dangerous.

The Indians asked the provincial government to build a bridge to link Lytton with a secondary road on the west side of the river to Lillooet, about 50 miles away.

Since then, Lytton mothers have marched on the Kamloops home of highways minister Gaglardi to protest the ferry which they termed unsafe.

Plane Plunges Into Mud, 34 Die

GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — A Czechoslovakian airliner bound for Cuba plunged into mud and brush just seconds after taking off from the international airport here [illegible], killing 34 of the 69 persons aboard.

The turbo-propeller Ilyushin 18 sliced a 1,000-yard trough in soft earth only a half-mile from the end of runway 14, from which the big Russian-built aircraft had taken off.

An explosion ripped the plane strewing smouldering wreckage and bodies over a wide area. The aircraft was about 200 feet off the ground when it dropped without warning.

The airport control tower was in contact with the pilot moments before a ball of fire lit up the sleeping countryside. The crash occurred at 2:40 a.m. NDT.

A four-man investigation department left Ottawa for the scene shortly after the accident and officials of Czechoslovakian

DZU RUNS SECOND

Power Fight May Follow Thieu, Ky Win

SAIGON (AP)—Nguyen Cao Ky wants President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu to appoint him premier, the post he now holds, reliable sources reported today. Ky was elected vice-president Sunday on the same military slate with Thieu.

The sources report that Thieu has not decided who he will appoint as premier. The U.S. embassy has been pressing him to appoint a civilian to counter criticism of the predominantly military character of the regime.

To hold the premiership as well as the vice-presidency, would require an amendment of the constitution, but this could be accomplished if Ky controls the Senate.

In Sunday's election, which also was for the Senate, Ky supporters were ahead.

Returns from 27 of the 44 provinces put four slates known to support Ky among the top six runners. Six of the 48 slates of 10 men each will be elected, forming a 60-day Senate.

With control of the Senate, Ky would be in a strong position in any power struggle that might develop with Chief of State Thieu.

One slate thought to favor Thieu also was among the leaders.

DZU MEN IN 7TH PLACE

A slate favoring lawyer Truong Dinh Dzu, who surprisingly ran second in the presidential race, was in seventh place.

Firm conclusions could not be drawn, however, until all results are in and six tickets actually elected.

Leading the Senate race was a ticket headed by retired Gen. Tran Van Don, a leader in the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem. He was retired by Thieu and Ky and supports neither of them.

Complete unofficial returns in the presidential contest gave Thieu 1,649,561 votes, Dzu 817,120, Phan Khac Suu 513,374, and former premier Tran Van Huong 474,100. An additional 1,281,249 votes were cast for the other seven candidates or were declared invalid.

The total of 4,735,404 votes was 80.9 per cent of the 5,853,251 registered voters, and Thieu got 34.9 per cent of the votes.

CONG SEEKING UNITED FRONT

SAIGON (UP)—South Vietnam's communist-controlled National Liberation Front — the Viet Cong — has issued a broad, nationalistic appeal urging Vietnamese "irrespective of political tendencies" to work together against the United States and the Saigon government.

Guns Roar Across Jordan

Times News Services

Israeli and Jordanian artillery, tanks, mortars and machineguns dueled across the Jordan River over a seven-hour period today. There were some casualties on each side.

It was the second Middle East cease-fire violation in less than 24 hours.

Israeli and Egyptian guns dueled across the Suez Canal Monday in what an Israeli spokesman called a reminder that peace had not been stabilized.

Each side blamed the other for starting today's series of firing near the Allenby Bridge.

Amman radio said "two of our soldiers were slightly wounded while it was confirmed that there were some casualties among enemy troops" and equipment.

Israel said tow Israeli soldiers were wounded.

MACHINE GUNS

Amman radio, quoting a military spokesman, said Israeli troops first opened fire with light and medium machineguns, but as the day wore on brought up 106 millimeter field artillery, tanks and mortars. It said Jordan used similar equipment.

Meanwhile, an official source in Tel Aviv said today Israel will reopen the Jordan River border next week for the return of another 7,000 Arab refugees from Jordan.

Israel decided last week to extend the repatriation of all former west bank residents whose applications to return had been approved but who failed to cross by the Aug. 31 deadline.

Only 14,056 came back by Thursday, and both Israel and Jordan accused each other of impeding the repatriation for political reasons.

U.S. Chases North Troops

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. marines pursued perhaps 1,000 North Vietnamese in the far north Tuesday after the bloodiest battle in South Vietnam in two months.

The battle and other fighting flared Monday and in all 262 North Vietnamese troops and 63 Americans were killed, the U.S. command reported.

Dief Rebuffed By Committee

TORONTO (CP)—A Progressive Conservative sub-committee today endorsed in substance the proposal that the official party line include a declaration recognizing the so-called two-nations concept of Confederation.

ONTARIO CALLS VOTE

TORONTO (CP) — Premier John Robarts today called an Ontario provincial election for Tuesday, Oct. 17.

Mr. Robarts told reporters that his election announcement should dispose of any suggestion that he would seek the national Conservative party leadership.

SEE STORIES ON PAGE 17

Ignoring the publicly-stated opposition of party Leader John Diefenbaker, the constitution sub-committee at the party's centennial convention approved the declaration after easily beating back efforts to strike out proposed references to the two-nations concept.

The declaration's key paragraphs say that Canada is a federal state composed of the original inhabitants of this land and "of two founding peoples (deux nations), with historic rights who have been and continue to be joined by people of many lands."

The references to two founding people were placed before the sub-committee by the Montmorency Falls, Que., thinkers conference held by the party last month.

Mr. Diefenbaker, vowing to fight the proposal during the party's five-day policy and leadership convention, last week termed the two-nations concept produced by the thinkers conference unacceptable, divisive and tending to place Canadians of origins other than French or English in a second class status.

ARE OTHER STEPS

The sub-committee's decision to accept the declaration now must go before the full 400-member committee before it is endorsed as policy for the party.

The main policy committee's report will be placed before the leadership convention later this week but no further debate will be allowed then and there will be no formal motion to adopt it.

The policy committee members broke into nine sub-committees to deal with various aspects of policy.

Besides the two-nations declaration, early sessions on other policy matters produced a recommendation to legalize dissemination of birth control information and devices.

Another sub-committee recommended that the party oppose the principle of capital gains tax as recommended by the Carter royal commission on taxation.

WASN'T SUCCESSFUL

Chief opponent of the two-nations concept was Vivian Steers of Vancouver who unsuccessfully tried to have a recorded vote in the constitution committee on adoption of the policy statement.

"I don't know anything that would split the country more than perpetuating the idea that we are two nations," he said.

He and Clark Muirhead of Claremont, Ont., were snowed under on show-of-hands votes and in debate by a combination of eloquent French- and English-speaking participants in the thinkers conference.

Mr. Steers mustered only four votes behind a formal move to strike out references to "deux nations" with between 25 and 30 delegates favoring retention of the expression.

Mr. Muirhead lacked a seconder in an effort to substitute "two civilizations" for "two founding peoples."

The birth control recommendation came from the committee discussing the social quality of life. Its decision was almost unanimous. The recommendation will be presented to the plenary session of the policy committee Wednesday night.

The sub-committee on Canada's resources and world need put off until Wednesday its discussion on Canada's participation in NATO and NORAD.

The same committee agreed that Canada should pursue an expansionist and non-discriminatory immigration policy,

Dief Plans Dramatic Entrance

TORONTO (CP)—Leader John Diefenbaker will make a carefully-timed entrance at the Conservative convention after the nine men who seek his job.

Mr. Diefenbaker arrives here by plane at 9:45 a.m. EDT Wednesday. The last of the leadership candidates are due today, permiting Mr. Diefenbaker's arrival to take centre stage.

The drama of the arrival is enhanced by his non-committal stand on whether he will seek to retain his job in the Saturday leadership balloting. He will give the keynote address to the convention Thursday night.

Young Diefenbaker supporters are circulating at the convention wearing "Keep the chief" buttons. But even they don't know what the chief will do.

The leader, along with anybody else, has until 10 a.m. Friday to declare.

At the convention, he will stay at one of the two $120-a-day vice-regal suites at the Royal York Hotel, the main convention hotel. The 17th-floor suites are "the best in the house."

STARR STAYS IN RACE EVEN IF DIEF ENTERS

TORONTO (CP)—Michael Starr said today he has no intention of withdrawing from the Conservative leadership race even if Opposition Leader Diefenbaker declares himself a candidate.

He told reporters that originally he had stated that he would have to give serious consideration as to whether he should remain a candidate if Mr. Diefenbaker entered.

However, that point now had been passed. Mr. Diefenbaker had not yet declared himself and Mr. Starr was staying in.

Reaction of some observers to Mr. Starr's statement was that Mr. Diefenbaker, who arrives here Wednesday, will not run for re-election.

U.S. EXPENDITURES ATTACKED IN U.K.

Space Program Called Highway to Ruin

LEEDS, England (AP)—A British educationist assailed the U.S. space program today as the most extravagant venture since imperial Rome ruined itself with costly circuses.

Lord Bowden, former cabinet minister and now principal of Manchester University's Institute of Technology, said the gigantic U.S. effort to hit the moon and investigate the planets has affected American education, reaches into all walks of life and has influenced other countries as well. Canada was mentioned as one of the countries.

Speaking at a symposium of the annual British Association convention, Lord Bowden called the U.S. space drive "the most extravagant, most sophisticated and most dangerous system of outdoor relief ever devised by a great nation in peacetime."

After Bowden's speech, Dr. John Findlay, chairman of the lunar and planetary mission board of the U.S. National Aeronaitics and Space Administration, levelled what amounted to a counter-attack, though it was unplanned that way.

In his prepared remarks, Dr. Findlay said the program is merely a "courageous journey of exploration," giving mankind the freedom to be adventurous. Great scientific knowledge of general benefit already has been acquired, he insisted, and he pooh-poohed the cost. It amounts to only one per cent of the gross U.S. national income, he said.

Lord Bowden saw it differently.

In his comment on "outdoor relief," he explained his conclusions that too many engineers and scientists are siphoned off from other areas. In the United States, he maintained, too many cities and areas now depend on space programs for their existence.

Canadian, British and Swiss universities already are "chained to the chariot wheels of the American Molich which is to put a man on the moon by 1970," he complained.

"This machine was reacted after the Americans had already produced the nuclear equivalent of about 100 tons of dynamite for every living human being and had established a method of delivering it to any point on the face of the earth," he said.

"You may say America is a wealthy country and if she wishes to do so she could afford to build moon probes, probes to Jupiter and Mars and bigger and better rockets. I do not think this is true.

Dr. Findlay disagreed. He said the United States could afford the venture and he contended that only five per cent of the nations' engineers and scientists are in fact scooped up in space work.

He took the view that man-operated methods for space probes are better than robots.

"Man should be given the freedom to be adventurous, he said, "even if other means could be found to get the same results."

Silver Price Rise Seen By Industry

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The price of silver is going to go up, most spokesmen for the mining industry in the western U.S. insist, because demand is outstripping supply.

They talk of the metal selling for $2.25 an ounce, or perhaps $2.50, in contrast with the present price hovering around $1.65.

The rise will start, they say, when the U.S. treasury's supplies are reduced to the point the agency must quit auctioning off 2,000,000 ounces of the metal every week.

When the treasury removed its $1.29-an-ounce ceiling, the price shot to about $1.80, then began to drop back.

The producers' outlook is contrary to that of the treasury department, where a spokesman has asserted there will be plenty of silver to fill needs, including payment of silver certificates, and that the price will range from $1.50 to $1.75 an ounce for the next four or five years.

"This is the same old line the treasury has been putting out for the last five years and it has been 100 per cent wrong during this period," said H. F. Magnuson of Wallace, Idaho, a vice-president of Golconda Mining Corp. and a spokesman for silver producers in the Coeur D'Alene mining region of northern Idaho. About 45 per cent of U.S. silver production comes from the vicinity.

Westerners declare the treasury and eastern buyers want to keep the silver price down and are deliberately minimizing the situation.

Copper Strike Talks Move To Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration today called copper company and union negotiators to Washington in an apparent attempt to settle the eight-week nationwide strike before it has a serious effect on U.S. supplies.

Labor Secretary Wirtz and Commerce Secretary Trowbridge asked major copper producers in telegrams to come to Washington to discuss the strike situation. The first meeting was scheduled for Wednesday with representatives of the United Steelworkers of America and the Kennecott Copper Corp.

Similar meetings were scheduled for later in the week with the Phelps Dodge Corp., Anaconda Corp. and the American Smelting and Refining Co.

Although the meetings called this week were not scheduled as negotiating sessions, contract talks were expected to be brought to Washington as a result of the meetings.

Exams Available For Tradesmen

Tradesmen's qualification examinations are available on a voluntary basis for the machinist and bricklaying trades.

This has been announced by Labor Minister Peterson. Purpose of the exams is to enable workers to "upgrade themselves and to assure the public that workmen displaying the certificate of proficiency are qualified."

To be eligible to write the machinist exams, a person must submit satisfactory proof of having completed a qualifying period of at least 10,000 hours in the trade.

The qualifying period for bricklaying is at least 8,000 hours.

Agreement Reached

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contract settlements have been reached between the oil workers union and Home, Standard and Shell marketing division.

Agreement terms are similar to those in a two-year contract made earlier with British-American Oil Co., which provides for wage increases of up to 46 cents on hourly wage rates ranging from $2.50 to $3.46.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures prices advanced a cent or more on the Chicago Board of Trade today after slipping one cent below the previous close in early trading.

Corn and soybeans showed a similar, but les dramatic, movement. The rallies were spurred by late-morning export buying.

Oats were about steady and rye was up slightly.

Wheat futures have been on a long decline in the face of bumper crop prospects. Another bearish influence was introduced today by the announcement Monday night by the Canadian government of an estimated 547,500,000 bushel harvest. This was substantially more than previous private forecasts.

WINNIPEG (CP) — A very active trade proceeded in flax on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, prompted by a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report showing a low flax production this year.

Rapeseed showed an easier tone as a steady U.S. soybean market added support. Oats and barley trade was light and domestic, with orders hampered by the Great Lakes shipping strike. There were indications of export interest in rye but no immediate reports of export business.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were down 2 cents except durums unchanged.

Death Threat May Cancel China Fair

HONG KONG (Reuters) — One of China's major trade fairs may not be held next month because opponents of Mao Tse-tung threatened to kill the organizers, the English-language Hong Kong Standard says.

The newspaper quotes travellers arriving here from China as saying the site of the Canton Fair — one of China's show windows for the world — was damaged by mobs.

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai insisted the fair go on, but anti-Maoists in the city claimed they would kill the organizers if it was held, The Standard adds.

The paper says this explained why no invitations to the trade fair was received in Hong Kong.

The Standard reports continued fighting in Canton and quotes arrivals here as saying the city's Tinho railway station was still in the hands of anti-Maoists.

But it appeared partial train service has been restored to Hong Kong after several days interruption.

Utica Ships Concentrates

VANCOUVER (CP) — Utica silver mine at Keremeos began production on schedule in late July and the first shipment of concentrates was sent to the Cominco smelter at Trail Aug. 21 the company says in a report to shareholders.

Following construction of a 300 ton a day concentrator and auxiliary services the company had cash reserves of $246,000 as of Aug. 1 which it said is adequate working capital.

Official opening of the mine is planned for Oct. 20.

Strike at Ford 'Almost Certain'

Times News Services

DETROIT — Negotiations between the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. resumed today with a nationwide strike at midnight Wednesday considered nearly certain.

The bargainers resumed talks without speaking to newsmen. UAW. President Walter Reuther already has warned that a strike by Ford's 159,816 UAW members is certain unless the firm changes its attitude "radically."

Ford said it saw no signs that settlement might be in sight.

Reuther warned Monday that not even a request from President Johnson would stop the UAW from shutting down Ford.

A strike against the giant firm would halt production of 8,000 cars and 1,800 trucks per day and cost union members a total of more than $5,750,000 a day in wages and fringe benefits.

"I think they're going to get it," Reuther said about the prospects for a strike.

OPTIMISM WANES

Ford's chief negotiator, vice-president Malcolm Denise also was pessimistic about the chance of avoiding a strike.

"My congenial optimism is getting a little ragged," he said.

Ford did agree Monday to discuss in Detroit the UAW proposal on Canadian pay.

The UAW said it would drop unfair labor practices charges against the company filed when Ford at first balked at the idea.

While the union cannot legally bargain in the United States for Canadian wages, it wants any new contract to include a clause forbidding a company from paying union workers outside the United States less than American workers doing the same task.

The UAW estimates that Canadian workers now get an average of 40 cents an hour less than their American counterparts.

The union is awaiting a response from GM to a union proposal that the contract covering 375,000 GM workers be extended if no agreement is reached at Ford.

A similar union proposal is expected to be made to Chrysler, which employs about 100,000 UAW members.

If a strike is called at Ford, the union would allow the other two companies to continue to operate.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Highland Bell Features

Highland Bell was the feature on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today in light pre-noon trading, adding $1.75 to $14.

Other mining leaders were Western Mines, up nine to $2.99, Dynasty, up 15 to $8.40, and Chataway, which put on a nickel to 31 cents.

Losers included Arctic, down 20 to $1.55; Brenmac, off four to 62 cents; Croydon, .12 to 43 cents, and Madrona, off six to 47 cents.

In the oils, Central Del-Rio slipped $1 to $24.50 and Plains fell three to 50 cents.

B.C. Sugar led the industrials, gaining $1 to $40.50. Cunningham put on a quarter to $12, and MacMillan Bloedel put on 50 to $28.25. Volume at 11 a.m. was 698,315 shares.

AT TORONTO prices moved lower in most sections of the market in light trading today. 1.70 to 9.70 and Highland Bell

In base metals, Leitch rose 1⅞ to 13⅞. Analysts said the activity reflected the hope of speculators that Highland and Leitch might reach an out-of-court settlement in their litigation with Texas Gulf Sulphur over the right to property in the Timmins area. Leitch filed the claim in September, 1964, and will return to court Sept. 11.

Chrysler Corp. rose 3½ to 55½ and Ford of Canada lost 1½ to 167.

Among other industrials, computing Devices rose 2½ and Oshawa A 1⅝ to 47⅝. Atlantic Sugar lost ⅝ to 11¼.

In western oils, Scurry-Rainbow was down 2½ to 35, Central Del Rio ⅝ to 24⅝ and Great Plains ½ to 16¼.

AT NEW YORK Chrysler and General Motors were strong in a generally higher market.

Chrysler, most active of the leading auto stocks, was up nearly 2 in late trading. General Motors made a similar gain. Ford, chosen as the Wednesday night strike target by the United Auto Workers Union, was easy.

Among Canadian stocks, Dome Mines was up ¾, Distillers Seagrams ⅝. Hudson Bay Mining was down ¾, Canadian Pacific ½ Granby Mining, International Nickel and McIntyre Porcupine ⅜, Alcan and Massey Ferguson ⅛.

AT MONTREAL prices continued their drifting pattern, with fractional gains and losses about even. The paper, industrial and utility indices were slightly shaded.

Denison held it's 1⅞ point advance made in early morning trading. Dupont rose ¾ to 29¼, and CAE gained ⅜ to 12¾.

Elsewhere on the market Central Del Rio slipped ⅜ to 24¾, and Bell Telephone dipped ¼ to 47⅝.

AT LONDON buyers were out in force again in equity today and, with dealers currently short of stock, prices were often pushed further ahead on the market.

Gilt edged stocks were inclined easier in quiet trading conditions.

Lacking a lead from Wall Street, dollar stocks shaded lower with the premium Falls were usually around one point.

Canadian banks hardly stirred. Home banks moved forward.

Westbank Must Elect New Board

TORONTO (CP) — The Bank of Western Canada will have a new board of directors before shareholders consider a proposal to wind up the bank, a Toronto shareholder says.

Stockbroker J. R. Findley, one of more than 25 shareholders, who called a meeting for Sept. 14 in Winnipeg to elect directors and consider a windup, said changing the board's makeup will insure the bank will be wound up quickly if shareholders approve.

Mr. Findley said the proposal originated with York Lambton Corp. Ltd. of Toronto, the controlling shareholder with 50.1 per cent.

J. A. N. Chiapetta, a lawyer and a director of New Alliance Investors Ltd. of Toronto, said the change of directors would permit a quick distribution of assets to shareholders. New Alliance is one of the bank's shareholders that called the meeting.

FEATURES

The Algoma Steel Corporation, Limited

This well-managed major primary steel producer, naturally, follows Canada's business cycles but it has shown excellent growth over the years.
Algoma stands to benefit substantially from the Auto Trade Pact and the "Kennedy Round" Tariff reductions; it is already fully competitive in its market area, the fast-growing Great Lakes Region.
The recent results of temporary set-backs do not detract from our appraisal of Algoma's attractive fundamental business and prospects, and the present weakness in the price of the shares, in our opinion, provides an opportunity to invest for capital gains.
We recommend the purchase of Algoma Steel common stock for above average growth of principal and generous yield.

Thieves Worked Holiday

Hit Drink Plant; Hack Pool Dome

Between $500 and $700 was taken when thieves broke into a soft drink plant on Bridge Street over the weekend.

The rear doors at Victoria Beverages, 2941 Bridge, had been forced and police found two crow bars at the scene.

The money had been left in a cash drawer.

The robbery was one of several over the holiday weekend.

DOME SLASHED

On Saturday the plastic dome over the swimming pool at the Crest Motel on Belleville, was slashed and two life preservers worth $60 were taken.

The same day two windows were forced at S. J. Willis School and a classroom was found in disorder.

Later some children found a typewriter, several textbooks, and pencils, on a construction site at Quadra and Topaz. The articles were identified as being from the school.

A Red Lion Hotel employee reported a red phone equipped with a warning light was missing from a room after a guest had checked out Sunday.

Plastic and copper pipe was taken Saturday night from a house under construction of 1677 Hillview.

Two boys, aged 12 and 13, took keys from a lady's purse in a car parked at Burnside Gardens and attempted to drive the car but it stalled 50 feet away from the starting point.

A U.S. visitor lost $30 from his car Monday afternoon when thieves smashed the side vent window.

Don Thompson, of Sunnyville, California, said the money was taken from a purse which had been left under a pillow on the front seat of the car while it was parked on Douglas Street.

Experts Fear River Work To Hit Fish

The B.C. Fish and Wildlife Branch is investigating the possible effects on sport fishing of a $1,800,000 flood control plan for the Cowichan River, a department spokesman said Monday.

"We hope a method can be found for flood control that will not result in the loss of the sport fishery at the upper end of the river," said director Dr. James Hatter.

"If the river is straightened and a continuous channel is made it will not support a good fishery."

Hatter was commenting on a statement by the Cowichan Fish and Game Association that a Water Resources Department proposal for flood control could destroy the fishing in the river.

FASTER FLOW

Association president Arnie Williams said the proposal to straighten the course of the river would result in faster flow and wash out salmon spawning beds.

Hatter said his department will ask the water resources branch to consider some alternative scheme if research shows the present plan would endanger fishing.

WEATHER SNAFUES 100TH STOP

The Centennial Helicopter visited Victoria Monday on the 99th stop of a planned 100-stop coast-to-coast tour.

The 100th stop was to be Tofino on Vancouver Island's west coast, but the weather interfered.

Bearing greetings from Canadian premiers and mayors, the aircraft will now visit communities in the interior of British Columbia before returning to the Island and ending its trip at Tofino in late September.

When it stopped at Victoria's heliport Monday, pilot Frank Ogden of New Westminster was greeted by provincial centennial chief L. J. Wallace, local centennial committee chairman Arthur Mebs and Mayor Hugh Stephen.

The helicopter was donated for the centennial flight by the Enstrom Corporation of Michigan.

RVYC's Reality Champ of Champs At Maple Bay

By PAT DUFOUR

The eight-metre Reality, owned and skippered by Royal Victoria Yacht Club's Jack Smith, proved herself the champion to beat all champions at the Maple Bay Regatta over the weekend.

Coming through in fine form, Reality's most outstanding achievement was to win the new Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy. Mr. Pearkes was there to present the trophy. It goes to the winner of A, B, C and D cruising classes.

Another winner had to settle for second place to Reality.

This was Winsome III, the Lapworth 36 owned by C. Rickard of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club. Winsome III is the only yacht to have won three consecutive Swiftsures.

In third spot was Cloud Race, skippered by D. Martin of the mainland club. Cloud Race also came first in the B class series, being trailed by Winsome II and by Gigi, skippered by Royal Van's C. Sanlin.

ROSS CUP

To round out her skipper's trophy cabinet, Reality also placed first in A class and eight-metres. The latter competition won her the Ross Cup.

Delighted with his yacht's performance, Smith confides, "it's the sort of thing that happens once in 10 years."

The veteran yachtsman had several clubs represented in his crew, who were Pat and Denny Coverdale of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, Tom and Wanda Varty of the Maple Bay Yacht Club, Kim Fresnel, Seattle Yacht Club, and Californian Linda Dobson.

ONE TO REMEMBER

Ideal wind conditions made the weekend racing an event to be remembered.

Large yachts pacing themselves on Sunday's course, were able to throw up their spinnakers as soon as they crossed the start line and rounded Arbutus Point. Winds of 12 to 14 knots provided swift and comfortable rides.

The number of yachts competing in this year's summer-end regatta was much lower, dropping from last year's 250 to a comfortable 140, allowing racing committees to perform with the ease of a well-oiled winch.

Thunderbirds, usually one of the largest one-design classes at the Labor Day regatta, were diminished in numbers because of an international meet, in Port Townsend.

Of those that competed at Maple Bay, Ned Ashe's May D II proved the best. She beat out W. McCormick's Sequoia and West Vancouver Yacht Club's Aquila, skippered by J. Wilson.

Royal Van's A. R. Booth came second in the A class in Concerto, being followed by Anacortes skipper, R. Dursch in Eos.

Concerto also had to settle for second place in the eight-metre class. Third was Pandora of Rhu, skippered by K. McLean of the same club.

Corinthian Yacht Club's J. Leffler captured first place in the Dragon series. Trailing Leffler's Puff were Kitsilano Yacht Club's D. Black in Cam and Reluctant, skippered by CYC's M. Godsil.

MAPLE BAY WINNER

A Maple Bay entry, Buzzy III, skippered by Vic Palmer, placed first in six-metre racing. Second was B. Lake's Hank Q and third, John Todd's Leanoria.

Two Royal Vancouver yacht club skippers came first and second in C Class. First was K. Clark's Lana and second, Vogel's Lollipop. Third was Wingsong V1, skippered by West Vancouver Yacht Club's J. Grieve.

RVYC's Don Evans won the D series in If, being followed by CYC's S. Watson in Wren.

RVYC's Norman Marcus won the Cal 20 series in Selene. In second position was S. R. Bachlaine's Tangerine. Winner of the Shark series was Charlie Pash's Chas-Moi. Second was Brian Saunders' Hustler and third, R. Meb's Tar-Tar.

Other winners were: Lightnings, 1, N. Williams' Gamma; 2, N. Martin's Keeli and 3, M. Graham's Ventosa; 505s, 1, H. Heath; 2, C. Wall and 3, A. J. Edward; Enterprises, 1, B. Ayers' Madrona, 2, B. Heath's Karakal and 3, P. Gallagher's Nuria.

The Fireball series was won by A. Harrison's Tahv 11. First three places in Snipes were K. Robertson's Jakeda, J. MacAdams and B. Sampson. Uniqua winners were J. Sharpe, B. Miller and P. Jensen.

BROTHERS SCORE

Two RVYC beothers sailed to first and second spots in OK Dinghy competition, Ed Cushing beating out his brother, Frank. In third place was RVYC's Dr. Henry Thompson.

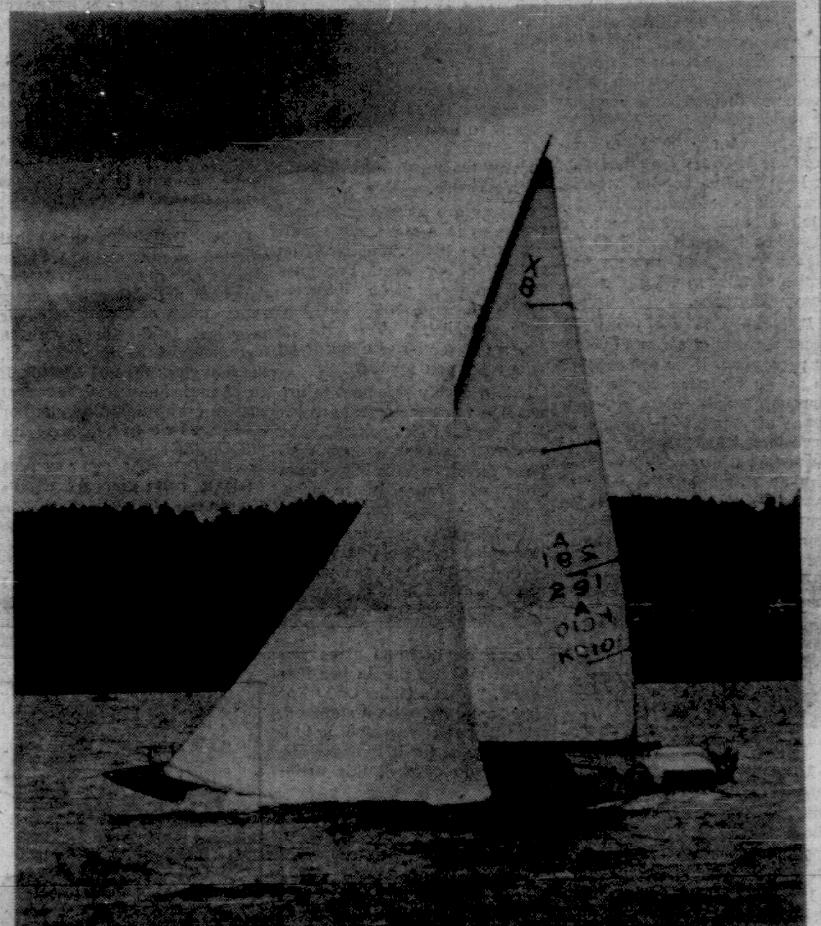
Three Maple Bay entries won top spots in Sabots, skippered by helmsmen under 14 years of age. First was D. Gladman, second, K. Palmer and third, R. Sutfin. Maple Bay entries also placed first and second in senior Sabot racing, D. Blackburn being first, and J. Bromilow, second. In third spot was Nanaimo Yacht Club's O. Griff.

First three placers in El Toros were G. Hemphill's Puff, P. Brownlee and M. Cushing's Vif.

An honorable mention in this class went to B. Fiander of the Corinthian Yacht Club.

Doug Beer, Victoria catamaran designer, won this class in Bow Jang, beating out Ken Keith's Seles, also designed by Beer.

RVYC's Syd Halls sailed his self-built Wild One to victory in X class competition, beating out D. Watson and M. Carers. The Comet class was won by Lionel Dohm's Hi-Jack.



DIGGING IN and looking every inch a champion, Jack Smith's Reality slices down the course on the last leg of a race that won her skipper an armful of trophies, including the big one, the new Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy.

FAILED TO REPORT LOSS TO INSURANCE FIRM

Engineer Reprimanded by Mayor

City engineer James Garnett was reprimanded by Mayor Hugh Stephen this morning for failing to notify an insurance company of an $11,000 loss of equipment.

The equipment, an electronic brain used for recording below surface tides and currents, was lost off Clover Point on May 8.

Although completely covered by insurance the company carrying the policy was not informed of the loss until July 26.

Between the time of the loss and the information being passed on to the insuring company the city had spent $2,889 on search expenses.

After moving that the bill be paid out of the contingency fund the mayor criticized Mr. Garnett's actions.

"We are not here this morning to allot blame," the mayor told the public works committee. "The equiment was lost and I think we all realize that these unfortunate things do happen.

"But I would like the city manager to issue instructions to all deparment heads that in future when claims are to be made against an insurance company, they must let the insuring company know immediately."

Mr. Garnett said he felt the original search justified because the equipment could not be regarded as lost until a search had failed to recover it.

"It was supposed to be on the sea bottom, and that's where it was," said Mr. Garnett. "It wasn't lost until we couldn't find it."

Mayor Stephen refused to accept the answer.

"As soon as it happened the insuring company should have been informed," he said. "If it wasn't lost when it happened why are we still looking for it?"

Once the insurance company was informed of the loss it took over the search and has agreed to pay any further search bills. But it has informed the city that it cannot be responsible for expenditures incurred before it was informed of the loss.

ELEMENTARY

"When you insure anything it is elementary, whether it be a truck a car or anything else, you let the insuring company know immediately you have a claim," the mayor stated.

Mr. Garnett made one last attempt to justify the $2,888 expenditure.

"I think it should be pointed out that the total bill is not just for the search," he said.

He added that the loss of the equipment had also brought the city side-benefits.

"I am not impressed with this argument," the mayor answered.

31,000 Troop To Schools For New Term

'Time to Trust Students' —Reynolds Rd. Principal

Today is the day Victoria's largest single enterprise got under way.

More than 31,000 young Victorians set out for another year of school.

More than 1,200 of them are attending for the first time. Although most of the remainder are returning to familiar surroundings, 450 of them will find something quite different.

These are the Grade 8, 9 and 10 students at the new Reynolds Junior Secondary School. They will find more new than just the building.

Principal Robert Hunter said this morning "It's time we trusted students. Ninety-eight per cent of them are honest, yet we knock ourselves out trying to catch the 2 per cent."

Mr. Hunter's new school will be run on an honor system. There will be no bells except a warning bell twice a day.

"We're going to try and keep to our schedule without bells," he said.

There are no locks on book lockers, and supervision will be cut down.

NO POLICEMEN

"We want teachers on duty that a pupil can go to, but not as policemen."

The new building features an encircled court yard on to which sliding glass doors open from the cafeteria. Many windows have sliding "black-out" boards, and all the desks are mobile and flat so they can be put together to form working tables.

New teaching techniques will also be emphasized.

"We hope to try individualized instruction and team teaching," said Mr. Hunter, "but these innovations must come from the teachers themselves. They know I'm open to such innovations."

Rockheights Elementary School is in full operation today for the first time, and several portable classrooms erected during August are also open.

NO SHIFTS

The combination of new schools and portables should prevent either shift systems or classes of more than 39 pupils.

The British Columbia Federation of Teachers warned last spring no teacher will take a class of more than 40 pupils this year.

There were several classes over the mark last term, but according to both school superintendent Joseph Chell and school board chairman Peter Bunn, every possible step has been taken to ensure no teacher is confronted with such a large class.

For most students, today was an easy day. Administrative details concerning books, class lists and registration procedures mean serious learning can't begin until Wednesday.

Another 4,000 students in Victoria have a few more days of holiday. At the Institute of Adult Studies, day classes start Sept. 12, and evening classes Sept. 13.

Registration at the University of Victoria starts Sept. 11, but classes don't start until Sept. 18.

DEMOLITION ORDER DUE ON APARTMENT

On Sept. 14 Victoria's public works committee will request city council to issue a demolition order for the Quadra-Topaz Garden Apartments.

For more than two years the uncompleted building has been the source of constant complaint from neighboring residents and has at various times been described as an eyesore and a hazard.

City manager Dennis Young introduced the subject to a meeting of the public works committee today when he reported that recent negotiations to sell the building had fallen through.

MRS. GRACE MAYHEW
. . . ex-envoy's wife

Mrs. Mayhew Funeral Wednesday

Mrs. Grace Mayhew, wife of Canada's first ambassador to Japan, died here Saturday at 89.

A member of First United Church, Mrs. Mayhew was an ardent supporter of all church activities and, said a clergyman Saturday, "a moving spirit in the life of the church, especially among the women members."

Married in Ontario in February, 1908, Mrs. Mayhew was a constant encouragement to her husband, Robert Mayhew, throughout his career as a businessman, politician and diplomat.

She spent two years in Japan with her husband between 1952-54 when he opened Canada's first embassy in Tokyo.

FREEMAN

Last fall she shared with her husband the honor paid him by the City of Victoria when he became the eighth Freeman of the city.

Mrs. Mayhew is survived by her husband; a son, Logan, of Victoria, and a daughter, Mrs. Jean Lawrason, Ontario.

A second son, Charles Allan, was killed in action with the RCAF while flying over the Indian Ocean in 1943.

Funeral services will be held at McCall's Funeral Chapel at 3 p.m. Wednesday with the Rev. Robert Morris and Rev. Dr. Hugh McLeod officiating.

California Woman Hurt In Collision

A California visitor is in Royal Jubilee Hospital in good condition with minor injuries following an accident at Sidney Monday.

Mrs. Iraida Didenko, 734 23rd Avenue, San Francisco, was the passenger in the car driven by her son when it was in collision with another car at Patricia Bay Highway at MacDonald Park Road.

Neither Didenko nor the driver of the other car was hurt but the visitors' car was described as a total wreck.

The injured woman was taken to Resthaven Hospital then transferred to Rayal Jubilee.

A city girl is in Royal Jubilee Hospital with cuts and a broken ankle after an accident on Douglas Street Sunday afternoon.

Nesta Agnew, 17, of 2358 Beach, was a passenger in the car driven by Robert Proctor of HMCS MacKenzie, when it went out of control and struck a street sign and a utility pole. Proctor suffered facial cuts.

'Someone Running Around' Setting Fires in Saanich

Fire crews were using three trucks at noon today to fight a grass fire on the Prospect Lake Road about half a mile south of the Gregarah Golf Club.

The fire was one of three reported almost simultaneously at about 11 a.m.

One at the end of Burnside Road was quickly controlled; so was another on the Prospect Lake Road.

But the third fire gave considerable trouble and more help was called.

Saanich fire department suspects arson.

"Someone must be running around in a car, setting the fires," an official said. "It's just as it was a few weeks ago when we had a rash of grass fires."

Ask The Times

Q. How do I go about sending a letter to Prince Charles? K.G.

A. Address it to H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, Buckingham Palace, London, England.

Q. When was Senator Hazen Argue first elected as an MP and what constituency did he represent? When was Ross Thatcher first elected as MP and for what constituency? J.T.W.

A. Senator Argue was first elected as member for Wood Mountain in 1945. The same year Mr. Thatcher became MP for Moose Jaw.

2 Men Shot to Death; Lytton Youth Charged

Bodies Found Aboard Ferry

LYTTON (CP)—Bob McKay, 18, of Lytton, was charged with capital murder today following the shooting deaths Monday of two men found aboard the Lytton cable ferry.

McKay was expected to appear in magistrate's court later today.

Killed Monday were ferry operators David Errol, 24, and Gerald Kennedy, 29. Each were shot once with a small calibre bullet.

Police said the men were shot, then placed on board the ferry which was pushed into the middle of the Fraser river. The bodies were discovered after impatient residents became tired of waiting for the ferry to dock.

Les Hampton, another ferry operator who was not on duty at the time of the slayings, went out to the vessel in a rowboat to pull it in. The ferry was nearly swamped several times in the river.

Mr. Errol was the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, two of the four persons who drowned when their car rolled off the end of the ferry July 21.

Also killed when the car overran stopping blocks, were Raymond Mason, 53, and Mrs. Angela Oates.

PROTESTS

The ferry, which runs between Lytton and West Lytton, has been a subject of controversy since June when members of Lytton Indian reserve protested that it was dangerous.

The Indians asked the provincial government to build a bridge to link Lytton with a secondary road on the west side of the river to Lillooet, about 50 miles away.

Since then, Lytton mothers have marched on the Kamloops home of highways minister Gaglardi to protest the ferry which they termed unsafe.

Aqueduct Double Pays $2,500

NEW YORK (AP)—Led Astray and Celtic Wind combined today for a $2,530.40 winning daily double at Aqueduct race track for the largest daily double of the New York season.

Led Astray, ridden by Willie Shoemaker, won the first race and paid $44. Celtic Wind, with Oswaldo Rosado up, took the second and returned $131.20.

De Gaulle Won't Meet Cardinal

WARSAW (Reuters) — President de Gaulle of France dropped plans for a meeting with militant Roman Catholic Primate Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski during an official visit here beginning Wednesday, French sources said.

The sources said the meeting was prevented by political and protocol difficulties.

Four Killed in British Storms

LONDON (AP)—Gales battered Britain today, killing four persons and wrecking scores of small boats offshore.

Gusts reaching up to 80 miles an hour roared deep inland. Two construction workers were killed and a third seriously injured when a building collapsed under the force of winds in Ossett, Yorkshire.

U.K. Unionists Rap Vietnam War

BRIGHTON, England (Reuters)—Britain's 8,750,000-member Trades Union Congress has defied its leadership and demanded an end to government support for U.S. policy in Vietnam.

The resolution was passed today by 4,686,000 votes to 3,319,000, a surprise decision at the TUC's annual conference at this south coast resort town.

Bomb Threat Disrupts Council Meet

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—An in-camera meeting of the Prince George city council was broken up today as police cleared city hall following a telephoned bomb threat.

A woman caller told a secretary that a bomb had been planted inside the building. Police cleared the building but a search failed to turn up any bomb.

DZU RUNS SECOND

Power Fight May Follow Thieu, Ky Win

SAIGON (AP)—Nguyen Cao Ky wants President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu to appoint him premier, the post he now holds, reliable sources reported today. Ky was elected vice-president Sunday on the same military slate with Thieu.

The sources report that Thieu has not decided who he will appoint as premier. The U.S. embassy has been pressing him to appoint a civilian to counter criticism of the predominantly military character of the regime.

To hold the premiership as well as the vice-presidency, would require an amendment of the constitution, but this could be accomplished if Ky controls the Senate.

In Sunday's election, which also was for the Senate, Ky supporters were ahead.

Returns from 27 of the 44 provinces put four slates known to support Ky among the top six runners. Six of the 48 slates of 10 men each will be elected, forming a 60-day Senate.

With control of the Senate, Ky would be in a strong position in any power struggle that might develop with Chief of State Thieu.

One slate thought to favor Thieu also was among the leaders.

DZU MEN IN 7TH PLACE

A slate favoring lawyer Truong Dinh Dzu, who surprisingly ran second in the presidential race, was in seventh place.

Firm conclusions could not be drawn, however, until all results are in and six tickets actually elected.

Leading the Senate race was a ticket headed by retired Gen. Tran Van Don, a leader in the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem. He was retired by Thieu and Ky and supports neither of them.

Complete unofficial returns in the presidential contest gave Thieu 1,649,561 votes, Dzu 817,120, Phan Khac Suu 513,374, and former premier Tran Van Huong 474,100. An additional 1,281,249 votes were cast for the other seven candidates or were declared invalid.

The total of 4,735,404 votes was 80.9 per cent of the 5,853,251 registered voters, and Thieu got 34.9 per cent of the votes.

Dzu, the runner-up presidential candidate, visited foreign news organization in Saigon

SAIGON (UP)—South Vietnam's communist-controlled National Liberation Front — the Viet Cong — has issued a broad, nationalistic appeal urging Vietnamese "irrespective of political tendencies" to work together against the United States and the Saigon government.

Guns Roar Across Jordan

Times News Services

Israeli and Jordanian artillery, tanks, mortars and machineguns dueled across the Jordan River over a seven-hour period today. There were some casualties on each side.

It was the second Middle East cease-fire violation in less than 24 hours.

Israeli and Egyptian guns dueled across the Suez Canal Monday in what an Israeli spokesman called a reminder that peace had not been stabilized.

Each side blamed the other for starting today's series of firing near the Allenby Bridge.

Amman radio said "two of our soldiers were slightly wounded while it was confirmed that there were some casualties among enemy troops" and equipment.

Israel said two Israeli soldiers were wounded.

MACHINE GUNS

Amman radio, quoting a military spokesman, said Israeli troops first opened fire with light and medium machineguns, but as the day wore on brought up 106 millimeter field artillery, tanks and mortars. It said Jordan used similar equipment.

Meanwhile, an official source in Tel Aviv said today Israel will reopen the Jordan River border next week for the return of another 7,000 Arab refugees from Jordan.

Israel decided last week to extend the repatriation of all former west bank residents whose applications to return had been approved but who failed to cross by the Aug. 31 deadline.

Only 14,056 came back by Thursday, and both Israel and Jordan accused each other of impeding the repatriation for political reasons.

Child Killed As Hot Wire Falls on Car

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — A six-year-old girl was killed, another young girl severely burned and a mother was in shock today after a high voltage wire fell on their parked car at this central B.C. city.

Witness Mrs. H. M. Yurko said she saw the wire, which contained 7,200 volts, fall on her car then snake along the ground to the other vehicle.

She yelled to five children to remain inside the car while she called police.

Before she could summon help, a woman identified only as the mother of one of the children, ran to the car which was being showered with sparks. She touched a door handle and was thrown to the ground by the shock.

The six-year-old then stepped from the vehicle but was electrocuted as soon as her feet touched the ground, the witness said.

DIEFENBAKER REBUFFED

'Two-Nations' Policy Backed at Tory Meet

TORONTO (CP)—A Progressive Conservative subcommittee today endorsed in substance the proposal that the official party line include a declaration recognizing the so-called two-nations concept of Confederation.

Ignoring the publicly-stated opposition of party Leader John Diefenbaker, the constitution sub-committee at the party's centennial convention approved the declaration after easily beating back efforts to strike out proposed references to the two-nations concept.

The declaration's key paragraphs say that Canada is a federal state composed of the original inhabitants of this land and "of two founding peoples (deux nations), with historic rights who have been and continue to be joined by people of many lands."

SEE STORIES ON PAGE 17

The references to two founding people were placed before the sub-committee by the Montmorency Falls, Que., thinkers conference held by the party last month.

Mr. Diefenbaker, vowing to fight the proposal during the party's five-day policy and leadership convention, last week termed the two-nations concept produced by the thinkers conference unacceptable, divisive and tending to place Canadians of origins other than French or English in a second class status.

ARE OTHER STEPS

The sub-committee's decision to accept the declaration now must go before the full 400-member committee before it is endorsed as policy for the party.

The main policy committee's report will be placed before the leadership convention later this week but no further debate will be allowed then and there will be no formal motion to adopt it.

The policy committee members broke into nine sub-committees to deal with various aspects of policy.

Besides the two-nations declaration, early sessions on other policy matters produced a recommendation to legalize dissemination of birth control information and devices.

Another sub-committee recommended that the party oppose the principle of capital gains tax as recommended by the Carter royal commission on taxation.

WASN'T SUCCESSFUL

Chief opponent of the two-nations concept was Vivian Steers of Vancouver, who unsuccessfully tried to have a recorded vote in the constitution committee on adoption of the policy statement.

"I don't know anything that would split the country more than perpetuating the idea that we are two nations," he said.

He and Clark Muirhead of Claremont, Ont., were snowed under on show-of-hands votes and in debate by a combination of eloquent French- and English-speaking participants in the thinkers conference.

Mr. Steers mustered only four votes behind a formal move to strike out references to "deux nations" with between 25 and 30 delegates favoring retention of the expression.

Mr. Muirhead lacked a seconder in an effort to substitute "two civilizations" for "two founding peoples."

The birth control recommendation came from the committee discussing the social quality of life. Its decision was almost unanimous. The recommendation will be presented to the plenary session of the policy committee Wednesday night.

The sub-committee on Canada's resources and world need put off until Wednesday its discussion on Canada's participation in NATO and NORAD.

The same committee agreed that Canada should pursue an expansionist and non-discriminatory immigration policy,

Plane Plunges Into Mud, 34 Die

GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — A Czechoslovakian airliner bound for Cuba plunged into mud and brush just seconds after taking off from the international airport here today, killing 34 of the 69 persons aboard.

The turbo-propeller Ilyushin 18 sliced a 1,000-yard trough in soft earth only a half-mile from the end of runway 14, from which the big Russian-built aircraft had taken off.

An explosion ripped the plane strewing smouldering wreckage and bodies over a wide area. The aircraft was about 200 feet off the ground when it dropped without warning.

The airport control tower was in contact with the pilot moments before a ball of fire lit up the sleeping countryside. The crash occurred at 2:40 a.m. NDT.

A four-man investigation department left Ottawa for the scene shortly after the accident and officials of Czechoslovakian Airlines were also reported to be going to the scene.

Meanwhile, doctors in the small hospital here were treating some of the injured. And 14 critically-burned survivors were being flown to Halifax for special treatment. A kidney machine required by some of the injured was not available here.

There were 61 passengers and eight crew members aboard the Ilyushin 18, which had landed here for a one-hour refuelling stop on a flight to Havana from Prague. Among the dead were the pilot, co-pilot and two other crew members. The engineer, radio officer and two hostesses survived.

The crash was one of the worst at this airport in northeastern Newfoundland. The crash of a Sabena Airlines Aircraft in 1946 claimed the lives of 27 of the 44 persons aboard.

Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin, died in a 1941 crash here.

"I didn't see what happened," a tower controller said. "The first thing I knew was when I saw a ball of flames hit the ground. The ground was lit up by flames. It was a fearful sight."

Joseph Krasnocka, Czech aircraft mechanic who had worked on the plane during its brief stopover, said the aircraft was in perfect condition when it took off.

"The plane was perfectly all right," he said. "We do not know how this could have happened."

ENTRENCHED IN MUD

At the crash site rescuers pulled survivors from burning wreckage entrenched in thick mud and rushed them to hospital by helicopter.

In the modern, three-year-old hospital a full staff of doctors were called in before dawn to tend the injured—19 women, 10 men and seven children. One woman died shortly after admission and many others were in critical condition with third-degree burns.

Gladstone Lester, assistant hospital administrator, said "some of the injured began asking about the children as soon as they were brought in" and language barriers for a time made it difficult to determine to whom injured children belonged.

However, "a doctor on the staff who speaks several European languages helped with the language problem." The majority of the injured appeared to be Czech, Polish or Cuban, Mr. Lester said.

U.S. Chases North Troops

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. marines pursued perhaps 1,000 North Vietnamese in the far north Tuesday after the bloodiest battle in South Vietnam in two months.

The battle and other fighting flared Monday and in all 262 North Vietnamese troops and 63 Americans were killed, the U.S. command reported.

U.S. EXPENDITURES ATTACKED IN U.K.

Space Program Called Highway to Ruin

LEEDS, England (AP)—A British educationist assailed the U.S. space program today as the most extravagant venture since imperial Rome ruined itself with costly circuses.

Lord Bowden, former cabinet minister and now principal of Manchester University's Institute of Technology, said the gigantic U.S. effort to hit the moon and investigate the planets has affected American education, reaches into all walks of life and has influenced other countries as well. Canada was mentioned as one of the countries.

Speaking at a symposium of the annual British Association convention, Lord Bowden called the U.S. space drive "the most extravagant, most sophisticated and most dangerous system of outdoor relief ever devised by a great nation in peacetime."

After Bowden's speech, Dr. John Findlay, chairman of the lunar and planetary mission board of the U.S. National Aeronaitics and Space Administration, levelled what amounted to a counter-attack, though it was unplanned that way.

In his prepared remarks, Dr. Findlay said the program is merely a "courageous journey of exploration," giving mankind the freedom to be adventurous. Great scientific knowledge of general benefit already has been acquired, he insisted, and he pooh-poohed the cost. It amounts to only one per cent of the gross U.S. national income, he said.

Lord Bowden saw it differently.

In his comment on "outdoor relief," he explained his conclusions that too many engineers and scientists are siphoned off from other areas. In the United States, he maintained, too many cities and areas now depend on space programs for their existence.

Canadian, British and Swiss universities already are "chained to the chariot wheels of the American Molich which is to put a man on the moon by 1970," he complained.

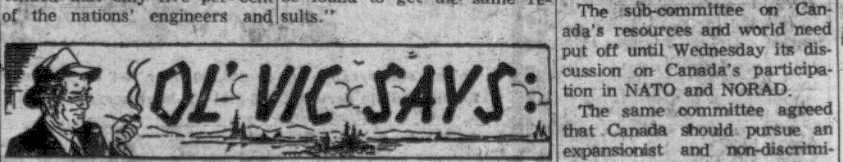
"This machine was reacted after the Americans had already produced the nuclear equivalent of about 100 tons of dynamite for every living human being and had established a method of delivering it to any point on the face of the earth," he said.

"You may say America is a wealthy country and if she wishes to do so she could afford to build moon probes, probes to Jupiter and Mars and bigger and better rockets. I do not think this is true.

Dr. Findlay disagreed. He said the United States could afford the venture and he contended that only five per cent of the nations' engineers and scientists are in fact scooped up in space work.

He took the view that man-operated methods for space probes are better than robots.

"Man should be given the freedom to be adventurous, he said, "even if other means could be found to get the same results."



Th' Vietnamese people have spoken. Now a lot o' non-Vietnamese people will prob'ly answer them.

STARR STAYS IN RACE EVEN IF DIEF ENTERS

TORONTO (CP)—Michael Starr said today he has no intention of withdrawing from the Conservative leadership race even if Opposition Leader Diefenbaker declares himself a candidate.

He told reporters that originally he had stated that he would have to give serious consideration as to whether he should remain a candidate if Mr. Diefenbaker entered.

However, that point now had been passed. Mr. Diefenbaker had not yet declared himself and Mr. Starr was staying in.

Reaction of some observers to Mr. Starr's statement was that Mr. Diefenbaker, who arrives here Wednesday, will not run for re-election.

14 FEARED DROWNED IN NORWAY SINKING

STAVANGER, Norway (Reuters)—Fourteen persons were believed to have died when the 497-ton Norwegian coaster Dux sank early Sunday in the Bokn Fjord, just north of here.

Police said there were three survivors—the captain, his wife and one of the crew.

Six bodies had been picked up while eight other members of the crew were missing and believed drowned.

Smoke From U.S. Grounds Bombers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Smoke from the huge Sundance Mountain fire in northern Idaho prevented fire bomber action Monday on more than a dozen new outbreaks in the hard-hit Nelson Forest District of British Columbia.

Smoke from the 55,000 - acre Idaho panhandle fire swirled through the Creston Valley and reached Nelson itself.

"Smoke was so thick we couldn't even see nearby mountains," said Herb Couling, Nelson fire protection officer.

Officials fear that some of the new spot fires in the Nelson district will rage out of control if they cannot be doused.

Much cooler weather Monday over the southern interior of B.C. eased the situation slightly. But expected weekend rain did not materialize.

Sparks from a Canadian Pacific Railway train are blamed for a 6,000-acre fire that broke out at the weekend on the west side of Kootenay Lake. The 10-mile-long fire burned out telephone communications between Nelson and Creston and twisted railway tracks in its heat. Two CPR sheds and a summer cottage were destroyed.

The largest of more than 250 B.C. forest fires continued to rage out of control Monday. It covers 40,000 acres north of Shuswap Lake, 40 miles north of Vernon.

The fire was believed started by trail riders who lit signal fires when they became lost.

especially in regard to the West Indies, to meet the needs of the country's expanding economy.

Convention co-chairman Paul O. Trepanier, president of the Quebec Progressive Conservative Association, told the subcommittee on rural and regional development that the day when both Conservative and Liberal party policies could be decided by the leader and a small group around him are gone.

MUST BE GENERAL

Policies had to be decided by party members in general. Otherwise other parties would take over the government assessed ada.

The study committee on economic development assessed the mood of the Canadian electorate as being ready for restraint in government spending to curb a rising danger of inflation.

Working on a premise that a federal election may be called next year, delegates examined short-term policies to meet what was described as a critical period with Canada on the verge of a recession.

E. A. Goodman, Toronto lawyer who is the other co-chairman, noted the Montmorency discussions had produced a number of policy recommendations for this convention.

However, "this committee is at complete liberty to make whatever decisions it wishes to make."

"While we are proud of the Montmorency conference, there is no magic in its recommendations. The ideas spawned there must survive on their merits."

MUST MAKE DECISION

He said delegates must make up their own minds on the policy issues according to their own beliefs and consciences.

He replied to internal criticism of attendance at the Montmorency discussions of academics and professionals who have no Conservative party ties.

"I am mystified by the attitude that a political party must not go outside itself for ideas. Such an approach would stultify its intellectual growth and narrow its outlook."

Dief Threatened In Fake Telegram

TORONTO (CP) — A telegram promising Conservative Leader Diefenbaker "harsh treatment" unless he withdraws from the leadership in favor of Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba is being circulated at the party's leadership convention.

The telegram is signed with the name of Winnipeg lawyer Maruice Arpin, a Roblin organizer who denies having sent it or having any knowledge of it until it was brought to his attention by Thomas Van Dusen, Mr. Diefenbaker's executive assistant.

"I've consulted my Criminal Code about uttering a forged document if any use is made of this fake," Mr. Arpin said in an interview.

Photostats of the telegram, delivered to Mr. Diefenbaker's House of Commons office in mid-August, contain wording to the effect that the sender with the concurrence of Mr. Roblin advises Mr. Diefenbaker to leave the leadership and in effect, endorse Mr. Roblin, one of nine men and two women in the leadership contest.

The telegram says that, if Mr. Diefenbaker quits the leadership and backs Mr. Roblin's candidacy, the Manitoba premier will be eternally grateful if elected to the post.

Mr. Arpin said that when Mr. Van Dusen telephoned him about the telegram he had the telegraph company conduct an investigation. It has been telephoned to the company's Winnipeg office by a man who gave the name Maurice Arpin and the Winnipeg lawyer's Winnipeg office address.

Mr. Arpin said he advised Mr. Van Dusen immediately that he has sent no telegram to Mr. Diefenbaker and later advised the Opposition leader's office of the results of the telegraph company's investigation.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

The disturbance which has been stalled along the coast and in the central interior for the last two days dropped a considerable amount of rain on northern Vancouver Island and on the west coast of the Island. Port Hardy received 3.12 inches from the storm by 5 a.m. this morning. The system has now started to move again and is expected to continue eastward taking showers and cooler air as far as the eastern interior by Wednesday evening. Cloudy, unsettled weather will follow the disturbance.

today to press his charges that the elections Sunday were a "nationwide fraud."

WILL PRESENT CHARGES

Declaring himself "the leader of the opposition," Dzu said he was forming a coalition of losing candidates which would present charges of election fraud to the Constituent Assembly this week.

"If Dzu has proof there was fraud," said a spokesman for Ky, "let him go ahead. If there was fraud, we would have had a bigger margin."

U.S. observers sent by President Johnson agreed that the voting was fair, but Dzu said they "could not see it. They could not stay all day long at the polling places."

AMERICANS AGREE

"I have never seen an election with such an absence of evidence of fraud," said Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican.

"No one could detect anything wrong," said Joseph Barr, Democratic mayor of Pittsburgh.

HOPES ARE SLIM

One of Thieu's major campaign planks was a pledge to seek a pause of one week or more in bombing of the North if Hanoi gives some sign that it will respond as a prelude to negotiations. Hopes of success are slim, however.

Thieu sent a message of thanks to American and allied commanders for helping provide security for the population on election day.

Despite their efforts, at least 38 persons were killed on election weekend, another 300 were kidnapped and at least 135 were wounded.

Dzu's strong showing puzzled political experts who had expected both Huong and former chief of state Suu to poll more votes.

Some thought it was because the symbol of Dzu's ticket was a white dove. This could have attracted South Vietnamese weary of more than 20 years of war.

Rare Grey Whale Up for Short Visit

Hundreds of people Monday saw a rare California grey whale, the first ever spotted in Vancouver Island's inland waters.

It was first reported by Mrs. Stanley C. Mitchell, 3035 McAnally Road, near Smugglers Cove.

"It looked more like a monster than a whale," she said. "Its pale loose skin studded with barnacles gave it a weird look."

The mammal remained in local waters rolling over and diving most of the day and evening.

Dr. Clifford Carl said the sighting of a grey whale in inland waters is most unusual.

"There is no record of the species ever having been seen in these waters," he said. "Apart from that the grey whale is rare."

WEST COAST

The whal's habitat is the Pacific's west coast.

It was the only whale hunted by the west coast Indians because it came close to shore. It was nearly exterminated by whalers at the turn of the century, but is now making a comeback due to U.S. and Canadian protection.

The whale grows to about 44 feet in length. It has no dorsal fins and has four fingers on the flippers. It also has hair scattered over its head and lower jaw.

SOUTH VIETNAM PEASANT VOTERS:

'Obeying Obligation, Not Making Decision'

By STANLEY KARNOW

SAIGON — A danger for the future is that the Johnson administration, having touted the election here as a dramatically important event, may take the facade of democracy in South Vietnam for the reality.

The election, moreover, may serve to reinforce the "great American dream that the United States meaningfully influences the internal political processes of Asian states.

In terms of stuffing ballot boxes, buying votes and other fraudulent techiniques not alien to American experience, the election here may not have been rigged at all. But the Vietnamese are as baffled by democratic principles and procudures as Americans would be if invited to light joss-sticks to celebrate a moon festival.

Despite what they say publicly about their devotion to democracy, the Vietnamese military leaders, General Nguyen van Thieu and Air Vice-Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, staged the election largely to soothe the United States, which pays the bills here. Without the American presence in Vietnam, there would be no election.

The lack of genuine Vietnamese feeling for democracy was underlined not long ago in Ky's statement that he would respond "militarily" if a civilian he disliked won the presidency. His American critics howled, yet Ky's remark was more sincere than most of the pious utterances he contrives for U.S. audiences.

MORE SINCERE

At the same time, the civilian politicians participating in the election seemed to be striving to attain hopes they had decades ago, when France ruled Vietnam.

Men of 50 or more, these schoolteachers, lawyers and doctors are remnants of a French impact that taught the appealing 18th century ideals of liberty, equality and fraternity, and prevented their political emplementation. Such ideals in Vietnamese current revolutionary conditions are as outmoded as the candidates who expouse them.

SEEN AS DUTY

For the mass of the Vietnamese population, meanwhile, voting in the election was viewed as a duty rather than a right or even a privilege. Peasants went to the polls, as they had kn the past elections, less out of coercion than from a traditional respect for the authority that told them that they must vote.

As an old peasant in a village north of Saigon recently explained it to an American investigator: "We are like weathervanes. The government blows and we turn."

To a peasant, an election is a harassment that disrupts his principal aspiration — to be left alone. His hamlet is visited by police, soldiers, campaign workers and assorted other officials, all of them making him submit to registration, exhortations and possibley pressures.

If they go through the motions of this incomprehensible mumbo-jumbo. The peasant are merely rolling with the punch, just as they have somehow adapted themselves to stoically suffering the far more devastating ravages of war.

INCOMPREHENSIBLE

Moreover, an election is incomprehensible to Vietnamese peasants because the notion of free choice, basic to democracy, is alien to their concept of an orderly, harmonious universe in which each man's place is ordained.

Change can occur within this universe, but not through the superficial operation of political candidates making speeches and voters casting ballots. It can only come slowly, as the community to which the Vietnamese belongs itself undergoes change.

Perhaps because they are more deeply rooted in the peasantry than middle-class Saigon leaders have ever been, the communists grasped that individuals could not be expected to join their cause as volunteers enlist in an armu. In building their movement, therefore, they constructed a new environment, using many ancient moral impulses, that engulfed people imperceptibly.

As Douglas Pike described the process in his authoritative book the Viet Cong, the Communist recruit was initially "surrounded by a social organization that had hand no hand in creating but to which he somehow belonged."

NEVER QUITE SURE

Gradually, Pike explained, the youth "came to realize that he was part of the National Liberation Front, never quite sure how this happened and never with any overt choice presented him."

The kind of organization that can encircle and absorb individuals is the Communists' major achievement in Asia. The lack of such an organization is the major weakness of successive Saigon regimes, which have, as an alternative, had to seek support abroad rather than in their own country.

The elections here Sunday may win approval around the world for their apparent fairness, and are bound to be hailed in Washington as a sign of progress.

They are less likely to win equal applause from Vietnam peasants, who, as they ovted, may have sensed that they were obeying an obligation rather than making a decision.

Refugees Blocked

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters) — Syria accused Israel today of blocking efforts by the International Red Cross to get Syrian refugees back to their homes in Syrian-occupied territory.

Syrian Charge d'Affaires Pafic Jouejati charged in a letter to UN Secretary-General U That that the number of refugees has reached 110,000 and that Israel is using "their rightful return as a means of blackmail and pressure against the Syrian government for expansionist aggressive ends."

Jouejati asked Thant to investigate the situation.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains a Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Itching Piles". It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief—here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions—even cases of long standing.

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Agreement Reached

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contract settlements have been reached between the oil workers union and Home, Standard and Shell marketing division.

Agreement terms are similar to those in a two-year contract made earlier with British-American Oil Co., which provides for wage increases of up to 46 cents on hourly wage rates ranging from $2.50 to $3.46.

DIVIDENDS

Shell Investments, first preferred 27½ cents, payable Oct. 1; record Sept. 18; xd Sept. 14.

Dominion Glass, common 10 cents, payable Oct. 13; record Sept. 25; xd Sept. 22.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures prices advanced a cent or more on the Chicago Board of Trade today after slipping one cent below the previous close in early trading.

Corn and soybeans showed a similar, but les dramatic, movement. The rallies were spurred by late-morning export buying.

Oats were about steady and rye was up slightly.

Wheat futures have been on a long decline in the face of bumper crop prospects. Another bearish influence was introduced today by the announcement Monday night by the Canadian government of an estimated 547,500,000 bushel harvest. This was substantially more than previous private forecasts.

WINNIPEG (CP) — A very active trade proceeded in flax on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, prompted by a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report showing a low flax production this year.

Rapeseed showed an easier tone as a steady U.S. soybean market added support. Oats and barley trade was light and domestic, with orders hampered by the Great Lakes shipping strike. There were indications of export interest in rye but no immediate reports of export business.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were down 2 cents except durums unchanged.

Strike at Ford 'Almost Certain'

Times News Services

DETROIT — Negotiations between the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. resumed today with a nationwide strike at midnight Wednesday considered nearly certain.

The bargainers resumed talks without speaking to newsmen. UAW. President Walter Reuther already has warned that a strike by Ford's 159,816 UAW members is certain unless the firm changes its attitude "radically."

Ford said it saw no signs that settlement might be in sight.

Reuther warned Monday that not even a request from President Johnson would stop the UAW from shutting down Ford.

A strike against the giant firm would halt production of 8,000 cars and 1,800 trucks per day and cost union members a total of more than $5,750,000 a day in wages and fringe benefits.

"I think they're going to get it," Reuther said about the prospects for a strike.

OPTIMISM WANES

Ford's chief negotiator, vice-president Malcolm Denise also was pessimistic about the chance of avciding a strike. "My congenial optimism is getting a little ragged," he said.

Ford did agree Monday to discuss in Detroit the UAW proposal on Canadian pay.

The UAW said it would drop unfair labor practices charges against the company filed when Ford at first balked at the idea.

While the union cannot legally bargain in the United States for Canadian wages, it wants any new contract to include a clause forbidding a company from paying union workers outside the United States less than American workers doing the same task.

The UAW estimates that Canadian workers now get an average of 40 cents an hour less than their American counterparts.

The union is awaiting a response from GM to a union proposal that the contract covering 375,000 GM workers be extended if no agreement is reached at Ford.

A similar union proposal is expected to be made to Chrysler, which employs about 100,000 UAW members.

If a strike is called at Ford, the union would allow the other two companies to continue to operate.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Highland Bell Features

Highland Bell was the feature on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today in light pre-noon trading, adding $1.75 to $14.

Other mining leaders were Western Mines, up nine to $2.99, Dynasty, up 15 to $8.40, and Chataway, which put on a nickel to 31 cents.

Losers included Arctic, down 20 to $1.55; Brenmac, off four to 62 cents; Croydon, .12 to 43 cents, and Madrona, off six to 47 cents.

In the oils, Central Del-Rio slipped $1 to $24.50 and Plains fell three to 50 cents.

B.C. Sugar led the industrials, gaining $1 to $40.50. Cunningham put on a quarter to $12, and MacMillan Bloedel put on 50 to $28.25. Volume at 11 a.m. was 698,315 shares.

AT TORONTO prices moved lower in most sections of the market in light trading today. 1.70 to 9.70 and Highland Bell

In base metals, Leitch rose 1⅞ to 13⅞. Analysts said the activity reflected the hope of speculators that Highland and Leitch might reach an out-of-court settlement in their litigation with Texas Gulf Sulphur over the right to property in the Timmins area. Leitch filed the claim in September, 1964, and will return to court Sept. 11.

Chrysler Corp. rose 3½ to 55½ and Ford of Canada lost 1½ to 167.

Among other industrials, computing Devices rose 2½ and Oshawa A 1⅝ to 47⅝. Atlantic Sugar lost ⅝ to 11¼.

In western oils, Scurry-Rainbow was down 2½ to 35, Central Del Rio ⅝ to 24⅝ and Great Plains ½ to 16¼.

AT NEW YORK Chrysler and General Motors were strong in a generally higher market.

Chrysler, most active of the leading auto stocks, was up nearly 2 in late trading. General Motors made a similar gain. Ford, chosen as the Wednesday night strike target by the United Auto Workers Union, was easy.

Among Canadian stocks, Dome Mines was up ¾, Distillers Seagrams ⅝, Hudson Bay Mining was down ¾, Canadian Pacific ½ Granby Mining, International Nickel and McIntyre Porcupine ⅝, Alcan and Massey Ferguson ⅛.

AT MONTREAL prices continued their drifting pattern, with fractional gains and losses about even. The paper, industrial and utility indices were slightly shaded.

Denison held it's 1⅝ point advance made in early morning trading. Dupont rose ¾ to 29¼, and CAE gained ⅜ to 12⅝.

Elsewhere on the market Central Del Rio slipped ¾ to 24¾, and Bell Telephone dipped ¼ to 47⅝.

AT LONDON buyers were out in force again in equity today and, with dealers currently short of stock, prices were often pushed further ahead on the market.

Gilt edged stocks were inclined easier in quiet trading conditions.

Lacking a lead from Wall Street, dollar stocks shaded lower with the premium Falls were usually around one point. Canadian banks hardly stirred. Home banks moved forward.

Westbank Must Elect New Board

TORONTO (CP) — The Bank of Western Canada will have a new board of directors before shareholders consider a proposal to wind up the bank, a Toronto shareholder says.

Stockbroker J. R. Findley, one of more than 25 shareholders, who called a meeting for Sept. 14 in Winnipeg to elect directors and consider a windup, said changing the board's makeup will insure the bank will be wound up quickly if shareholders approve.

Mr. Findley said the proposal originated with York Lambton Corp. Ltd. of Toronto, the controlling shareholder with 50.1 per cent.

J. A. N. Chiapetta, a lawyer and a director of New Alliance Investors Ltd. of Toronto, said the change of directors would permit a quick distribution of assets to shareholders. New Alliance is one of the bank's shareholders that called the meeting.

SEPTEMBER REPORT TO INVESTORS
1882
FEATURES
The Algoma Steel Corporation, Limited
This well-managed major primary steel producer, naturally, follows Canada's business cycles but it has shown excellent growth over the years.
Algoma stands to benefit substantially from the Auto Trade Pact and the "Kennedy Round" Tariff reductions; it is already fully competitive in its market area, the fast-growing Great Lakes Region.
The recent results of temporary set-backs do not detract from our appraisal of Algoma's attractive fundamental business and prospects, and the present weakness in the price of the shares, in our opinion, provides an opportunity to invest for capital gains.
We recommend the purchase of Algoma Steel common stock for above average growth of principal and generous yield.
